2 Youths Held For Holdup

An East End boy and a Mahoning County youth are being held in the Allencrest Juvenile Home near Beaver awaiting disposition of charges in connection with a $35 holdup late Friday afternoon at the Highway Oil Co. service station on Route 68, about midway between East Liverpool and Midland.

Taken into custody about an hour after the holdup as the climax of an auto pursuit and a five - mile chase on foot through the rugged terrain north of Midland and Smiths Ferry, the two suspects were identified as:

PENNSYLVANIA state police from the Chippewa Barracks made the arrest, but a cordon of officers from throughout the region, including East Liverpool, joined in the hunt for the pair after they wrecked their getaway car and took to the woods on foot.

Authorities said the pair walked into the service station about 6:30 yesterday. One of the youths held a small caliber semi-automatic pistol which he used to menace the attendant, Bill Cook, 18, of Chester and his assistant, Jimmie Hill, also 18, of Smiths Ferry.

"This is a holdup," the youth with the gun announced. "Give me all the money." Cook produced $35 in currency from his trousers pocket. The gunman then removed the coin changer from his belt.

"Are you sure that's all you have?" the boy with the gun asked. Cook assured him that it was. He said a short time earlier he had dropped other receipts through the slot in the side of a safe in the station.

QUICK CAPTURE. Little more than an hour after a $35 service station holdup near Midland early Friday night, two youthful suspects were taken into custody in the Smiths Ferry area by Pennsylvania State Police. Three officers are shown hustling one of the suspects into a cruiser after they were trapped by a cordon of police from throughout the area.

He added that he did not have a key for the safe.

The gunman searched his pockets to make certain the attendant was not carrying the key. Then he asked who owned the 1966 model car parked outside. Cook replied it was his. The gunman took the ignition key, tossed it to his companion and told him to drive the car to the front door of the station.

As the car pulled up to the door, the gunman said: "Just keep quiet and nobody will get hurt." He ran out of the station and leaped into the back seat of the car. Cook said he started out of the station, but the getaway car halted. As he went

$2.9 Billion More Set As Poor's Need

Nixon's Proposals Seen Far Short In Programs On Food

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Bureau of the Budget task force has estimated it would cost $2.9 billion more than the government is now spending on food programs to assure an adequate diet for the poor.

This is far more than President Nixon's recommendation of a $270 million boost in the food stamp program for the coming fiscal year and a $1 billion increase the following year.

The task force analysis said spending on food programs, now about $1.5 billion a year, including $340 million spent on food stamps, would have to be almost tripled by adding another $2.9 billion in some form.

The figures, presented as a working draft designed as "a point of departure for discussion and improvement," were part of a six-month study by an interdepartmental Budget Bureau group for the Urban Affairs Council.

It was pegged to statistics showing that some 20.8 million Americans are below the poverty line, defined as slightly more than $3,000 income a year for an urban family of four.

The working draft was dated May 6, the same day Nixon submitted his special hunger message to Congress.

The draft contains several proposed changes for federal food programs but said:

"No claim is made that the list is either exhaustive, original, or in any way competes with the President's program."

The proposed changes include putting food stamp payments on the installment plan, establishing emergency loan programs to help the poor pay for stamps, and establishing standards to insure "that all poverty families are eligible."

Further, it suggests introduction of the commodity distribution program "at least on an interim basis, into the 480 counties and cities now without a food program" and use of federal funds to help states extend food programs into new areas.

Tanks, Bombers Support Allies In Vietnam Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of allied troops backed by tanks and bombers resumed operations across South Vietnam today at the end of cease-fires proclaimed by both the allied and the Communist commands for Buddha's birthday.

The only significant action reported in the U.S. Command's evening communique came at 7 a.m. Saigon time, an hour after the 24-hour allied cease-fire ended. American helicopter gunships spotted 14 enemy soldiers about 75 miles south of Da Nang and raked them with machine-gun fire. Eleven were reported killed.

A dozen American battalion-size or larger ground operations and U.S. B52 strikes were under way again after the 24-hour halt in offensive operations.

Scores of South Vietnamese ground sweeps and smaller American patrols also were under way aimed at blunting any enemy summer campaign against allied bases.

Each side accused the other of violating the cease-fires.

The U.S. Command said that during the 24-hour allied cease-fire there were 158 enemy-initiated incidents reported, of which 85 were considered significant in that they resulted in allied or enemy casualties.

"U.S. casualties as a result of the 85 significant incidents reported during the temporary cessation of offensive operations for Buddha's birthday were 13 killed and 62 wounded," U.S. headquarters said. "Other friendly forces casualties were light. A total of 89 enemy soldiers were reported killed."

The U.S. Command summary included attacks on South Vietnamese units. An American spokesman said the command logged incidents only for the allied cease-fire.

South Vietnamese losses during the 24-hour allied cease-fire were put at three soldiers killed and 30 wounded, one hamlet chief and one civilian killed and four civilians wounded.

The Viet Cong accused the United States and South Vietnam of breaking their 48-hour cease-fire. Hanoi's official Vietnam News Agency reported "reconnaissance activity and bombing raids by U.S. aircraft all through May 29 along many roads and in many areas."

Cites Congress, U.S. Commitment

Laird Hopes Canada Plan On NATO Won't Snowball

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, returning from a week of North Atlantic Treaty Organization meetings, said today he hopes a proposed Canadian troop withdrawal would not have a "snowballing effect" on Congress or the U.S. commitment to NATO.

Commenting on Canada's plan to withdraw two-thirds of its 10,000 troops in Europe, Laird said, "I hope it will be reviewed by the Canadian government.

"I don't think this is the time to reduce our forces in Europe . . . President Nixon has said we are moving from a period of confrontation to a period of negotiation."

The Nixon administration intends to maintain its NATO commitments at the same level, Laird said.

"But Congress makes the decisions," he added. "I hope we can move forward. I hope this does not have a snowballing effect in our Congress."

The Canadian action has been viewed disapprovingly by U.S. officials concerned over the effort to keep NATO defenses strong—and not just because of its potential unraveling impact on other allies.

There have been calls within the United States for a withdrawal of a sizeable chunk of the American force now in Europe. Proposals for a U.S. pullout, widely aired in the Senate before the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia last August, are cropping up again.

Laird said little today about the question of British-West German guidelines presented in London that called for the early use of nuclear battlefield weapons in a European conflict. He said this question will be taken up again in the November NATO meeting in Washington.

The secretary said only, "I think it's important to maintain the credibility of our forces. This has maintained peace and prevented any nuclear exchange in the last 20 years."

Laird, during the meeting of the seven-nation Nuclear Planning Group, stressed the need to increase combat readiness and effectiveness of conventional forces so they could contain any initial attacks.

As the round of meetings in Brussels and London was ending, diplomatic sources here reported Nixon has run into a noticeable lack of allied enthusiasm for proposals he made April 10 to tighten political and social teamwork under NATO.

Only one of three items Nixon proposed to provide fuller consultations and a social welfare "third dimension" for the defense alliance seems likely to win NATO acceptance soon, diplomats reported.

Nixon proposed:

—Regular deputy foreign minister meetings.

—A special political planning group to work on long-range issues.

—A committee to marshal know-how among NATO members to meet modern social problems.

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Mayor Robert F. Wagner has met with an unexpected campaign expense.

Wagner, like the other four candidates for the Democratic nomination for mayor, spent Memorial Day campaigning. He doffed his jacket and tie and dove into crowds of handshakers at Coney Island and Brighton Beach.

But when the day was over, he discovered a gold clip with a St. Christopher's medal, along with $35 attached, were missing from his right-hand trouser pocket.

Prague Purge Hits Members Of Red Party

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovak Communist party leader Gustav Husak announced today a purge of party central committee members who voted in the National Assembly against legalizing the presence of Russian troops in this country or otherwise violated party discipline.

Husak said those ousted from the central committee include former Deputy Premier Ota Sik, architect of Czechoslovakia's 1968 economic reform program, Frantisek Kriegel, popular head of the National Front prior to the Soviet invasion last August, and Frantisek Vodslon, a liberal who voted against the Russian troop treaty last October.

He said the central committee which met Thursday and Friday also fired members who signed the controversial manifesto "2,000 words" and "refused to recant this point of view."

U.S. Holiday Traffic Toll Rises Rapidly

By The Associated Press

The first day of the Memorial Day weekend saw the death toll in traffic accidents mount at a record rate as thousands of motorists took to the nation's streets and highways.

A total of 263 persons have been killed on the roads, while 11 persons died in boating accdents and 69 others drowned ing.

Before the holiday began, the National Safety Council estimated that between 550 and 650 Americans would lose their lives between 6 p.m. local time Thursday and midnight Sunday. So far, the pace of deaths on the highway is running higher than in 1968, according to a spokesman for the safety council.

To set a basis for comparison with the long holiday weekend, The Associated Press made a survey of traffic deaths in a nonholiday period of the same 78-hour duration—from 6 p.m. Thursday, May 15, to midnight Sunday, May 18. The death toll from that weekend was 481.

The record death toll for a Memorial Day holiday was 629 over last year's four-day period. The highest traffic toll for a three- day Memorial Day holiday was 542 persons in 1966.

The lowest toll for a three-day Memorial Day period since World War II was 204 in 1948.

Thanksgiving of last year holds the record for the most traffic deaths in any holiday period. There were 764 persons killed during the four-day weekend.

Bids To Avert More Violence

Rocky Willing To Discuss Grievances With Students

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he's willing to sit down with militant students and talk over their grievances in an effort to prevent more violence on his South American tour.

In Bolivia, where the governor had a scheduled stop today, a U.S. official said tension was running so high the visit might have to be canceled.

Rockefeller, speaking with newsmen in Quito Friday as he concluded the ninth stop on a tour of Latin America he is making for President Nixon, said, "We are not here to fight, but to listen."

He noted that students have condemned U.S. fighting in Vietnam, and added: "Therefore, it's a shame that they resort to violence here. They should name a delegation to meet with us, to tell us how the United States can enter into a better road in its relations with Latin America."

The New York governor spoke in the aftermath of the bloodiest violence that has broken out so far duing his tour. One man was reported killed and several policemen and students seriously injured in clashes here Thursday, the day Rockefeller arrived.

In the port city of Guayaquil, 170 miles southwest of Quito, six students were reported killed and 32 injured in disturbances that were not related to the Rockefeller visit.

Rockefeller said he would be wiliing to meet with students in any of the countries he plans to

Snipers Fight With Soldiers In Argentina

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — Snipers and soldiers battled through the night in Cordoba, where six persons have been killed in two days of violence. The rest of Argentina was relatively calm today after the most effective general strike in more than 10 years.

Trucks and armored personnel carriers rumbled through the streets of the nation's third largest city, 500 miles northwest of Buenos Aires. Soldiers guarded every corner of the downtown area. Gunshots echoed continually as troops searched for snipers.

An adventuresome taxi driver agreed to drive out-of-town newsmen from the airport into the city. With his lights out, he wound through the streets, around bonfires, piles of broken glass and overturned lamp posts.

As the taxi passed through the Clinicas district, the center of agitation where many students live, shots rang out every few seconds.

"The people are dissatisfied," the driver said. "First, the government raised bus fares, then it was milk, then bread—but salaries stayed the same."

Before the holiday began, the National Safety Council estimated that between 550 and 650 Americans would lose their lives between 6 p.m. local time Thursday and midnight Sunday. So far, the pace of deaths on the highway is running higher than in 1968, according to a spokesman for the safety council.

To set a basis for comparison with the long holiday weekend, The Associated Press made a survey of traffic deaths in a nonholiday period of the same 78-hour duration—from 6 p.m. Thursday, May 15, to midnight Sunday, May 18. The death toll from that weekend was 481.

The record death toll for a Memorial Day holiday was 629 over last year's four-day period. The highest traffic toll for a three- day Memorial Day holiday was 542 persons in 1966.

The lowest toll for a three-day Memorial Day period since World War II was 204 in 1948.

Thanksgiving of last year holds the record for the most traffic deaths in any holiday period. There were 764 persons killed during the four-day weekend.

Bids To Avert More Violence

Rocky Willing To Discuss Grievances With Students

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he's willing to sit down with militant students and talk over their grievances in an effort to prevent more violence on his South American tour.

In Bolivia, where the governor had a scheduled stop today, a U.S. official said tension was running so high the visit might have to be canceled.

Rockefeller, speaking with newsmen in Quito Friday as he concluded the ninth stop on a tour of Latin America he is making for President Nixon, said, "We are not here to fight, but to listen."

He noted that students have condemned U.S. fighting in Vietnam, and added: "Therefore, it's a shame that they resort to violence here. They should name a delegation to meet with us, to tell us how the United States can enter into a better road in its relations with Latin America."

The New York governor spoke in the aftermath of the bloodiest violence that has broken out so far duing his tour. One man was reported killed and several policemen and students seriously injured in clashes here Thursday, the day Rockefeller arrived.

In the port city of Guayaquil, 170 miles southwest of Quito, six students were reported killed and 32 injured in disturbances that were not related to the Rockefeller visit.

Rockefeller said he would be willing to meet with students in any of the countries he plans to

Snipers Fight With Soldiers In Argentina

CORDOBA, Argentina (AP) — Snipers and soldiers battled through the night in Cordoba, where six persons have been killed in two days of violence. The rest of Argentina was relatively calm today after the most effective general strike in more than 10 years.

Trucks and armored personnel carriers rumbled through the streets of the nation's third largest city, 500 miles northwest of Buenos Aires. Soldiers guarded every corner of the downtown area. Gunshots echoed continually as troops searched for snipers.

An adventuresome taxi driver agreed to drive out-of-town newsmen from the airport into the city. With his lights out, he wound through the streets, around bonfires, piles of broken glass and overturned lamp posts.

As the taxi passed through the Clinicas district, the center of agitation where many students live, shots rang out every few seconds.

"The people are dissatisfied," the driver said. "First, the government raised bus fares, then it was milk, then bread—but salaries stayed the same."

Vehicle Upsets, Injuring 2 Men

Two young Wellsville men were injured when their station wagon struck a tree and overturned on its top Thursday night, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Treated at City Hospital were Harold L. Wright Jr., 24, of 901½ 9th St., Wellsville, the driver, and Roger D. Wright, 20, of 432 Main St., Wellsville, a passenger.

Officers said Wright's 1959 station wagon veered off the south side of Alderlick Rd. just east of Township Rd. 776, went back across the road, hit the tree and upset.

The driver suffered abrasions of the arm, shoulder and back. The younger man received abrasions of the lip.

There was severe damage to the top, the patrol said.

Sardinia is about the same size as New Hampshire but has more than twice the population.

More Effective Service For Negroes

Black Lawyers Planning Permanent Organization

By AUSTIN SCOTT
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A group of blacklawyers who think their profession should serve Negro communities more effectively voted Friday night to make their National Conference of Black Lawyers a permanent organization.

The move sets up the group of 250 lawyers and law students as another association of black lawyers alongside the National Bar Association, the major professional association of Negro attorneys for the last 44 years.

Some delegates indicated they thought the NCBL was moving into an area where no legal association is working and that there is room for several black legal groups just as there are several major civil rights organizations, each with its own area of emphasis.

In a daylong series of workshops Friday, most discussion centered on professional problems confronting black lawyers and ways to serve the low salaried, poorly educated, socially defenseless people who make up the majority of America's black population.

Delegates to the two-day-old meeting at the University of Chicago's Center for Continuing Education have avoided much open criticism of the NBA and a number of its members are present.

But the NCBL steering committee decided to hold the conference partly because it was unhappy with the way the NBA and the American Bar Association addressed themselves to many of the problems confronting the nation's 25 million Negroes.

A "Declaration of Concern and Commitment" issued by the steering committee in November talked in pessimistic terms of a "crisis of racism" for black communities, threatening "not merely our constitutional rights, but our homes, our safety and our very survival."

NBA President Charles M. Waugh said in a letter to Robert L. Carter, cochairman with former Congress of Racial Equality director Floyd McKissick of the NCBL that he thought those issues were of "immediate concern to all black lawyers,and especially the National Bar Association."

GI Who Escaped From Cong Picked Up By Copter Crew

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Army sergeant from Altus, Okla., who had been a prisoner of the Viet Cong for about nine months, escaped from his captors last Monday and was picked up Friday by an American helicopter crew, the U.S. command reported today.

He was identified as Kenneth R. Gregory, son of Mrs. Helen Gregory, P.O. box 178, general deiivery, Altus, Okla.

Spokesmen said he was married buthis wife's name and address were not available immediately.

Gregory was found about 12 miles northwest of Tay Ninh City, an area near the Cambodian border, the command said.

His condition was listed as "good" by Army doctors. He had lost 10 pounds, dropping from 165 to 155, while in captivity, the announcement said.

Gregory was spotted on a bamboo jungle trail by a U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division helicopter crew, four days after he "escaped from captivity," the announcement said. It gave no details of his escape, where he had been held or his treatment.

After being picked up by the helicopter, Gregory was taken to the 24th Evacuation Hospital at Long Binh, where he is undergoing examinations.

"When they picked me up, I was actually crying," Gregory was quoted as saying.

His first American food was fried chicken and milk.

"It's the best food I've had in a long time," he said.

A few hours after the milk and chicken he had a meal of steak, vegetables, lettuce and tomatoes, gelatin, ice cream and milk at the evacuation hospital.

The command said he was asked what he missed most while in captivity and he replied: "Coffee. The VC don't drink coffee. They like hot sweetened water andtea."

The announcement said Gregory entered the Army May 18, 1964, and landed in South Vietnam Nov. 2, 1967. When reported missing on Aug. 25, 1968, he was assigned a transportation company in the 1st Logistical Command.

Gregory, who is 23 years old, was a squad leader in charge of a five-ton truck that was on a resupply mission to Tay Ninh City when the convoy was ambushed.

Asked what he will do when he gets home, headquarters said his answer was: "The first thing I'm planning is to spend some time with my family. We'll probably go camping somewhere.

The U.S. Command said he would leave Sunday for the United States.

Gregory is the second U.S. prisoner found alive in Tay Ninh Province in the past two months. On April 19, Spec. 5 Thomas Van Putten, 21, of Caledonia, Mich,, was picked up by a helicopter crew 18 days after he escaped from enemy captivity. Van Putten had been reported missing since Feb. 10, 1968.

Rep. Powell's Son, Bride Plan Honeymoon In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newlyweds Adam Clayton Powell III and socialite writer Beryl Sloum plan to honeymoon in Europe and visit Moscow, then make a trip to the island of Bimini.

Powell, 22, son of the Negro congressman from New York, married Miss Slocum in a chapel at Washington Cathedral Friday.

Miss Slocum, 26, is white and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Slocum, members of a family long socially prominent in Rhode Island. She is a former debutante and Radcliffe graduate.

Powell, who graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology with a major in political science, is a producer of Columbia Broadcasting System news shows.

The couple met at a party in New York and previously were quoted as saying they felt there would be no problems in their interracial marriage. They plan to make their home in New York.

Democratic Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. wore his robes as a Baptist minister to the cathedral and led the couple in private prayers in a room adjacent to the chapel. Miss Slocum joined Powell's Baptist Abyssinian Church in New York last year.

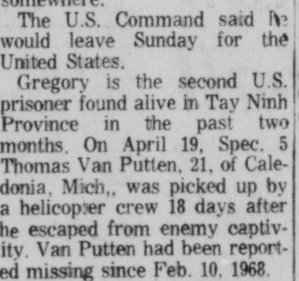

The congressman's wedding gift is a round trip to Bimini, where he lived most of the time in recent years when court action kept him out of New York City.

About three dozen newsmen and photographers, along with some 100 tourists, awaited the couple as they left the cathedral arm-in-arm.

The bride's mother, Mrs. John J. Slocum, and Powell's mother, entertainer Hazel Scott who is divorced from the congressman, also linked arms as they went down the steps of the cathedral after the ceremonies.

Land Grant Claimant Plans Citizens' Arrest Of Burger

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico's flamboyant Spanish land grant claimant, Reies Lopez Tijerina, said Friday he plans to make a citizens' arrest Tuesday of Warren E. Burger, the nominee for U.S. chief justice.

Tijerina, whose followers claim ownership of thousands of acres of northern New Mexico, said he would make the arrest because of Berger's "conspiracy to violate the civil rights of the poor" while serving as a U.S. Circuit Court Judge.

Tijerina issued a signed statement in Albuquerque in which he said he will attend Senate confirmation hearings for Burger in Washington and make the arrest.

"I am hoping that he will not resist," Tijerina said, "so that he can be an example to all the public, who is every day subject to arrest.

"No man is above the law."

Tijerina, a 42-year-old former cotton picker who came to New Mexico several years ago from Texas, surprised law officers when he and a group of armed followers invaded the sleepy northern New Mexico mountain village of Tierra Amarilla in June 1967. They took over the village and the courthouse, where several of Tijerina's followers were being arraigned on charges from an earlier incident.

Tijerina was acquitted of several charges resulting from the raid during a trial last December. He used as his basic defense the argument that he came to Tierra Amarilla to make a citizens' arrest of the district attorney.

"After due consideration and a close research of the acts and words of Mr. Warren Burger, I am convinced that he is guilty of conspiracy to violate the civil rights of the poor and of the minority, of the actual violation of those rights and of perjury in regard to his oath of office," Tijerina said.

Tijerina did not say how he would arrest Burger or what he planned after the arrest.

In Washington, Inspector Robert E. Krahling of the U.S. Capitol Police chuckled and said: "He sounds like some kind of nut, doesn't he?"

Kidnaping was cointed as a word in the late 17th century when there was a practice of stealing children and shipping them to servitude on plantations in the American colonies.

More Effective Service For Negroes

Black Lawyers Planning Permanent Organization

CHICAGO (AP) — A group of blacklawyers who think their profession should serve Negro communities more effectively voted Friday night to make their National Conference of Black Lawyers a permanent organization.

The move sets up the group of 250 lawyers and law students as another association of black lawyers alongside the National Bar Association, the major professional association of Negro attorneys for the last 44 years.

GI Who Escaped From Cong Picked Up By Copter Crew

SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. Army sergeant from Altus, Okla., who had been a prisoner of the Viet Cong for about nine months, escaped from his captors last Monday and was picked up Friday by an American helicopter crew, the U.S. command reported today.

He was identified as Kenneth R. Gregory, son of Mrs. Helen Gregory, P.O. box 178, general delivery, Altus, Okla.

Spokesmen said he was married buthis wife's name and address were not available immediately.

Gregory was found about 12 miles northwest of Tay Ninh City, an area near the Cambodian border, the command said.

His condition was listed as "good" by Army doctors. He had lost 10 pounds, dropping from 165 to 155, while in captivity, the announcement said.

Gregory was spotted on a bamboo jungle trail by a U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division helicopter crew, four days after he "escaped from captivity," the announcement said. It gave no details of his escape, where he had been held or his treatment.

After being picked up by the helicopter, Gregory was taken to the 24th Evacuation Hospital at Long Binh, where he is undergoing examinations.

"When they picked me up, I was actually crying," Gregory was quoted as saying.

His first American food was fried chicken and milk.

"It's the best food I've had in a long time," he said.

A few hours after the milk and chicken he had a meal of steak, vegetables, lettuce and tomatoes, gelatin, ice cream and milk at the evacuation hospital.

The command said he was asked what he missed most while in captivity and he replied: "Coffee. The VC don't drink coffee. They like hot sweetened water andtea."

The announcement said Gregory entered the Army May 18, 1964, and landed in South Vietnam Nov. 2, 1967. When reported missing on Aug. 25, 1968, he was assigned a transportation company in the 1st Logistical Command.

Gregory, who is 23 years old, was a squad leader in charge of a five-ton truck that was on a resupply mission to Tay Ninh City when the convoy was ambushed.

Asked what he will do when he gets home, headquarters said his answer was: "The first thing I'm planning is to spend some time with my family. We'll probably go camping somewhere.

The U.S. Command said he would leave Sunday for the United States.

Gregory is the second U.S. prisoner found alive in Tay Ninh Province in the past two months. On April 19, Spec. 5 Thomas Van Putten, 21, of Caledonia, Mich,, was picked up by a helicopter crew 18 days after he escaped from enemy captivity. Van Putten had been reported missing since Feb. 10, 1968.

Rep. Powell's Son, Bride Plan Honeymoon In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newlyweds Adam Clayton Powell III and socialite writer Beryl Sloum plan to honeymoon in Europe and visit Moscow, then make a trip to the island of Bimini.

Powell, 22, son of the Negro congressman from New York, married Miss Slocum in a chapel at Washington Cathedral Friday.

Miss Slocum, 26, is white and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Slocum, members of a family long socially prominent in Rhode Island. She is a former debutante and Radcliffe graduate.

Powell, who graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology with a major in political science, is a producer of Columbia Broadcasting System news shows.

The couple met at a party in New York and previously were quoted as saying they felt there would be no problems in their interracial marriage. They plan to make their home in New York.

Democratic Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. wore his robes as a Baptist minister to the cathedral and led the couple in private prayers in a room adjacent to the chapel. Miss Slocum joined Powell's Baptist Abyssinian Church in New York last year.

The congressman's wedding gift is a round trip to Bimini, where he lived most of the time in recent years when court action kept him out of New York City.

The bride's mother, Mrs. John J. Slocum, and Powell's mother, entertainer Hazel Scott who is divorced from the congressman, also linked arms as they went down the steps of the cathedral after the ceremonies.

MIDLAND SPEAKER. Dr. John B. Hirt, president of Beaver County Community College, will speak during commencement exercises for Midland Lincoln High School's graduating class Monday at 8 p. m. A native of Pittsburgh, he is a former Marine officer and has an extensive educational background.

Land Grant Claimant Plans Citizens' Arrest Of Burger

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — New Mexico's flamboyant Spanish land grant claimant, Reies Lopez Tijerina, said Friday he plans to make a citizens' arrest Tuesday of Warren E. Burger, the nominee for U.S. chief justice.

Tijerina, whose followers claim ownership of thousands of acres of northern New Mexico, said he would make the arrest because of Berger's "conspiracy to violate the civil rights of the poor" while serving as a U.S. Circuit Court Judge.

Tijerina issued a signed statement in Albuquerque in which he said he will attend Senate confirmation hearings for Burger in Washington and make the arrest.

"I am hoping that he will not resist," Tijerina said, "so that he can be an example to all the public, who is every day subject to arrest.

"No man is above the law."

Tijerina, a 42-year-old former cotton picker who came to New Mexico several years ago from Texas, surprised law officers when he and a group of armed followers invaded the sleepy northern New Mexico mountain village of Tierra Amarilla in June 1967. They took over the village and the courthouse, where several of Tijerina's followers were being arraigned on charges from an earlier incident.

Tijerina was acquitted of several charges resulting from the raid during a trial last December. He used as his basic defense the argument that he came to Tierra Amarilla to make a citizens' arrest of the district attorney.

"After due consideration and a close research of the acts and words of Mr. Warren Burger, I am convinced that he is guilty of conspiracy to violate the civil rights of the poor and of the minority, of the actual violation of those rights and of perjury in regard to his oath of office," Tijerina said.

Tijerina did not say how he would arrest Burger or what he planned after the arrest.

In Washington, Inspector Robert E. Krahling of the U.S. Capitol Police chuckled and said: "He sounds like some kind of nut, doesn't he?"

Kidnaping was cointed as a word in the late 17th century when there was a practice of stealing children and shipping them to servitude on plantations in the American colonies.

Parents Of World War II Hero Visit Grave Of Son

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two elderly Pima Indians stood by a marble headstone at the Arlington National Cemetery grave of Ira Hayes, a Marine corporal who became a bigger-than-life hero of World War II.

"My son, my son," cried Mrs. Job Hayes, while her 70-year-old husband stared solemnly but without tears at the grave.

Ira Hayes became a part of one of the most historic scenes in U.S. military history when he helped hoist an American flag on Iwo Jima in 1945. Not far from his grave is the 20-ton bronze Marine War Memorial which portrays the dramatic flag-raising.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes came from the Gila River Indian Reservation in Arizona on a cold, snowy February day in 1955 to see their son buried at Arlington.

But the 69-year-old Mrs. Hayes wanted desperately to see her son's grave one more time before she died, a listener told a Phoenix, Ariz., radio station (KRDS). Since the family farm couldn't finance the long trip, the radio station put up the funds.

The parents were on hand this warm, clear Memorial Day when a chaplain told a small group at the Hayes' gravesite: "Let us pray for Cpl. Ira Hayes who was always faithful to his country and who served his parents and his people well."

Hayes' life and death were portrayed in a movie, "The Outsider," in which he was shown as feeling his fame was undeserved and his being made a national hero was phony.

The flag-raising photograph which catapulted him to national glory resulted in his being sent on a bond selling drive around the United States. Eventually he was discharged and returned to the reservation after the War.

Hayes found it hard to cope with the fame and the free drinks that being a hero brought. He died in 1955 at the age of 32, an alcoholic.

The radio station which helped bring the parents to Washington also is accepting donations around the United States. Even fund as a living memorial to the Marine.

With Mr. and Mrs. Hayes was their son, Kenneth, 39, a veteran of the Korean War who holds two Purple Hearts, a Silver and a Bronze Star. The governor of the Pima reservation, Lloyde Allison, and his wife came along also.

After the 10-minute memorial service and placing of a large white carnation wreath against the grave, the Indians were left alone to pray privately.

"Today was a sad day but I'm so happy we could come," Mrs. Hayes told one of the entourage.

Memorial Rites Are Conducted By Citizens Here

Memorial services for deceased members featured the meeting of the East Liverpool Area Senior Citizens Group Thursday afternoon at the parish hall of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

A selection was sung by a trio comprised of Anna Osborn, Beatrice Tice and Stella Baker. Mrs. Nell Pelley was pianist.

Appointed to the June kitchen committee were Grace Hoff, Bertha Russell, Sadye Knapp and Blanche VanFossen.

Final plans were made for the trip to Kennywood Park, Pittsburgh, on Wednesday. The charter bus will leave the terminal at 10 a.m. Several reservations are still available.

Readings were presented by Mrs. Ruth Heldman and Mrs. Edith Nichols. Mrs. Lillie Clemensen received the corsage. There were 104 present.

Ex-Wellsville Girl Attends Naples Ball

Miss Brenda Darlene Hunter, daughter of Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Hunter, formerly of Wellsville, was among those attending the 1969 International Debutants Ball in Naples, Italy, recently.

Miss Hunter is a student at Forrest Sherman High School in Naples. Prior to her residency in Italy, she attended Wellsville High School.

Comdr. Hunter, a retired U.S. naval officer, now holds a position with the government. The Hunters plan to return to Wellsville the latter part of June for a visit with Mrs. Isabel Hunter of 465 14th St., his mother.

Lisbon Kiwanis Club Hears Talk By Pastor

LISBON — "A Memorial Day Bouquet" was the subject used by the Rev. Allen R. Conway of the First United Methodist Church of East Liverpool when he spoke to the local Kiwanis Club Thursday noon in the Masonic Temple.

Parents Of World War II Hero Visit Grave Of Son

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two elderly Pima Indians stood by a marble headstone at the Arlington National Cemetery grave of Ira Hayes, a Marine corporal who became a bigger-than-life hero of World War II.

"My son, my son," cried Mrs. Job Hayes, while her 70-year-old husband stared solemnly but without tears at the grave.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes came from the Gila River Indian Reservation in Arizona on a cold, snowy February day in 1955 to see their son buried at Arlington.

But the 69-year-old Mrs. Hayes wanted desperately to see her son's grave one more time before she died, a listener told a Phoenix, Ariz., radio station (KRDS). Since the family farm couldn't finance the long trip, the radio station put up the funds.

The parents were on hand this warm, clear Memorial Day when a chaplain told a small group at the Hayes' gravesite: "Let us pray for Cpl. Ira Hayes who was always faithful to his country and who served his parents and his people well."

Hayes' life and death were portrayed in a movie, "The Outsider," in which he was shown as feeling his fame was undeserved and his being made a national hero was phony.

The flag-raising photograph which catapulted him to national glory resulted in his being sent on a bond selling drive around the United States. Eventually he was discharged and returned to the reservation after the War.

Hayes found it hard to cope with the fame and the free drinks that being a hero brought. He died in 1955 at the age of 32, an alcoholic.

The radio station which helped bring the parents to Washington also is accepting donations around the United States. Even fund as a living memorial to the Marine.

With Mr. and Mrs. Hayes was their son, Kenneth, 39, a veteran of the Korean War who holds two Purple Hearts, a Silver and a Bronze Star. The governor of the Pima reservation, Lloyde Allison, and his wife came along also.

After the 10-minute memorial service and placing of a large white carnation wreath against the grave, the Indians were left alone to pray privately.

"Today was a sad day but I'm so happy we could come," Mrs. Hayes told one of the entourage.

Memorial Rites Are Conducted By Citizens Here

Memorial services for deceased members featured the meeting of the East Liverpool Area Senior Citizens Group Thursday afternoon at the parish hall of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

A selection was sung by a trio comprised of Anna Osborn, Beatrice Tice and Stella Baker. Mrs. Nell Pelley was pianist.

Appointed to the June kitchen committee were Grace Hoff, Bertha Russell, Sadye Knapp and Blanche McFossen.

Final plans were made for the trip to Kennywood Park, Pittsburgh, on Wednesday. The charter bus will leave the terminal at 10 a.m. Several reservations are still available.

Readings were presented by Mrs. Ruth Heldman and Mrs. Edith Nichols. Mrs. Lillie Clemensen received the corsage. There were 104 present.

China Vs. Russia

While China fuels its hate campaign against Russia, the Soviet Union methodically continues its buildup of forces to meet any military contingncy on the long border between the two nations.

Despite a stringent security blanket which now covers almost all of Siberia east of Novosibirsk, intelligence officials have determined that heavy troop movements have reinforced all elements of the Soviet Far Eastern Command.

REPORTS TELL OF between 100,000 and 200,000 Soviet troops, including units equipped with rockets, being introduced into Mongolia. Estimates are that 1.5 million men may be in the area east of Irkutsk.

The Soviet buildup has been accelerating for three years and now the propaganda buildup also seems to be coming on louder and with greater toughness.

Speaking recently in the Mongolian capital of Ulan Bator, Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny assailed Red China and warned that "any attempts to violate the territorial integrity of the U.S.S.R. or Mongolia" would meet with "a crushing rebuff."

It was the second time within a week that the Soviet president condemned Mao Tse-tung for following what he described as an "antisocialist policy." He charged that the Peking government is an adversary of socialism and is attempting to split the socialist system and undermine the international Communist movement."

The more viciously the two giant nations growl and snap at one another the more likely they are to become involved in armed conflict. A war between these two countries has the potential of becoming one of the bloodiest holocausts of all time.

CHINA IS THE CHALLENGER and Russia the challenged for the role of world Communist leader. Both nations are ruthless in their methods and determined to reach their objective.

While efforts are being made in many places to bring peace in Vietnam and to prevent full-scale ware from breaking out in the Middle East, there seems to be no voice heard or effort made to head off a war between China and Russia.

The reason for this might well bear reflection.

Gamblers And The Moon

There is just about nothing that betting people won't bet on. And this includes the date the first human being will set foot on the moon.

But it appears as if the bookmakers in Great Britain are learning that it's a bad gamble to bet against America's space program. For it looks now as if they will lose at least $172,000 if an American astronaut (now scheduled to be Ohio's Neil Armstrong) steps onto the moon before Aug. 1.

ADMITTEDLY IT LOOKED like a good bet two years ago when the Russians appeared to the bookmakers to be in the lead in the space race.

But Yankee ingenuity, good planning and drive put us out in front of the Soviet Cosmonauts and now, barring an unexpected spectacular by the Russians at the last moment, it appears the United States will be on the moon in July.

Some of the British citizens who stand to benefit from an American moon landing will do so abundantly for at least one betting firm agreed to pay $1,000 for every $1 bet if the moon landing occurred before January of 1971.

The professional gamblers in Great Britain are rueful for they seldom bet on anything that isn't a pretty sure thing. One of them has said, apparently deciding that he is going to lose, "This is one of the few times we've made a mistake — the man in the street knew more about space than we did."

Even though it looks now as if the man in the street will win out on the moon bet, it took a great deal of faith and courage to bet much money on the probability of such a landing in 1970 — as far back as April, 1964, when some of the bets were made.

IF YOU DOUBT THIS, how would you like to bet on the date for a landing on the red planet of Mars?

The British bookmakers, figuring they have learned a lesson from the moon gamble, are quoting odds of 20 to 1 that an Earthling will be on Mars before 1972 and 4 to 1 that he will be there before 1973.

In Pursuit Of Nessie

Nessie, the monster of Scotland's Loch Ness, is back in the news again.

The world-famed denizen of the mountain lake has not been seen again but plans are under way to get a closeup view of it via a little yellow submarine. In fact, the group of Americans behind the submarine adventure hope to provide scientists with a core from Nessie's hide for study.

The scientists maintain the operation will not hurt the monster but at least one Scottish clan chief wants Nessie protected. His concern is that the elusive creature might actually be captured and carted off to America like the London Bridge and the Queen Mary.

Lord Lovat, a World War II commando leader, is opposed to "bullying" Nessie and he doesn't think an American zoo is the place for Scotland's fabled monster which has made Loch Ness the Scots second most important liquid asset.

We agree.

Mars On The Horizon

The fantastic voyages of the crew of the spaceship Enterprise, as seen on the TV show Star Trek, are coming ever closer to reality.

Close on the heels of Apollo 10's flight to the moon comes the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's announcement that it hopes to put men on Mars in the 1980s.

Thomas O. Paine, head of NASA, has revealed the real goal of the space program is to develop and demonstrate the capability for interplanetary travel."

LEADING UP TO THAT will be lunar landings, exploration of the moon and construction of bases there, assembly and operation of large manned space stations that would remain in earth orbit for up to 12 months and exploration of Mars and unmanned space probes.

Plans for making interplantary exploration a reality are threatened, however, by lawmakers such as Sen. Edward Kennedy who are calling for sharply reduced expenditures in the space program.

The advance of space exploration by the United States will depend on how tightly Congress holds the purse strings. But research is under way pointing toward long-range goals.

Underwater isolation tests are being conducted to see how men perform when submerged for as long as 60 days and engineering work is being pushed to develop practical manned space stations. Other development work is dormant due to lack of funds.

THERE WILL BE great wrangling in the halls of Congress as each faction of legislators strives to acquire funds for programs of special interest to its members or their constituents while torepedoing those which they oppose or in which they have little interest.

Meanwhile, men working together, with modern science and technology, will be striving to extend the domain of terrestial life throughout the solar system.

Musings From Max

That is some life those White House social aides live. They are young unmarried military officers stationed in or near Washington who are on call to escort unattached ladies to White House social functions.

The ladies might be ambassadors' daughters, sisters or isters-in-law, or such female relatives of foreign ministers or other dignitaries who are invited to the White House.

A Spanish beauty this week and a French beauty the next. Ho hum. A fellow who once was a White House social aide told me that they really are glorified gigolos. He enjoyed the atmosphere.

The story about the 27th airliner hijacked to Cuba this year wound up on an inside page of the newspaper. It is hardly big news anymore.

For years we have wondered how some of the low diet soldiers and other people of poor countries could be so energetic and strong physically. Now comes a report of a study that shows that individuals are conditioned by their diets as babies and perhaps even prenatally.

Infants fed a low protein diet tend to prefer low protein diets the rest of their lives, and vice versa. A rich diet in infancy could lead to preference for a rich diet later and cause overweight.

Another clue to the strained Russian-Chinese relations is the disclosure that high Soviet officials have been visiting nations bordering Red China — places like Afghanistan, India, North Korea and Mongolia. Must be something in the wind.

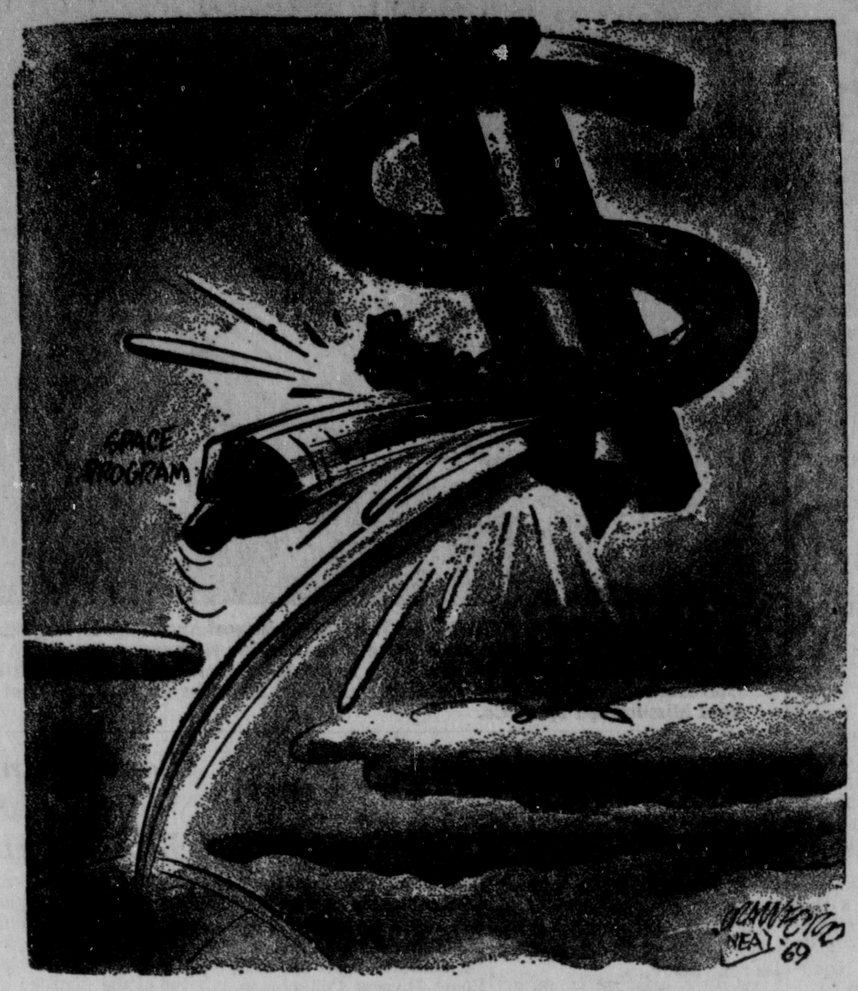

We can't vouch for it but one of our underground sourcessays a "Jefferson airplane," as inthe name of the rock group, is the name given a toothpick used to hold a marijuana cigarette so it can be enjoyed to the last puff. We figured it had something to do with flying.

Then there was the marijuana pusher who advertised: "Fly now pay later."

And there was a proposal years ago to build a luxury hotel in Moscow to be called the Comrade Hilton, with a cocktail lounge called the Bar Sinister. Patently ridiculous.

At The End Of The Line

Don't Call The Police

By Bruce Biossat

WASHINGTON

George Wallace, on the sidelines waiting to decide whether to have another go at it in 1972, is picking up philosophic support in some curious places. His latest recruit is Robert M. Hutchins, the celebrated educator.

In supporting segregation in the public schools, Wallace always has argued that the federal civil authority, though bent on enforcing human rights presumed to be universally applicable in every aspect of American society, has no right to enter the "school arena" either legally or physically.

Hutchins is working in a different contest, but he is clearly Wallace's blood brother.

IN A SYMPOSIUM at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, which he heads, the former University of Chicago president says on the subject of radical activism:

"If, in spite of the best efforts of all concerned, or all but a few, the university is disrupted, the police should on no account be called in.

"They cannot be trusted, and an invitation to them to enter in the name of 'law and order' is evidence that the university has given up trying to become a center of independent thought and criticism, for such a center can live only by discussion."

What Hutchins is saying is that even if laws against assault, arson, riot, malicious destruction of property, theft and invasion of privacy are violated, the state and local civil authority should be barred from campus grounds.

All of the listed crimes, up to and including bombings and shootings, have indeed occurred on U.S. college campuses in the last few years—and in especially heavy volume this year.

SINCE UNIVERSITY administrators do not head a "government" in any real sense, since they do not execute and enforce a body of civil and criminal law on campuses, Hutchins is proposing immunity for all violators who have the presence of mind to commit their crimes within the college sanctuary.

A student who hits a professor in the face with a club on campus (as has happened) need have no fear of police arrest under the Hutchins doctrine. Riots, burnings, bombings, wrecking of furniture, theft of files and personal papers, all these must be allowed to run their course without interference by untrustworthy police.

The logic of Hutchins' argument (it cannot be called reasoning) is that he also would not permit U.S. marshals or troops to come onto a campus, as occurred at the University of Mississippi, to enforce the "civil rights" of a black student.

The schools are either a total sanctuary from authority or they are not a sanctuary at all.

The net of Hutchins' position is that he would give to student activists and their close supporters, operating in their safe preserve, an unchallenged monopoly on violence.

YET THE TRUTH IS, though the idea falls hard on liberal ears, that government works well only when it has a monopoly on violence—the monopoly needed to restrain serious misbehavior harmful to others.

The sanctity of the "center of independent thought and criticism" must, after all, be preserved.

It can be fairly contended that Hutchins is a greater enemy of legitimate civil authority than George Wallace. He condemns the police without regard to performance or attitude—which vary widely. His indictment really goes far beyond the campus.

No one is unaware that police, thrust by urban riot and campus turmoil into new roles for which some are untrained or unfit, do commit excesses. Better recruiting, training and discipline are basic to good law enforcement by the legitimate civil authority.

But Hutchins' charge would seem to leave no proper place at all for the police. Who, then, would enforce the law? On this the aging boy wonder of education seems hopelessly mired in ambiguity.

Adm. Mahan's Relevance

History has a way of reciting the fortunes of nations in terms of great commanders and statesmen who, from time to time, have dominated the forces that determined the ebb and flow of world affairs.

But more often than not, there were students removed from the vicissitudes of action who saw deeply into the meaning of political and military power and who, in their findings and prophecies, provided guidance for nations and their leaders.

Such was Alfred Thayer Mahan whose great books in the 1890s on sea power have profoundly influenced strategy of Britain, Germany, Japan, United States and, more recently, Soviet Russia.

MAHAN WAS BORN at West Point in 1840 and he was raised among books and amid the fine thinking and the discussion of men whose profession concerned military strategy and world affairs. His father was professor of military engineering. When Mahan was 12, Robert E. Lee came to the academy as superintendent, George B. McClellan was a junior engineer officer and Ulysses S. Grant was a student.

Despite this Army background, the boy's interest turned to the sea, apparently influenced by the stories of Marryat and of naval historians. He attended Columbia College and in 1856 was made a midshipman at Annapolis. He was rated there as a brilliant student.

After Annapolis, he served at sea as an officer on various naval vessels but after 1870 he seemed to have considerable time for study and in 1885 was assigned to the new Naval War College.

The college was short of money, talent and books. But Mahan supplied the need for a text by writing his great seminal work, "The Influence of Sea Power Upon History, 1660-1783." Seven years later he had added two more books on the subject, "The Influence of Sea Power Upon the French Revolution and Empire" and "The Life of Nelson."

This trilogy constitutes his contribution to an understanding of the influence of sea power upon the rise and fall of nations.

Sea power, as Mahan defined it, is the total influence on the high seas of a nation and the ancillary means of supporting its vessels. This includes its navy, its merchant fleet, including its fishing and exploratory ships, plus its far-flung bases for repairs and refitting. The navy is its potential to keep sea lanes open in war and in peace.

In elaborating his theme, Mahan traced his subject back to the Punic Wars when Rome, by its superiority on the Mediterranean, frustrated Hannibal's almost successful invasion by land. And his books ended with the defeat of Napoleon by the British despite French victories on the continent.

Thus Mahan proved that there had always been the reality of sea over land. But no one had so comprehensively explained this essential factor in world affairs.

The British were the first to recognize the immense importance of Mahan's writings and he was acclaimed without restraint over there. One of the first to grasp his meaning in the United States was Theodore Roosevelt, whose actions in the Navy Department and as president were guided through his close association with Mahan.

These books, especially the first one, were translated worldwide. In Japan, Adm. Togo, whose fleet shattered the Russians in 1905, freely acknowledged his debt to Mahan and made his works required texts in Japan's military and naval colleges.

In 1894 the German Kaiser told an American friend that he had "devoured" Mahan's book and placed it on all of his naval ships and from then on built the great navy which was designed to challenge British superiority on the sea.

The British government, spurred by the German threat, greatly strengthened its own fleet in the years before World War 1. In the United States, as we all know, Teddy Roosevelt was the first president to dedicate himself to naval construction. He said, "In the vitally important task of convincing (the American people) of naval needs, Mahan stood alone. There is no one else in his class or anywhere near it."

IN SHORT, MAHAN touched off a revolutionary age of naval construction. In the years that followed, 1890 and until 1914, the yearly expenditures of eight foremost nations increased 440 per cent.

Since 1950 Soviet Russia's merchant marine, plus formidable naval construction, has moved up to open competition with the United States. In the crisis that now faces the United States in the Pacific and Indian oceans, the relevance of Mahan is quite clear.

Our confrontation with the Soviets seems inevitable, not necessarily in hot war but in potential control of the great sea routes.

Nessie, the monster of Scotland's Loch Ness, is back in the news again.

The world-famed denizen of the mountain lake has not been seen again but plans are under way to get a closeup view of it via a little yellow submarine. In fact, the group of Americans behind the submarine adventure hope to provide scientists with a core from Nessie's hide for study.

The scientists maintain the operation will not hurt the monster but at least one Scottish clan chief wants Nessie protected. His concern is that the elusive creature might actually be captured and carted off to America like the London Bridge and the Queen Mary.

Lord Lovat, a World War II commando leader, is opposed to "bullying" Nessie and he doesn't think an American zoo is the place for Scotland's fabled monster which has made Loch Ness the Scots second most important liquid asset.

We agree.

Mars On The Horizon

The fantastic voyages of the crew of the spaceship Enterprise, as seen on the TV show Star Trek, are coming ever closer to reality.

Close on the heels of Apollo 10's flight to the moon comes the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's announcement that it hopes to put men on Mars in the 1980s.

Thomas O. Paine, head of NASA, has revealed the real goal of the space program is to develop and demonstrate the capability for interplanetary travel."

LEADING UP TO THAT will be lunar landings, exploration of the moon and construction of bases there, assembly and operation of large manned space stations that would remain in earth orbit for up to 12 months and exploration of Mars and unmanned space probes.

Plans for making interplantary exploration a reality are threatened, however, by lawmakers such as Sen. Edward Kennedy who are calling for sharply reduced expenditures in the space program.

The advance of space exploration by the United States will depend on how tightly Congress holds the purse strings. But research is under way pointing toward long-range goals.

Underwater isolation tests are being conducted to see how men perform when submerged for as long as 60 days and engineering work is being pushed to develop practical manned space stations. Other development work is dormant due to lack of funds.

THERE WILL BE great wrangling in the halls of Congress as each faction of legislators strives to acquire funds for programs of special interest to its members or their constituents while torepedoing those which they oppose or in which they have little interest.

Meanwhile, men working together, with modern science and technology, will be striving to extend the domain of terrestial life throughout the solar system.

Musings From Max

By MARTIN MILLER

That is some life those White House social aides live. They are young unmarried military officers stationed in or near Washington who are on call to escort unattached ladies to White House social functions.

The ladies might be ambassadors' daughters, sisters or isters-in-law, or such female relatives of foreign ministers or other dignitaries who are invited to the White House.

A Spanish beauty this week and a French beauty the next. Ho hum. A fellow who once was a White House social aide told me that they really are glorified gigolos. He enjoyed the atmosphere.

The story about the 27th airliner hijacked to Cuba this year wound up on an inside page of the newspaper. It is hardly big news anymore.

For years we have wondered how some of the low diet soldiers and other people of poor countries could be so energetic and strong physically. Now comes a report of a study that shows that individuals are conditioned by their diets as babies and perhaps even prenatally.

Infants fed a low protein diet tend to prefer low protein diets the rest of their lives, and vice versa. A rich diet in infancy could lead to preference for a rich diet later and cause overweight.

Another clue to the strained Russian-Chinese relations is the disclosure that high Soviet officials have been visiting nations bordering Red China — places like Afghanistan, India, North Korea and Mongolia. Must be something in the wind.

We can't vouch for it but one of our underground sourcessays a "Jefferson airplane," as inthe name of the rock group, is the name given a toothpick used to hold a marijuana cigarette so it can be enjoyed to the last puff. We figured it had something to do with flying.

Then there was the marijuana pusher who advertised: "Fly now pay later."

At The End Of The Line

Don't Call The Police

By Bruce Biossat

WASHINGTON

George Wallace, on the sidelines waiting to decide whether to have another go at it in 1972, is picking up philosophic support in some curious places. His latest recruit is Robert M. Hutchins, the celebrated educator.

In supporting segregation in the public schools, Wallace always has argued that the federal civil authority, though bent on enforcing human rights presumed to be universally applicable in every aspect of American society, has no right to enter the "school arena" either legally or physically.

Hutchins is working in a different contest, but he is clearly Wallace's blood brother.

IN A SYMPOSIUM at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, which he heads, the former University of Chicago president says on the subject of radical activism:

"If, in spite of the best efforts of all concerned, or all but a few, the university is disrupted, the police should on no account be called in.

"They cannot be trusted, and an invitation to them to enter in the name of 'law and order' is evidence that the university has given up trying to become a center of independent thought and criticism, for such a center can live only by discussion."

What Hutchins is saying is that even if laws against assault, arson, riot, malicious destruction of property, theft and invasion of privacy are violated, the state and local civil authority should be barred from campus grounds.

All of the listed crimes, up to and including bombings and shootings, have indeed occurred on U.S. college campuses in the last few years—and in especially heavy volume this year.

SINCE UNIVERSITY administrators do not head a "government" in any real sense, since they do not execute and enforce a body of civil and criminal law on campuses, Hutchins is proposing immunity for all violators who have the presence of mind to commit their crimes within the college sanctuary.

A student who hits a professor in the face with a club on campus (as has happened) need have no fear of police arrest under the Hutchins doctrine. Riots, burnings, bombings, wrecking of furniture, theft of files and personal papers, all these must be allowed to run their course without interference by untrustworthy police.

The logic of Hutchins' argument (it cannot be called reasoning) is that he also would not permit U.S. marshals or troops to come onto a campus, as occurred at the University of Mississippi, to enforce the "civil rights" of a black student.

The schools are either a total sanctuary from authority or they are not a sanctuary at all.

The net of Hutchins' position is that he would give to student activists and their close supporters, operating in their safe preserve, an unchallenged monopoly on violence.

YET THE TRUTH IS, though the idea falls hard on liberal ears, that government works well only when it has a monopoly on violence—the monopoly needed to restrain serious misbehavior harmful to others.

The sanctity of the "center of independent thought and criticism" must, after all, be preserved.

It can be fairly contended that Hutchins is a greater enemy of legitimate civil authority than George Wallace. He condemns the police without regard to performance or attitude—which vary widely. His indictment really goes far beyond the campus.

No one is unaware that police, thrust by urban riot and campus turmoil into new roles for which some are untrained or unfit, do commit excesses. Better recruiting, training and discipline are basic to good law enforcement by the legitimate civil authority.

But Hutchins' charge would seem to leave no proper place at all for the police. Who, then, would enforce the law? On this the aging boy wonder of education seems hopelessly mired in ambiguity.

RAYMOND MOLEY

Adm. Mahan's Relevance

History has a way of reciting the fortunes of nations in terms of great commanders and statesmen who, from time to time, have dominated the forces that determined the ebb and flow of world affairs.

But more often than not, there were students removed from the vicissitudes of action who saw deeply into the meaning of political and military power and who, in their findings and prophecies, provided guidance for nations and their leaders.

Such was Alfred Thayer Mahan whose great books in the 1890s on sea power have profoundly influenced strategy of Britain, Germany, Japan, United States and, more recently, Soviet Russia.

MAHAN WAS BORN at West Point in 1840 and he was raised among books and amid the fine thinking and the discussion of men whose profession concerned military strategy and world affairs. His father was professor of military engineering. When Mahan was 12, Robert E. Lee came to the academy as superintendent, George B. McClellan was a junior engineer officer and Ulysses S. Grant was a student.

Despite this Army background, the boy's interest turned to the sea, apparently influenced by the stories of Marryat and of naval historians. He attended Columbia College and in 1856 was made a midshipman at Annapolis. He was rated there as a brilliant student.

After Annapolis, he served at sea as an officer on various naval vessels but after 1870 he seemed to have considerable time for study and in 1885 was assigned to the new Naval War College.

The college was short of money, talent and books. But Mahan supplied the need for a text by writing his great seminal work, "The Influence of Sea Power Upon History, 1660-1783." Seven years later he had added two more books on the subject, "The Influence of Sea Power Upon the French Revolution and Empire" and "The Life of Nelson."

This trilogy constitutes his contribution to an understanding of the influence of sea power upon the rise and fall of nations.

Sea power, as Mahan defined it, is the total influence on the high seas of a nation and the ancillary means of supporting its vessels. This includes its navy, its merchant fleet, including its fishing and exploratory ships, plus its far-flung bases for repairs and refitting. The navy is its potential to keep sea lanes open in war and in peace.

In elaborating his theme, Mahan traced his subject back to the Punic Wars when Rome, by its superiority on the Mediterranean, frustrated Hannibal's almost successful invasion by land. And his books ended with the defeat of Napoleon by the British despite French victories on the continent.

Thus Mahan proved that there had always been the reality of sea over land. But no one had so comprehensively explained this essential factor in world affairs.

The British were the first to recognize the immense importance of Mahan's writings and he was acclaimed without restraint over there. One of the first to grasp his meaning in the United States was Theodore Roosevelt, whose actions in the Navy Department and as president were guided through his close association with Mahan.

These books, especially the first one, were translated worldwide. In Japan, Adm. Togo, whose fleet shattered the Russians in 1905, freely acknowledged his debt to Mahan and made his works required texts in Japan's military and naval colleges.

In 1894 the German Kaiser told an American friend that he had "devoured" Mahan's book and placed it on all of his naval ships and from then on built the great navy which was designed to challenge British superiority on the sea.

The British government, spurred by the German threat, greatly strengthened its own fleet in the years before World War 1. In the United States, as we all know, Teddy Roosevelt was the first president to dedicate himself to naval construction. He said, "In the vitally important task of convincing (the American people) of naval needs, Mahan stood alone. There is no one else in his class or anywhere near it."

IN SHORT, MAHAN touched off a revolutionary age of naval construction. In the years that followed, 1890 and until 1914, the yearly expenditures of eight foremost nations increased 440 per cent.

Since 1950 Soviet Russia's merchant marine, plus formidable naval construction, has moved up to open competition with the United States. In the crisis that now faces the United States in the Pacific and Indian oceans, the relevance of Mahan is quite clear.

Our confrontation with the Soviets seems inevitable, not necessarily in hot war but in potential control of the great sea routes.

Police Planning Fund Application Approved

Mayor Dale Walborn of Alliance confirmed today that the Ohio Department of Urban Affairs in Columbus has approved an application for a $16,036 grant to Columbiana and Stark Counties to finance planning of improved law enforcement in the two counties and their political subdivisions.

Columbiana and Stark comprise District 8 in a series of organizations set up throughout Ohio to administer the funds. The allocations are handled by the state agency out of funds set up under the U.S. "safe streets act" of 1968.

Walborn also confirmed that the state will make the funds available as soon as two men are appointed to direct the program in the respective counties. The initial grant will be used to draw up a master plan for present and future law enforcement needs.

Bids Will Be Opened In Hancock Projects

Bids will be opened June 24 for work on another section of relocated U.S. Rt. 22 in Brooke and Hancock counties, Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. announced Thursday.

The project will involve the 1.251-mile relocation of Rt. 22 in the Harmon Creek area and he erection of a bridge structure.

The governor also said that the State Road Commission will open bids for the construction of a 0.208-mile segment of new U.S. Rt. 22 east of Weirton. This new section will link with the 2.2-mile, $3.8-million segment that was opened to traffic in the fall of 1968.

Couple Resides In Lisbon After Dixie Honeymoon

A double - ring ceremony on May 18 at 2:30 solemnized the marriage vows of Colleen Gwen Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oland Baker of Lisbon RD 5, and Jud Craig Chappell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chappell of 911 Franklin Ave., Salem, at St. Jacob's United Church of Christ, Lisbon.

The Rev. Harry Nehrig officiated. At the altar was a single floral arrangement of white gladioli, snapdragons and mums and small matching arrangements on the chancel railings.

Bud vases with a single white rose were placed in each window and ferns and palms were arranged throughout the chancel. Mrs. Edward Mitchell was at the organ. Mrs. John Schnader sang three selections.

A Dior bow in the back accented the detachable train. Her veil was a matching face framer with a blue flower accent extending into a cathedral length. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, white rose buds and miniature carnations highlighted by blue baby's breath with sprays of white lace ribbon.

Identical attire was worn by the bridesmaids, Mrs. Roger Walker of Berea, cousin of the bride; Miss Bobbie Barnes of Dover, college roommate of the bride, and Miss Abbi Chappell, sister of the bridegroom. The attendants dresses were made by the bride's mother and aunt.

Tod Chappell of Salem served his brother as best man. Ushers were Ned Chappell of Maryland, the bridegroom's brother, and Neil and Bren Baker, brothers of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose a pink sheath dress with matching coat and accessories and the bridegroom's mother was attired in an aqua sheath dress with lace accents and matching accessories. The mother of the bride wore a pink orchid and the bridegroom's mother white.

The bride's table featured a yellow and blue color theme. Daisies surrounded large blue candles, the punch bowl and the tiered wedding cake. Hearts of blue lace bore the names of the bride and bridegroom and those of the bride's parents, this being the occasion of their 22nd wedding anniversary.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of David Anderson High School in Lisbon, attended Kent State University for two years and is employed at the City Loan and Saving's Co.

The bridegroom is a 1962 graduate of Salem high school, has served two years in the Army and is now manager of the Chappell - Zimmerman Co. in Salem.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal party in the Spruce Room at Timberlanes in Salem Saturday evening, where the bride and bridegroom remembered their attendants with gifts.

15,000 Conduct Non-Violent March In Support Of Park

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — "It was beautiful," a smiling, bearded young man said after about 15,000 persons had conducted a nonviolent march supporting the controversial "people's park."

But the future of the fenced-in three acres of property owned by the University of California at Berkeley remained in doubt.

Friday's march through downtown Berkeley covered a four-mile circular route and involved thousands of demonstrators, some 2,000 National Guardsmen and hundreds of police, sheriff's deputies and California highway patrolmen.

Thousands of white and yellow daisies were distributed to marchers. Many of the flowers wound up in the fence of the disputed park and in a barbed wire barricade.

One young man walked up to a policeman and handed him a flower saying, "I want to lay a flower on you." A National Guardsman, standing with fixed bayonet at an intersection, stood unmoving as an attractive young girl kissed him and stuck a flower in his jacket.

A flatbed truck carrying a rock band and dancing girls stopped near the fence and two young girls stripped to the waist to perform for guardsmen and spectators, who stood amid an impromptu "park" of plants and grass installed on the street pavement.

The demonstrators cleaned up the street litter when it was over.

No violence was reported.

Two young men were arrested —one a teen-age runaway and the other a demonstrator who disrobed.

Marchers were demanding that the fence be torn down, that guardsmen be removed and the park returned to the young people who built it—planted trees, shrubs and grass and installed children's playground equipment.

UC Chancellor Roger W. Heyns said Thursday he believed the ultimate solution to the controversy was for the City of Berkeley to lease the property for a park.

City councilmen voted 5-4 Thursday to express their willingness to lease the property if the university regents ask them to do so.

The controversy began last month when residents near the property, some students and others not, began developing a park on the lot without university permission.

On May 15, police, at Heyns' request, evicted some 75 persons from the lot. Workmen erected the fence.

Weigands Residing Here After Church Ceremonies

The Longs Run United Presbyterian Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Nancy L. Holden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Holden of the Echo Dell Rd., and Thomas J. Weigand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wiegand of 410 Palissey St., May 9 at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Richard Shipley officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white lilies and white mums, in addition to palms and candelabra. The family pews were marked with yellow and mint green satin and velvet bows.

A HALF-HOUR organ recital was furnished by Mrs. Jack Cocker of Cleveland. The soloists were Bill Holden and Ray Cocker.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, appeared in a fitted Spanish net gown, highlighted with four - inch inserts of lace roses and long pointed sleeves. Her Spanish mantilla, held in place by sequins and pearls, fell into a train and was highlighted with lace roses over nylon illusion. She carried a cascade of arrangements of white carnations and baby mums, tied with white velvet streamers.

Mrs. Janice Holden, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a mint green satin gown with long sleeves tied at the wrist. Her theater veil was held in place with yellow and white carnations.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Terry Lynn May, sister of the bride, Mrs. Mary Newbold and Miss Kay Sevek. Their gowns were yellow nylon over satin and their theater veils were held by yellow carnations. They carried yellow carnations and white mums tied with yellow velvet streamers.

Michele May, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She carried a basket of petals. Robbie Brooks, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

The bride's mother wore a poudre blue lace attire and corsage of tinted carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose a beige suit and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Robert Brooks, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Bill Holden, brother of the bride, Michael Mayo, brother-in-law of the bride, and Bob Dray, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A RECEPTION was held in the church social rooms for 200 guests registered by Miss Cindy Dray. The table, covered with maline and decorated with candelabra, featured a four - tier wedding cake as a centerpiece.

Aides were Mrs. Ray Green, Mrs. Edwin Simms, aunt of the bide, and Mrs. Shirley Brooks, sister of the bridegroom.

The bride was graduated from Beaver Local High School in 1966. Her husband is employed at the First National Bank.

A rehearsal dinner was held and the couple presented gifts to the wedding party. Pre-nuptial showers were held by Mrs. Craig Newbold and Mrs. Robert Dray.

Police Planning Fund Application Approved

Mayor Dale Walborn of Alliance confirmed today that the Ohio Department of Urban Affairs in Columbus has approved an application for a $16,036 grant to Columbiana and Stark Counties to finance planning of improved law enforcement in the two counties and their political subdivisions.

Columbiana and Stark comprise District 8 in a series of organizations set up throughout Ohio to administer the funds. The allocations are handled by the state agency out of funds set up under the U.S. "safe streets act" of 1968.

Walborn also confirmed that the state will make the funds available as soon as two men are appointed to direct the program in the respective counties. The initial grant will be used to draw up a master plan for present and future law enforcement needs.

Bids Will Be Opened In Hancock Projects

Bids will be opened June 24 for work on another section of relocated U.S. Rt. 22 in Brooke and Hancock counties, Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. announced Thursday.

The project will involve the 1.251-mile relocation of Rt. 22 in the Harmon Creek area and he erection of a bridge structure.

The governor also said that the State Road Commission will open bids for the construction of a 0.208-mile segment of new U.S. Rt. 22 east of Weirton. This new section will link with the 2.2-mile, $3.8-million segment that was opened to traffic in the fall of 1968.

Hancock PTA Council Will Meet On Monday

Election of officers and general discussion of the PTA program will feature a special meeting of the Hancock County Council of PTA Monday at 7 p.m. in the Oak Glen High School multi-purpose room.

All Oak Glen parents and PTA members are urged to attend.

Parents of 9th-grade students who will be entering Oak Glen in September also are invited, Mrs. Wilbur Staley, president, said.

28 Attend Meeting At Mt. Nebo Grange

Carl Bailey, master, presided.

The program, presented by Howard Wilhelm, lecturer, included "Memories of Childhood" for roll call response, a quiz on grange emblems and readings.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank King and daughter Linda served refreshments.

Three thousand years ago, the Olmec people created a culture that influenced all later Mexican civilizations. They were the first known Americans to emerge from a simple agricultural society and form a civilization with art and religion. They devised a calendar, a form of writing, earth pyramids and an art style that spread throughout Middle America.

Couple Resides In Lisbon After Dixie Honeymoon

A double - ring ceremony on May 18 at 2:30 solemnized the marriage vows of Colleen Gwen Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oland Baker of Lisbon RD 5, and Jud Craig Chappell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chappell of 911 Franklin Ave., Salem, at St. Jacob's United Church of Christ, Lisbon.

The Rev. Harry Nehrig officiated. At the altar was a single floral arrangement of white gladioli, snapdragons and mums and small matching arrangements on the chancel railings.

Bud vases with a single white rose were placed in each window and ferns and palms were arranged throughout the chancel. Mrs. Edward Mitchell was at the organ. Mrs. John Schnader sang three selections.

A Dior bow in the back accented the detachable train. Her veil was a matching face framer with a blue flower accent extending into a cathedral length. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, white rose buds and miniature carnations highlighted by blue baby's breath with sprays of white lace ribbon.

Identical attire was worn by the bridesmaids, Mrs. Roger Walker of Berea, cousin of the bride; Miss Bobbie Barnes of Dover, college roommate of the bride, and Miss Abbi Chappell, sister of the bridegroom. The attendants dresses were made by the bride's mother and aunt.

Tod Chappell of Salem served his brother as best man. Ushers were Ned Chappell of Maryland, the bridegroom's brother, and Neil and Bren Baker, brothers of the bride.

The mother of the bride chose a pink sheath dress with matching coat and accessories and the bridegroom's mother was attired in an aqua sheath dress with lace accents and matching accessories. The mother of the bride wore a pink orchid and the bridegroom's mother white.

The bride's table featured a yellow and blue color theme. Daisies surrounded large blue candles, the punch bowl and the tiered wedding cake. Hearts of blue lace bore the names of the bride and bridegroom and those of the bride's parents, this being the occasion of their 22nd wedding anniversary.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of David Anderson High School in Lisbon, attended Kent State University for two years and is employed at the City Loan and Saving's Co.

The bridegroom is a 1962 graduate of Salem high school, has served two years in the Army and is now manager of the Chappell - Zimmerman Co. in Salem.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal party in the Spruce Room at Timberlanes in Salem Saturday evening, where the bride and bridegroom remembered their attendants with gifts.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — "It was beautiful," a smiling, bearded young man said after about 15,000 persons had conducted a nonviolent march supporting the controversial "people's park."

But the future of the fenced-in three acres of property owned by the University of California at Berkeley remained in doubt.

Friday's march through downtown Berkeley covered a four-mile circular route and involved thousands of demonstrators, some 2,000 National Guardsmen and hundreds of police, sheriff's deputies and California highway patrolmen.

Thousands of white and yellow daisies were distributed to marchers. Many of the flowers wound up in the fence of the disputed park and in a barbed wire barricade.

One young man walked up to a policeman and handed him a flower saying, "I want to lay a flower on you." A National Guardsman, standing with fixed bayonet at an intersection, stood unmoving as an attractive young girl kissed him and stuck a flower in his jacket.

A flatbed truck carrying a rock band and dancing girls stopped near the fence and two young girls stripped to the waist to perform for guardsmen and spectators, who stood amid an impromptu "park" of plants and grass installed on the street pavement.

The demonstrators cleaned up the street litter when it was over.

No violence was reported.

Two young men were arrested —one a teen-age runaway and the other a demonstrator who disrobed.

Marchers were demanding that the fence be torn down, that guardsmen be removed and the park returned to the young people who built it—planted trees, shrubs and grass and installed children's playground equipment.

UC Chancellor Roger W. Heyns said Thursday he believed the ultimate solution to the controversy was for the City of Berkeley to lease the property for a park.

City councilmen voted 5-4 Thursday to express their willingness to lease the property if the university regents ask them to do so.

The controversy began last month when residents near the property, some students and others not, began developing a park on the lot without university permission.

On May 15, police, at Heyns' request, evicted some 75 persons from the lot. Workmen erected the fence.

Weigands Residing Here After Church Ceremonies

The Longs Run United Presbyterian Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Nancy L. Holden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Holden of the Echo Dell Rd., and Thomas J. Weigand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wiegand of 410 Palissey St., May 9 at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Richard Shipley officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar decorated with white lilies and white mums, in addition to palms and candelabra. The family pews were marked with yellow and mint green satin and velvet bows.

A HALF-HOUR organ recital was furnished by Mrs. Jack Cocker of Cleveland. The soloists were Bill Holden and Ray Cocker.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, appeared in a fitted Spanish net gown, highlighted with four - inch inserts of lace roses and long pointed sleeves. Her Spanish mantilla, held in place by sequins and pearls, fell into a train and was highlighted with lace roses over nylon illusion. She carried a cascade of arrangements of white carnations and baby mums, tied with white velvet streamers.

Mrs. Janice Holden, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a mint green satin gown with long sleeves tied at the wrist. Her theater veil was held in place with yellow and white carnations.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Terry Lynn May, sister of the bride, Mrs. Mary Newbold and Miss Kay Sevek. Their gowns were yellow nylon over satin and their theater veils were held by yellow carnations. They carried yellow carnations and white mums tied with yellow velvet streamers.

Michele May, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She carried a basket of petals. Robbie Brooks, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

The bride's mother wore a poudre blue lace attire and corsage of tinted carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose a beige suit and wore a corsage of yellow roses.

Robert Brooks, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Bill Holden, brother of the bride, Michael Mayo, brother-in-law of the bride, and Bob Dray, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A RECEPTION was held in the church social rooms for 200 guests registered by Miss Cindy Dray. The table, covered with maline and decorated with candelabra, featured a four - tier wedding cake as a centerpiece.

Aides were Mrs. Ray Green, Mrs. Edwin Simms, aunt of the bide, and Mrs. Shirley Brooks, sister of the bridegroom.

The bride was graduated from Beaver Local High School in 1966. Her husband is employed at the First National Bank.

A rehearsal dinner was held and the couple presented gifts to the wedding party. Pre-nuptial showers were held by Mrs. Craig Newbold and Mrs. Robert Dray.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I deal with some crayon "art work" created on my walls by my children?

A. — Apply some toothpaste to the crayon marks, let it set for about 15 minutes, then wipe off with a damp cloth. Usually works like magic. Don't let the toothpaste on too long, or it will harden.

A two - week Daily Vacation Bible School will begin Monday night at the Boyce United Methodist Church and will continue nightly from 7 to 9 through Friday.

Classes will be for boys and girls, beginning with the age of 4, through Junior and Senior High School.

The Rev. Paul George, pastor, Mrs. Charles Wagoner and Mrs. Elmer Ralston are directors. Clyde Graham is general superintendent, Rev. George song leader and Mrs. Clara Thorn in charge of the missionary stories. Rev. George also will teach the adult class. The study topic will be "None of These Diseases."

Devotional leaders will be Mrs. Ralston and Mrs. Delmar Montgomery. Miss Jeryl Kidder and Harold Stewart will be pianist and organist, respectively. Charles Wagoner will be in charge of woodcraft.

The program will feature a missionary film, "New Day For Troja Boy," which will be screened June 4, and an evangelistic film, "Hidden Island" on June 10. A missionary offering will be taken for the Rev. and Mrs. Burnis Bushong, the Rev. and Mrs. Elmore Clyde and the Rev. and Mrs. William Cox. Mrs. Bushong, the former Thelma Cline, Mrs. Clyde, the former Arlene Tice, and Cox are missionaries from the Boyce Church.

The Beginners Class will see two films the same nights as the other departments. The titles are "God's Wonders on the Farm" and "God's Wonders in a Children's Zoo." Both will be in color.

The supervisors of the departments include Mrs. Clark Hager, Beginners; Mrs. George Poole, Primary; Mrs. Delmar Montgomery, Junior, and Mrs. Chester Channels, Hi-teen.

A bicycle parade will be featured Sunday at 3:30 p. m., with prizes awarded for the best decorated bicycles. There will be a police escort.

The closing program will be held June 15, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Lisbon Rites Attract 400

LISBON — Approximately 400 attended the annual Memorial Day service sponsored by American Legion Post 275 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4111 Friday morning at the cemetery.

The Rev. Tom Hammerton of the East Palestine United Methodist Church, former pastor of the local United Methodist Church, was guest speaker.

His key illustration was the story of a Civil War captain who said, after his orderly was killed running an errand for him, "I am going to live part of my life for Johnny Ring."

The pastor said, "We need to be reminded that there are some things we ought to be doing that they won't be able to do."

He said people should keep informed about what is going on in the world and give their best understanding to it. "We need to be enthusiastic about the things that make for peace."

Recalling Paul's message on faith, hope and love to the Corinthians, Rev. Hammerton said, "We ought to develop a faith in one another, hope for a better world than the one we live in and work to understand all the ramifications of love."

The service followed a parade from Post 275 and concluded with the firing squad saluting the dead. Warren Kelm played "Taps" from the band's position in front of the speakers' stand and Gerald Palmer played the echo from a distance.

Joe W. Driscoll, superintendent of schools, was master of ceremonies. The David Anderson High School band directed by David May played the National Anthem and "Faith Of Our Fathers."

Audrey Hill, a freshman who won the American Legion-sponsored Lincoln's Gettsburg Address contest at the high school, recited Lincoln's famous speech. George M. Nace Jr., high school principal, read Gen. John A. Logan's general order setting May 30, 1868, as the First Decoration Day.

The Rev. Paul Haney of the First Christian Church made the opening prayer and pronounced the benediction.

Driscoll introduced the Gold Star Mothers — Mrs. Helen Guy, Mrs. Annie Reuff, Mrs. Alice McGraw, Mrs. James Robinson and Mrs. Tom Tucker. Mayor Clyde B. Pike shared the speakers' stand.

The Restless, an 18-ton vessel built in 1614 by Adrian Block, was the first ship built in what is now New York City.

Events Set In Churches Of District

The Ohio Valley Missionary Union will meet Sunday at 3 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Midland, with Mrs. Mamie Taylor, newly - elected president, in charge. Preceding the business session, youth of the participating churches will present a brief program.

MOMENT OF MEDITATION

IF CHRIST HAD NOT COME

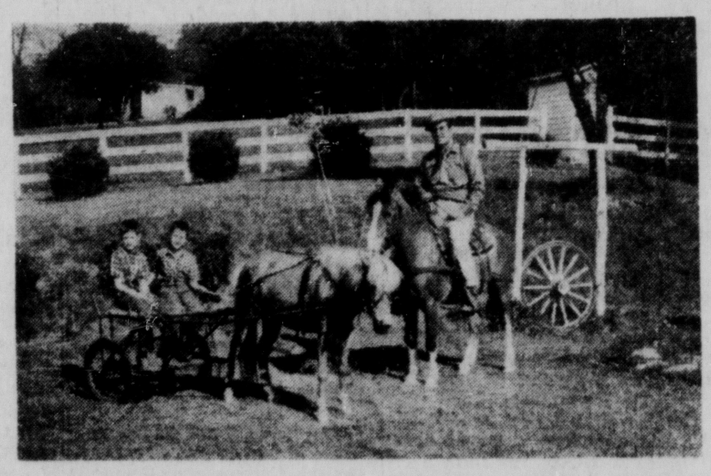

Have you ever stopped to consider just what the condition would be if Christ had not come. Some may think that there is no point in even considering this because Christ did come. It is true that he did come, but it might help us to appreciate the great gift of God's Son if we think about our condition had he not come.

First, if Christ had not come, we would be without the promise of remission of sins. Paul stated in Heb. 9:22 that "without shedding of blood is no remission." Later in Heb. 10:4 he points out that, " . . . it is not impossible that the blood of bulls and of goats should take away sins." Since the animal sacrifices of the Old Testament were not able to take away sins, what blood would be able to give remission of sins? The answer is in the precious blood of Jesus Christ. Mt. 26:28. "For this is my blood of the New Testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins." Yes, the blood of Christ had to be shed so that we could have the hope of remission of sins. Jesus came to seek and to save that which was lost. Lk. 19:10. John the Baptist introduced him as the lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world. Jno. 1:29. But what if Christ had not come? We would not have this hope of remission of sins. Of course we contact the blood of Christ that remits our sins, when we are baptized for the remission of sins. Rom. 6:3,4; Acts 2:38.

Second, if Christ had not come, we would have no hope of life after death. The Christian does not view death as the end. He believes that after death there is a resurrection of the dead. Jesus stated it like this: "Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation." Jno. 5:28, 29. But what if Christ had not come? Would we have this hope of the resurrection? The Apostle Paul in 1 Cor. 15 deals with this subject. He tells us that if Christ has not raised the dead then his preaching had been in vain, their faith was in vain, he would be a false witness, they would yet be in their sins, and those who had died in Christ would have perished. Our hope of eternal life is based on the resurrection of the dead, but if Christ is not raised, there is no hope.

Yes, Christ did come and thus give us a way to have remission of sins and also gave us a hope of life in eternity. We need to thank God that His Son did come. Through Him we have hope.

Lisbon Rites Attract 400

LISBON — Approximately 400 attended the annual Memorial Day service sponsored by American Legion Post 275 and Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4111 Friday morning at the cemetery.

The Rev. Tom Hammerton of the East Palestine United Methodist Church, former pastor of the local United Methodist Church, was guest speaker.

His key illustration was the story of a Civil War captain who said, after his orderly was killed running an errand for him, "I am going to live part of my life for Johnny Ring."

The pastor said, "We need to be reminded that there are some things we ought to be doing that they won't be able to do."

He said people should keep informed about what is going on in the world and give their best understanding to it. "We need to be enthusiastic about the things that make for peace."

Recalling Paul's message on faith, hope and love to the Corinthians, Rev. Hammerton said, "We ought to develop a faith in one another, hope for a better world than the one we live in and work to understand all the ramifications of love."

The service followed a parade from Post 275 and concluded with the firing squad saluting the dead. Warren Kelm played "Taps" from the band's position in front of the speakers' stand and Gerald Palmer played the echo from a distance.

Joe W. Driscoll, superintendent of schools, was master of ceremonies. The David Anderson High School band directed by David May played the National Anthem and "Faith Of Our Fathers."

Audrey Hill, a freshman who won the American Legion-sponsored Lincoln's Gettsburg Address contest at the high school, recited Lincoln's famous speech. George M. Nace Jr., high school principal, read Gen. John A. Logan's general order setting May 30, 1868, as the First Decoration Day.

The Rev. Paul Haney of the First Christian Church made the opening prayer and pronounced the benediction.

Driscoll introduced the Gold Star Mothers — Mrs. Helen Guy, Mrs. Annie Reuff, Mrs. Alice McGraw, Mrs. James Robinson and Mrs. Tom Tucker. Mayor Clyde B. Pike shared the speakers' stand.

The Restless, an 18-ton vessel built in 1614 by Adrian Block, was the first ship built in what is now New York City.

Events Set In Churches Of District

The Ohio Valley Missionary Union will meet Sunday at 3 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Midland, with Mrs. Mamie Taylor, newly - elected president, in charge. Preceding the business session, youth of the participating churches will present a brief program.

The rites of Holy Communion will follow the 10:45 a.m. worship Sunday at the Second Baptist Church, with the Rev. E. H. Harris in charge. Assisting will be the Board of Deacons. Music will be provided by the Senior and Youth Choirs.

Regular Sunday worship will be held during June at 11 a.m. at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Georgetown. The Rev. Cannon Robert Merry of Pittsburgh will be in charge.

All Souls Day will be commemorated in special services at the Midland St. George Serbian Orthodox Church Saturday. Fr. Milorad Dobrota, pastor, will say Divine Liturgy for deceased members at 10 a.m.

The Junior Choir will sing responses under the direction of Miss Deborah Studen. Fr. Dobrota will conduct memorial services at Beaver Cemetery beginning at 1 p.m. Parishioners wishing him to conduct services at other cemeteries may contact him.

MOMENT OF MEDITATION

IF CHRIST HAD NOT COME

Have you ever stopped to consider just what the condition would be if Christ had not come. Some may think that there is no point in even considering this because Christ did come. It is true that he did come, but it might help us to appreciate the great gift of God's Son if we think about our condition had he not come.

First, if Christ had not come, we would be without the promise of remission of sins. Paul stated in Heb. 9:22 that "without shedding of blood is no remission." Later in Heb. 10:4 he points out that, " . . . it is not impossible that the blood of bulls and of goats should take away sins." Since the animal sacrifices of the Old Testament were not able to take away sins, what blood would be able to give remission of sins? The answer is in the precious blood of Jesus Christ. Mt. 26:28. "For this is my blood of the New Testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins." Yes, the blood of Christ had to be shed so that we could have the hope of remission of sins. Jesus came to seek and to save that which was lost. Lk. 19:10. John the Baptist introduced him as the lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world. Jno. 1:29. But what if Christ had not come? We would not have this hope of remission of sins. Of course we contact the blood of Christ that remits our sins, when we are baptized for the remission of sins. Rom. 6:3,4; Acts 2:38.

Second, if Christ had not come, we would have no hope of life after death. The Christian does not view death as the end. He believes that after death there is a resurrection of the dead. Jesus stated it like this: "Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation." Jno. 5:28, 29. But what if Christ had not come? Would we have this hope of the resurrection? The Apostle Paul in 1 Cor. 15 deals with this subject. He tells us that if Christ has not raised the dead then his preaching had been in vain, their faith was in vain, he would be a false witness, they would yet be in their sins, and those who had died in Christ would have perished. Our hope of eternal life is based on the resurrection of the dead, but if Christ is not raised, there is no hope.

Yes, Christ did come and thus give us a way to have remission of sins and also gave us a hope of life in eternity. We need to thank God that His Son did come. Through Him we have hope.

4 Mishaps Listed

Holiday Crashes Injure 3 In City

By The Associated Press

Three persons were injured in four holiday traffic mishaps investigated by East Liverpool police.

An East End man and his wife were taken to City Hospital with injuries suffered Friday at 2:21 a. m. when their auto went out of control in the right - angle curve at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St. and struck a utility pole and a sign standard at a service station.

GERALD THOMAS, 20, of 1711 Globe St. driver of the 1966 model convertible, was in "fairly good" condition today with lacerations of the forehead and multiple abrasions of the legs and face. His wife, Mrs. Paulette Thomas, 19, was in "fair" condition with a possible neck injury and multiple abrasions of the left hand and face.

Patrolman Joseph Bates, who investigated, cited Thomas on a reckless driving charge. The crash demolished the auto, owned by Dolores Thomas of the Westfield Rd.

Thomas told police he was driving west on Pennsylvania Ave. and his attention was distracted momentarily as he approached the curve. As a result, he said, he could not negotiate the turn.

Jennifer L. McComas, 17, of 1719 Globe St. escaped with a cut inside the mouth when the auto she was driving struck a tree in Thompson Park Friday at 12:56 p.m., officers reported.

The girl said she was turning off the Dixonville Road into the park entrance when she was forced to swerve to avoid an oncoming car which was on the wrong side of the street. The other auto did not halt after her auto hit the large tree, she related.

The mishap damaged the right front end of the 1968 two - door sedan, registered to Emmitt McComas of the same Globe St. address.

An unknown person attempted to take Miss McComas to City Hospital in her wrecked car, but the auto stalled on McKinnon Ave. Pat Lynch, an uncle of the injured girl who lives near by, then completed the trip to the hospital with her, officers said. Her condition is "fairly good."

A STOLEN car was involved in a collision with a parked auto Friday at 1:39 a. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at Oakland Ave. The suspected thief then fled on foot.

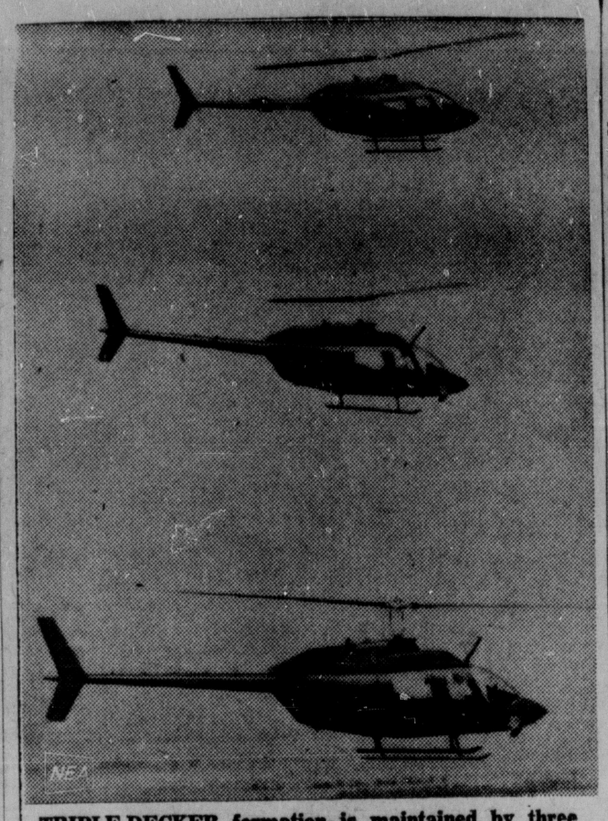

A 1963 model four - door sedan which had been stolen from the home of Paul W. McCoy of 1701 Pennsylvania Ave. struck the parked 1960 four- door sedan owned by Frank W. Wolf of 1709 Pennsylvania Ave., officers said.

The crash damaged the left front of McCoy's car and the right rear of Wolf's auto. Triss Sutherin of 2001 Nevada St., Wellsville, a witness, told police he saw a youth driving McCoy's car pull out of a driveway onto Pennsylvania Ave. and hit the rear of Wolf's auto. The youth then abandoned the auto and fled on foot, he said.

Two cars were damaged slightly in a mishap Friday at 2:37 p.m. on E. 9th St. 20 feet east of Lincoln Ave.

The collision involved a halted 1969 two - door sedan driven by Cindy L. Standley, 17, of 1724 Idaho Ave. and a 1968 two - door sedan operated by Leroy L. Persohn, 70, of 808 Lincoln Ave.

The girl told police she halted behind Persohn's auto. Then, she said, he backed his auto, striking her car. Persohn reported he was backing to turn around and park on Lincoln Ave. The mishap damaged the left rear fender of Persohn's car and caused a small dent in the hood of tht Standley car, registered to Willis Standley, also of 1724 Idaho Ave.

TRIPLE-DECKER formation is maintained by three Kiowa light observation helicopters, the newest addition to the Army's chopper fleet. The Army has ordered 2,200 Kiowas, produced by Bell at Fort Worth, Tex.

Tour Of 4 Old Homes Set At Lisbon On Wednesday

LISBON — The Lisbon Historical Society will sponsor a tour of four of the village's old homes from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday.

The society also will open its museum, the Old Stone House, for the day.

An antique show and sale will be held at tour headquarters in Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church at S. Market and Washington Sts., one block south of the Square.

SPONSORS said the $1.25 donation covers admission to the four homes, the museum and the antique show and sale. Visitors will receive a map and information sheet at headquarters. Since the tour will be unguided, visitors may visit the homes in any order they prefer. High heels and smoking will not be permitted in the homes.

The Old Stone House, across Washington St. from the Methodist Church, is the oldest house in town. It was built between 1803-05 of sandstone quarried here and was originally a tavern.

All the homes on the tour were built before the Civil War. A summary follows, with owners, address and description of the property:

Dr. and Mrs. Laszlo Bujdoso, 249 W. Lincoln Way: A massive piece of masonry built about 1827 by Anton L. Brewer. The approach from Lincoln Way is up many flights of stone steps, but the house is easily reached by car from the rear on W. Chestnut St. The front entrance is noteworthy for its ionic pillars and cast iron panels in French design on the double doors. In many rooms, the original moulded plaster ceiling with applied plaster decoration remains in good repair. Dr. and Mrs. Bujdoso are refugees from Hungary after the 1956 revolution.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Firestone, 319 W. Lincoln Way, which also may be easily reached from the rear on W. Chestnut St. The wall along Lincoln Way was built of stone from locks of the old Sandy and Beaver Canal. A large stone hitching block stands beside the drive at the rear. The bronze bell is from the old Chestnut St. school.

MRS. JEWYL G. Williams, 236 N. Market St.: A narrow Charleston - type house with lower and upper galleries was built in 1815 by Thomas Starr. It is located on what the former residents of "New Lisbon" called "Sheep Hill." The brick exterior and the original windows have survived well. Quaint, 150-year-old winding stairs make it impossible to see the upstairs, but the plank-floored downstairs furnished in Early American furniture, the lower porch and garden and old - fashioned grape arbor will prove interesting.

Thompson Hall, the home of Mrs. Elaine Hurd and Miss Jean Van Fossan, about three miles east of town. A large, brick colonial house buiilt in 1837 by James Thompson, the home has been in the same family ever since. The owners have the original 1819 deed. All the brick was fired on the site and the stone in house and barn was quarried on the farm. The lumber also came from trees on the farm. A family burial vault, cut out of a solid rock in 1839, is located on a hillside some distance from the house.

Strikers Burn And Loot

Marines Called To Quell Disorders In Caribbean

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao (AP) — Royal Dutch Marines were called in to quell disorders on this Caribbean resort island after 5,000 striking oil refinery workers burned and looted stores Friday.

The troops and police fired at will at the rampaging crowds. One labor leader was shot in the chest and seven other persons were wounded by bullets. The toll was expected to rise.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was imposed as fires burned in several parts of the city in the Netherlands Antilles off the coast of Venezuela. Cruise ships make frequent stops in the duty-free port.

Frightened tourists, many of them Americans, stayed inside their luxury hotels. Telegraph communications between Curacao and New York and Caracas were cut off but lines to the Netherlands remained open.

In the Hgue the Dutch government said the disorders were "serious." A communique said the Marines were sent in after police lost control of the mobs.

Although the main issue in the strike at the Royal Dutch Shell refinery is wages, the demonstrations took on racial overtones as the rioters concentrated their attacks on white-owned businesses. Curacao is 80 to 90 per cent Negro.

The Shell oil refinery workers, who are members of the Federation of Petroleum Workers, maintain they are not being paid as much as workers at other refineries.

Demonstrations began Thursday night and police fired into the air after Negro workers threatened whites. Friday morning another demonstration was held and witnesses said the mob became unruly after police shot a labor leader.

After police apparently prevented an attempt to march on Fort Amsterdam, the administrative capital of the Antilles, the workers turned toward the shops that cater to tourists.

On their way, they turned over cars in the streets and set them on fire. A Panamanian businessman told how he watched the workers break shop windows, take radios, cameras and expensive watches and then set fires.

One Dutch woman who has lived all her life in Willemstad said: "The island has turned manic."

Curacao has a population of 137,000 and depends on tourism and the refining of oil from Venezuela for its income.

Frills Laid For 160-Mile Trip

Old Cowhands Chuckling As Cattle Drive Begins

BLUEWATER, N.M. (AP) — A cattle drive apparently organized more for sentimental reasons than good ranch economics was set to start today and some of the old cowhands were chuckling over the frills laid on for the 160-mile trip.

Some 750 head of Charolais cattle, a French breed, have been trucked here from Texas, Arizona, Oklahoma and Colorado for the drive to pasture lands in neighboring Colorado.

The affair's 12 veteran cowboys, some of whom date their first drives to World War I, were shaking their heads about the drive, a vanishing part of the Old West.

These days cattle are usually moved by truck or train.

Dudes, as city folk are scornfully known in cow country, are being permitted to accompany the drive. Tents and cots are being packed for their comfort.

Even a professional chef has been hired to run the chuck wagon, a truck that includes a deep freeze and a special power unit to run it.

The route follows dirt back roads, and many trucks will go with the drive so that dudes who get saddlesore can switch to gasoline-driven mounts.

But for the cowhands and horse wranglers who will sleep under the stars, it will be the same tough ride as always. They will spend up to 15 hours on horseback on some days during the two-week drive to the pasture area just south of Pagosa Springs, Colo.

Portable steel-framed corrals will be trucked to each night's campground to pen up the cattle, worth a quarter of a million dollars, according to spokesmen.

As final preparations for the drive were made, the rumor spread like a prairie fire through the camp that an Albuquerque truck firm owner had boasted he would bet $500 that the drive would falter in less than a week and he would be called to rescue the stock.

The reported boast even made the old timers angry.

"Don't know what you can say about this drive, son," one told a reporter. "But we're all cattlemen. The herd will get there on schedule."

Agnew Places Wreath On Tomb

Pomp, Prayer, Protests, Parades Feature Holiday

By The Associated Press

It was a day of pomp and prayer, parades and protests, recreation and just plain relaxing as Americans marked the 102nd annual observance of Memorial Day.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, laying a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, said Friday the nation should respond to the sacrifices of its fighting men by expanding "the heritage of democracy to new horizons."

President Nixon, spending the three-day weekend with his family at Key Biscayne, Fla., urged Americans not only to honor their fighting men but to pray for peace throughout the world.

In addition to the traditional parades, there were vigils and protests against the Vietnam war in communities across the country. A number of antiwar groups read the full list of 35,000 men who have died in Vietnam.

The holiday was for many, especially in the cities in the North, a chance to escape the asphalt and concrete for the sand, sun and shade of beaches and resorts.

The consequence was congested traffic and a mounting holiday death toll. The National Safety Council predicted that 550 to 650 persons would die in traffic accidents over the weekend.

The worst accident Friday was in Doswell, Va., 20 miles north of Richmond, where six died when a car collided with a tractor trailer. At Heflin, Ala., five persons died in the collision of a camper with a trailer truck.

It was the day of the supersnarl at Eureka, Mo., 15 miles southwest of St. Louis, where more than 13,000 vehicles were backed up 15 miles because construction had closed the westbound lane on Interstate 44—U.S. 66.

The traditional Memorial Day parades and services took place in towns and cities throughout the nation. In New York City alone, 35 parades were sponsored by patriotic organizations in the five boroughs.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, reviewing a parade in Brooklyn, witnessed a scuffle between police and a woman carrying a placard reading, "My son died in vain in Vietnam." She bit one patrolman before being taken into custody.

At Swarthmore, Pa., a high school youth refused to play "Taps" during a community service. David Carroll, 17, a Quaker, said it was against his conscience but "I meant no disrespect to those who died in wars."

Holdup

inside the station, he heard the car "burn out," the tires squealing on the pavement as it headed east toward Midland. Hill pursued the bandits in his pickup truck.

—:—

COOK RAN to a nearby service station to call the Midland police station. Sgt. Eli Bratich logged the report at 6:32. While still on the phone talking with Cook, he broadcast an alert on the holdup, including the license number and description of the car and the two bandits.

Midland Patrolman Mike Borato was in a cruiser on Midland Ave. near 1st St. heading west, when the alert was broadcast. He saw the getaway car passing, headed east. Borato wheeled his cruiser around and gave chase.

The two suspects, seeing the cruiser, turned left at 1st St. and headed up the grade on Route 168 toward Midland Heights. Meanwhile, the Midland department had broadcast a radio alert to all the departments in the area.

Officers converged on the scene from a wide area. he cordon included police from Vanport, Ohioville, Industry, the Beaver County sheriff's office, the state police and three officers from East Liverpool — Lt. Paul C. Blevins, Patrolman Dwight Garvey and Patroman Charles Coen.

The two suspects turned off Route 168 at Cow Hollow and headed onto a side road. After a short time, the car veered into a ditch and the two fled on foot. Borato gave chase, along with Blevins and Garvey. The officers followed the bandits' trail through the brush in the wooded area. The suspects apparently headed west, seeking to double back and reach Route 68 again.

Pennsylvania state police, meanwhile, had called for a helicopter to help search the remote area, but it was not needed. The two suspects were taken into custody by state police as they emerged onto a roadway just off Route 68, not far from Smiths Ferry. They were taken direct to the Chippewa Barracks. The capture was timed at approximately 7:45.

Deaths Funerals

William Dabler

William J. Dabler, 39, of 901 Bradshaw Ave., an employe at the Midland Crucible Division of Colt Industries, died Thursday at 4:50 p.m. at the Rochester Hospital after a long illness.

A native of Dubois, Pa., Mr. Dabler was born June 7, 1929, a son of Mrs. Jennie Dearth Dabler, who resides in East Liverpool, and the late William J. Dabler. He worked as a maintenance man in the cold strip department of the Midland plant. He was a member of Wellsville American Legion Post 70, East Liverpool Masonic Lodge 681 and Steelworkers Local 1212.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. E. Jeanne Clutter Dabler; a son, William Daniel Dabler, and two daughters, Christie Lee Dabler and Teresa M. Dabler, all at home.

Services will be held Monday at 10:30 a.m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by Capt. Richard Bosh of the Salvation Army, assisted by Ralph Compa. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. at the funeral home, where Masonic services will be held Sunday at 7 p.m.

Ohio Traffic Mishaps Fatal To 15 More

By The Associated Press

A grinding three car accident early today claimed three lives and boosted Ohio's Memorial Day weekend death toll to at least 15.

There were no survivors in the triple fatality accident near Ashtabula.

The toll mounted steadily Thursday as thousands traveled on the state's highways and streets.

The Ohio Department of Highway Safety predicted that 32 persons would die in the period from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday.

Eight of the known 12 victims were 25 years old or younger. Two were bicyclists and two were pedestrians.

an's home, and he was taken into custody. He was questioned, charged and freed on bond pending a hearing in Municipal Court.

She had been to a party of a group of students Thursday night, and later was at the pajama party with four other girls at the home of a girlfriend on Dairy Ln.

The Patrol said all the young people and adults involved were being questioned about details of the events leading up to the 5 a.m. incident.

The death was the 13th traffic fatality in Columbiana County this year, compared to ten at this time in 1968.

She was born in East Liverpool, a daughter of William E. and Rachel Moninger Pickin.

She was a member of several student organizations at the high school, and was a member of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Besides her parents, she is survived by two brothers, William E. Pickin Jr. and Stephen T. Pickin.

Services will be held Monday afternoon at the St. Stephen's Church by the Rev. D. Ross Salisbury.

campus, which lies on the rim of Harlem.

The demonstration supported such demands as a big increase in Negro and Puerto Rican enrollment and the creation of a separate school of black and Puerto Rican studies.

After the violence, after the campus was closed entirely for two weeks, after CCNY President Buel G. Gallagher had resigned charging political interference, this agreement emerged with negotiations among faculty, administration and students:

There would be a dual admissions policy, a "two track" system—half the freshman class being admitted under traditional academic standards and the other half coming from slum area high schools, without regard to grades but with regard to potential. "I believe it is a quota system" said Mayor John V. Lindsay, "and I am opposed to it. It is wrong and unacceptable."

"With this program," said an adviser to black students, "City College can begin serving the population its charter mandates it to serve: the community."

4 Mishaps Listed

Holiday Crashes Injure 3 In City

By The Associated Press

Three persons were injured in four holiday traffic mishaps investigated by East Liverpool police.

An East End man and his wife were taken to City Hospital with injuries suffered Friday at 2:21 a. m. when their auto went out of control in the right - angle curve at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St. and struck a utility pole and a sign standard at a service station.

GERALD THOMAS, 20, of 1711 Globe St. driver of the 1966 model convertible, was in "fairly good" condition today with lacerations of the forehead and multiple abrasions of the legs and face. His wife, Mrs. Paulette Thomas, 19, was in "fair" condition with a possible neck injury and multiple abrasions of the left hand and face.

Patrolman Joseph Bates, who investigated, cited Thomas on a reckless driving charge. The crash demolished the auto, owned by Dolores Thomas of the Westfield Rd.

Thomas told police he was driving west on Pennsylvania Ave. and his attention was distracted momentarily as he approached the curve. As a result, he said, he could not negotiate the turn.

Jennifer L. McComas, 17, of 1719 Globe St. escaped with a cut inside the mouth when the auto she was driving struck a tree in Thompson Park Friday at 12:56 p.m., officers reported.

The girl said she was turning off the Dixonville Road into the park entrance when she was forced to swerve to avoid an oncoming car which was on the wrong side of the street. The other auto did not halt after her auto hit the large tree, she related.

The mishap damaged the right front end of the 1968 two - door sedan, registered to Emmitt McComas of the same Globe St. address.

An unknown person attempted to take Miss McComas to City Hospital in her wrecked car, but the auto stalled on McKinnon Ave. Pat Lynch, an uncle of the injured girl who lives near by, then completed the trip to the hospital with her, officers said. Her condition is "fairly good."

A STOLEN car was involved in a collision with a parked auto Friday at 1:39 a. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at Oakland Ave. The suspected thief then fled on foot.

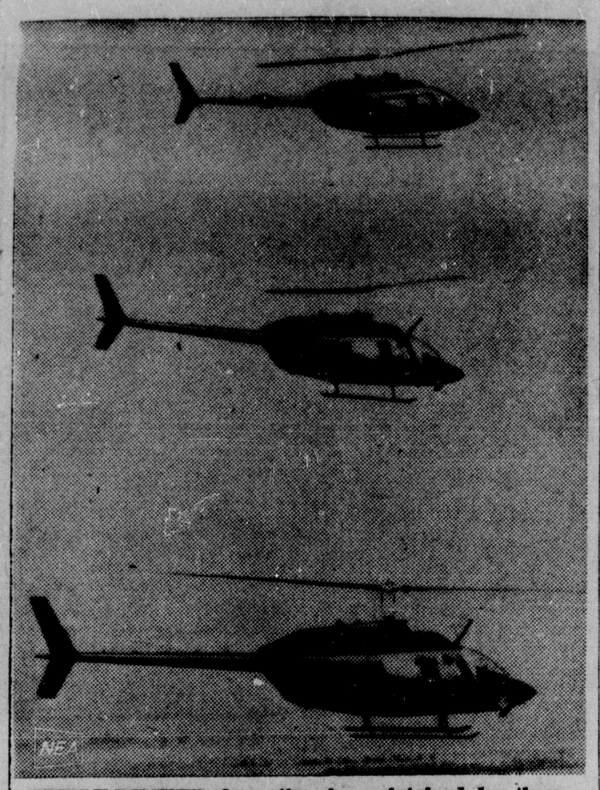

A 1963 model four - door sedan which had been stolen from the home of Paul W. McCoy of 1701 Pennsylvania Ave. struck the parked 1960 four- door sedan owned by Frank W. Wolf of 1709 Pennsylvania Ave., officers said.

The crash damaged the left front of McCoy's car and the right rear of Wolf's auto. Triss Sutherin of 2001 Nevada St., Wellsville, a witness, told police he saw a youth driving McCoy's car pull out of a driveway onto Pennsylvania Ave. and hit the rear of Wolf's auto. The youth then abandoned the auto and fled on foot, he said.

Two cars were damaged slightly in a mishap Friday at 2:37 p.m. on E. 9th St. 20 feet east of Lincoln Ave.

The collision involved a halted 1969 two - door sedan driven by Cindy L. Standley, 17, of 1724 Idaho Ave. and a 1968 two - door sedan operated by Leroy L. Persohn, 70, of 808 Lincoln Ave.

The girl told police she halted behind Persohn's auto. Then, she said, he backed his auto, striking her car. Persohn reported he was backing to turn around and park on Lincoln Ave. The mishap damaged the left rear fender of Persohn's car and caused a small dent in the hood of tht Standley car, registered to Willis Standley, also of 1724 Idaho Ave.

TRIPLE-DECKER formation is maintained by three Kiowa light observation helicopters, the newest addition to the Army's chopper fleet. The Army has ordered 2,200 Kiowas, produced by Bell at Fort Worth, Tex.

Tour Of 4 Old Homes Set At Lisbon On Wednesday

LISBON — The Lisbon Historical Society will sponsor a tour of four of the village's old homes from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday.

The society also will open its museum, the Old Stone House, for the day.

An antique show and sale will be held at tour headquarters in Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church at S. Market and Washington Sts., one block south of the Square.

SPONSORS said the $1.25 donation covers admission to the four homes, the museum and the antique show and sale. Visitors will receive a map and information sheet at headquarters. Since the tour will be unguided, visitors may visit the homes in any order they prefer. High heels and smoking will not be permitted in the homes.

The Old Stone House, across Washington St. from the Methodist Church, is the oldest house in town. It was built between 1803-05 of sandstone quarried here and was originally a tavern.

All the homes on the tour were built before the Civil War. A summary follows, with owners, address and description of the property:

Dr. and Mrs. Laszlo Bujdoso, 249 W. Lincoln Way: A massive piece of masonry built about 1827 by Anton L. Brewer. The approach from Lincoln Way is up many flights of stone steps, but the house is easily reached by car from the rear on W. Chestnut St. The front entrance is noteworthy for its ionic pillars and cast iron panels in French design on the double doors. In many rooms, the original moulded plaster ceiling with applied plaster decoration remains in good repair. Dr. and Mrs. Bujdoso are refugees from Hungary after the 1956 revolution.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Firestone, 319 W. Lincoln Way, which also may be easily reached from the rear on W. Chestnut St. The wall along Lincoln Way was built of stone from locks of the old Sandy and Beaver Canal. A large stone hitching block stands beside the drive at the rear. The bronze bell is from the old Chestnut St. school.

MRS. JEWYL G. Williams, 236 N. Market St.: A narrow Charleston - type house with lower and upper galleries was built in 1815 by Thomas Starr. It is located on what the former residents of "New Lisbon" called "Sheep Hill." The brick exterior and the original windows have survived well. Quaint, 150-year-old winding stairs make it impossible to see the upstairs, but the plank-floored downstairs furnished in Early American furniture, the lower porch and garden and old - fashioned grape arbor will prove interesting.

Thompson Hall, the home of Mrs. Elaine Hurd and Miss Jean Van Fossan, about three miles east of town. A large, brick colonial house buiilt in 1837 by James Thompson, the home has been in the same family ever since. The owners have the original 1819 deed. All the brick was fired on the site and the stone in house and barn was quarried on the farm. The lumber also came from trees on the farm. A family burial vault, cut out of a solid rock in 1839, is located on a hillside some distance from the house.

Strikers Burn And Loot

Marines Called To Quell Disorders In Caribbean

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao (AP) — Royal Dutch Marines were called in to quell disorders on this Caribbean resort island after 5,000 striking oil refinery workers burned and looted stores Friday.

The troops and police fired at will at the rampaging crowds. One labor leader was shot in the chest and seven other persons were wounded by bullets. The toll was expected to rise.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was imposed as fires burned in several parts of the city in the Netherlands Antilles off the coast of Venezuela. Cruise ships make frequent stops in the duty-free port.

Frightened tourists, many of them Americans, stayed inside their luxury hotels. Telegraph communications between Curacao and New York and Caracas were cut off but lines to the Netherlands remained open.

In the Hgue the Dutch government said the disorders were "serious." A communique said the Marines were sent in after police lost control of the mobs.

Although the main issue in the strike at the Royal Dutch Shell refinery is wages, the demonstrations took on racial overtones as the rioters concentrated their attacks on white-owned businesses. Curacao is 80 to 90 per cent Negro.

The Shell oil refinery workers, who are members of the Federation of Petroleum Workers, maintain they are not being paid as much as workers at other refineries.

Demonstrations began Thursday night and police fired into the air after Negro workers threatened whites. Friday morning another demonstration was held and witnesses said the mob became unruly after police shot a labor leader.

After police apparently prevented an attempt to march on Fort Amsterdam, the administrative capital of the Antilles, the workers turned toward the shops that cater to tourists.

On their way, they turned over cars in the streets and set them on fire. A Panamanian businessman told how he watched the workers break shop windows, take radios, cameras and expensive watches and then set fires.

One Dutch woman who has lived all her life in Willemstad said: "The island has turned manic."

Curacao has a population of 137,000 and depends on tourism and the refining of oil from Venezuela for its income.

Old Cowhands Chuckling As Cattle Drive Begins

BLUEWATER, N.M. (AP) — A cattle drive apparently organized more for sentimental reasons than good ranch economics was set to start today and some of the old cowhands were chuckling over the frills laid on for the 160-mile trip.

Some 750 head of Charolais cattle, a French breed, have been trucked here from Texas, Arizona, Oklahoma and Colorado for the drive to pasture lands in neighboring Colorado.

The affair's 12 veteran cowboys, some of whom date their first drives to World War I, were shaking their heads about the drive, a vanishing part of the Old West.

These days cattle are usually moved by truck or train.

Dudes, as city folk are scornfully known in cow country, are being permitted to accompany the drive. Tents and cots are being packed for their comfort.

Even a professional chef has been hired to run the chuck wagon, a truck that includes a deep freeze and a special power unit to run it.

The route follows dirt back roads, and many trucks will go with the drive so that dudes who get saddlesore can switch to gasoline-driven mounts.

But for the cowhands and horse wranglers who will sleep under the stars, it will be the same tough ride as always. They will spend up to 15 hours on horseback on some days during the two-week drive to the pasture area just south of Pagosa Springs, Colo.

Portable steel-framed corrals will be trucked to each night's campground to pen up the cattle, worth a quarter of a million dollars, according to spokesmen.

As final preparations for the drive were made, the rumor spread like a prairie fire through the camp that an Albuquerque truck firm owner had boasted he would bet $500 that the drive would falter in less than a week and he would be called to rescue the stock.

The reported boast even made the old timers angry.

"Don't know what you can say about this drive, son," one told a reporter. "But we're all cattlemen. The herd will get there on schedule."

Agnew Places Wreath On Tomb

Pomp, Prayer, Protests, Parades Feature Holiday

By The Associated Press

It was a day of pomp and prayer, parades and protests, recreation and just plain relaxing as Americans marked the 102nd annual observance of Memorial Day.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, laying a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery, said Friday the nation should respond to the sacrifices of its fighting men by expanding "the heritage of democracy to new horizons."

President Nixon, spending the three-day weekend with his family at Key Biscayne, Fla., urged Americans not only to honor their fighting men but to pray for peace throughout the world.

In addition to the traditional parades, there were vigils and protests against the Vietnam war in communities across the country. A number of antiwar groups read the full list of 35,000 men who have died in Vietnam.

The holiday was for many, especially in the cities in the North, a chance to escape the asphalt and concrete for the sand, sun and shade of beaches and resorts.

The consequence was congested traffic and a mounting holiday death toll. The National Safety Council predicted that 550 to 650 persons would die in traffic accidents over the weekend.

The worst accident Friday was in Doswell, Va., 20 miles north of Richmond, where six died when a car collided with a tractor trailer. At Heflin, Ala., five persons died in the collision of a camper with a trailer truck.

It was the day of the supersnarl at Eureka, Mo., 15 miles southwest of St. Louis, where more than 13,000 vehicles were backed up 15 miles because construction had closed the westbound lane on Interstate 44—U.S. 66.

The traditional Memorial Day parades and services took place in towns and cities throughout the nation. In New York City alone, 35 parades were sponsored by patriotic organizations in the five boroughs.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, reviewing a parade in Brooklyn, witnessed a scuffle between police and a woman carrying a placard reading, "My son died in vain in Vietnam." She bit one patrolman before being taken into custody.

At Swarthmore, Pa., a high school youth refused to play "Taps" during a community service. David Carroll, 17, a Quaker, said it was against his conscience but "I meant no disrespect to those who died in wars."

Holdup

inside the station, he heard the car "burn out," the tires squealing on the pavement as it headed east toward Midland. Hill pursued the bandits in his pickup truck.

—:—

COOK RAN to a nearby service station to call the Midland police station. Sgt. Eli Bratich logged the report at 6:32. While still on the phone talking with Cook, he broadcast an alert on the holdup, including the license number and description of the car and the two bandits.

Midland Patrolman Mike Borato was in a cruiser on Midland Ave. near 1st St. heading west, when the alert was broadcast. He saw the getaway car passing, headed east. Borato wheeled his cruiser around and gave chase.

The two suspects, seeing the cruiser, turned left at 1st St. and headed up the grade on Route 168 toward Midland Heights. Meanwhile, the Midland department had broadcast a radio alert to all the departments in the area.

Officers converged on the scene from a wide area. he cordon included police from Vanport, Ohioville, Industry, the Beaver County sheriff's office, the state police and three officers from East Liverpool — Lt. Paul C. Blevins, Patrolman Dwight Garvey and Patroman Charles Coen.

The two suspects turned off Route 168 at Cow Hollow and headed onto a side road. After a short time, the car veered into a ditch and the two fled on foot. Borato gave chase, along with Blevins and Garvey. The officers followed the bandits' trail through the brush in the wooded area. The suspects apparently headed west, seeking to double back and reach Route 68 again.

Pennsylvania state police, meanwhile, had called for a helicopter to help search the remote area, but it was not needed. The two suspects were taken into custody by state police as they emerged onto a roadway just off Route 68, not far from Smiths Ferry. They were taken direct to the Chippewa Barracks. The capture was timed at approximately 7:45.

Deaths Funerals

William Dabler

William J. Dabler, 39, of 901 Bradshaw Ave., an employe at the Midland Crucible Division of Colt Industries, died Thursday at 4:50 p.m. at the Rochester Hospital after a long illness.

A native of Dubois, Pa., Mr. Dabler was born June 7, 1929, a son of Mrs. Jennie Dearth Dabler, who resides in East Liverpool, and the late William J. Dabler. He worked as a maintenance man in the cold strip department of the Midland plant. He was a member of Wellsville American Legion Post 70, East Liverpool Masonic Lodge 681 and Steelworkers Local 1212.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. E. Jeanne Clutter Dabler; a son, William Daniel Dabler, and two daughters, Christie Lee Dabler and Teresa M. Dabler, all at home.

Services will be held Monday at 10:30 a.m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by Capt. Richard Bosh of the Salvation Army, assisted by Ralph Compa. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. at the funeral home, where Masonic services will be held Sunday at 7 p.m.

Ohio Traffic Mishaps Fatal To 15 More

By The Associated Press

A grinding three car accident early today claimed three lives and boosted Ohio's Memorial Day weekend death toll to at least 15.

There were no survivors in the triple fatality accident near Ashtabula.

The toll mounted steadily Thursday as thousands traveled on the state's highways and streets.

The Ohio Department of Highway Safety predicted that 32 persons would die in the period from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday.

Eight of the known 12 victims were 25 years old or younger. Two were bicyclists and two were pedestrians.

She had been to a party of a group of students Thursday night, and later was at the pajama party with four other girls at the home of a girlfriend on Dairy Ln.

The Patrol said all the young people and adults involved were being questioned about details of the events leading up to the 5 a.m. incident.

The death was the 13th traffic fatality in Columbiana County this year, compared to ten at this time in 1968.

She was born in East Liverpool, a daughter of William E. and Rachel Moninger Pickin.

She was a member of several student organizations at the high school, and was a member of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Besides her parents, she is survived by two brothers, William E. Pickin Jr. and Stephen T. Pickin.

Services will be held Monday afternoon at the St. Stephen's Church by the Rev. D. Ross Salisbury.

campus, which lies on the rim of Harlem.

The demonstration supported such demands as a big increase in Negro and Puerto Rican enrollment and the creation of a separate school of black and Puerto Rican studies.

After the violence, after the campus was closed entirely for two weeks, after CCNY President Buel G. Gallagher had resigned charging political interference, this agreement emerged with negotiations among faculty, administration and students:

There would be a dual admissions policy, a "two track" system—half the freshman class being admitted under traditional academic standards and the other half coming from slum area high schools, without regard to grades but with regard to potential. "I believe it is a quota system" said Mayor John V. Lindsay, "and I am opposed to it. It is wrong and unacceptable."

"With this program," said an adviser to black students, "City College can begin serving the population its charter mandates it to serve: the community."

The Lincoln Highway

By ROBERT POPP

Most motorists who tool along all day at 70 miles an hour on four-lane, limited access highways do not remember the era when an auto trip from East Liverpool to Cleveland was high adventure and a man who set out to drive from New York to San Francisco was regarded with the same awe as today's astronauts.

But that was the case, just 54 years ago, when East Liverpool bedecked herself with flags and bunting and triumphal arches and put on a celebration that was sort of an Independence Day and New Year's Eve all rolled into one. It was June 5,

EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW
Feature Pages
East Liverpool, Ohio Sat., May 31, 1969—Page 8

1915, that thousands of citizens lined the streets and cheered a small band of grimy travelers who rolled triumphantly into the city from Pittsburgh.

"Lincoln Highway Day," they named it—a bonanza of boosterism to call the nation's attention to the first transcontinenal highway. Streching 3,389 miles, it began at Times Square in New York City an ended at Lincoln Park in San Francisco

Despits the blaze of publicity and a riot of fanfare all along the route, the Lincoln Highway was far from a highway in the modern sense of the word. The party had been on the road 26 days and was three days behind schedule when it finally pulled into East Liverpool.

BUT IT STILL was the biggest event to hit the booming Pottery City in a generation. The community was a hotbed of what was termed "good roads enthusiasts," who took every opportunity to confront public officials with the need for hard-surface roads.

And East Liverpool was inordinately proud of winning itself a spot on the Lincoln Highway's route. It not only put the city on the map, literally, but it meant many hundreds of dollars in trade for restaurants, hotels and the blacksmiths who often doubled as auto mechanics in those days.

So it was with great fanfare that The Evening Review announced on May 28, 1915, that the party of Lincoln Highway Association officials traveling the road from coast-to-coast would arrive in East Liverpool in early June. The original date was June 3, but it was postponed because of delays forced by weather.

A local committee sprang to work at once to make plans for a celebration. The travelers were led by H.C. Ostermann, who held the title of consul general in the Lincoln Highway Association. The Association was a private corporation with headquarters in Detroit. It laid out the highway in 1913 by mapping a route across 13 states and terming it "the first continuous connecting improved road across the American continent."

Osterman's trip was in part a publicity stunt designed to call the nation's attention to his association's project, prod public officials into improving the highway and revive the fires of civic pride in all the communities along the route. The association sold $5 memberships that were used to promote its cause and even provide some of the paving.

Highways were known by names, rather than numbers, in those days. After the federal government began contributing to highway costs and more and more thousands of paved road were built, the Lincoln Highway became U.S. Route 30.

THE AUTO WAS coming into its own on that day 54 years ago, but the horse still was king. It was the era before service stations and repair shops, when a driver found his way from town to town by following a crude sheet of directions with such confusing comments as "follow Main St. through Podnuk, continuing north, and bear left at the crossroads at the first red barn. . . ."

Two - wheel brakes were the thing, but the self - starter was not yet standard equipment. It was an optional extra on the lower - priced cars. The fragile, high - pressure tires of the time were subject to frequent punctures and blow - outs. Drivers repaired their own flats, a tedious job at best and a real adventure after night in a rainstorm. The common newspaper cartoon of the day showed a bewhiskered farmer pulling a mired auto from a mudhole with a team of horses.

Great things were happening then in East Liverpool and the rest of the U. S., blissfully unaware of their impending involvement in the World War that was raging in Europe.

The city had just held open house in its new $125,000 high school at E .½TH St. and Broadway and grade school pupils from all over the community began going to classes in the Central School. A Klondyke site was picked for the new water works pumping and filtration plant. The Board of Health asserted it was high time for installation of a sanitary sewer system in East End.

PRESIDENT Woodrow Wilson pressed a button in the White House, sending a spark jumping on a wire clear across the continent to open the Panama - Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco.

Erlanger's Men's Store at E. 5th and Washington Sts. was selling suits and topcoats for $11. A sailor straw was $1.45. Boy's suits were priced from $2.75 to $5.75.

The Pennsylvania Railroad advertised 10 westbound and 11 eastbound passenger trains through East Liverpool daily. William Farnum was starring on the state at the Ceramic in a production called "The Gilded Fool." Adult tickets were 10 cents. Youngsters could get in for a nickel.

The Lusitania, a British passenger liner, had been sunk off the Irish coast by a German submarine on May 7, with heavy loss of American life. America was starting down the road toward war. William Jennings Bryan, a spell - binding orator and a pacifist, resigned in June as President Wilson's secretary of state.

And the automobile business in East Liverpool was brisk. The Ceramic Motor Co., located in the Arcade Building on E. 5th St., was selling a new Buick four - door touring car for $950. For $1,295, the same company would sell the Cleveland - made Chandler Six.

AND TROTTER & Son on Dresden Ave. were offering the Chevrolet Baby Grand touring car at $985. The Royal Mail roadster was $860. And, the company added, "cars not electrically equipped are $110 less." The lack of electrical equipment apparently meant the purchaser drove out with acetylene headlights and a back - breaking hand crank.

The Buckeye Motor Co. at Walnut and E. 6th St. was advertising a Maxwell five-passenger touring car for $695. The electric starter, an optional extra, cost $55.

And, like the Lincoln Highway officials, the Liberty Bell was on a coast - to - coast tour to be exhibited at the exposition in San Francisco.

Things began to develop at a fever pitch on May 28 when H. B. Barth, secretary of the Booster Club, received a telegram from Osterman giving the tentative date for the arrival of the association's touring party. Plans were started immediately to decorate the downtown area. The Federated Women's Club sprang to action and arranged to have brush cut along the route between East End and downtown. Every pole along the route would be painted white, the club said.

Barth was a commissioner of the Lincoln Highway Association in addition to his post with the Booster Club, which formed the nucleus later for the organization of the Chamber of Commerce. And S. S. Groglode, secretary of the East Liverpool Automobile Club, made an appeal for every motorist to enter his car in the parade that would welcome the travelers.

ALTHOUGH IT later entered East Liverpool via Hancock County and the Chester Bridge, the Lincoln Highway in its earliest days had its eastern portal at the Ohio - Pennsylvania line. The committee began making plans to greet the tour party on Pennsylvania Ave. at the Dry Run Bridge.

As the preparations went on, Barth received another telegram on June 3 saying that the highway association caravan would arrive in East Liverpool June 5. Frank Swaney, another leading "good roads enthusiast," talked by Osterman over the telephone in Ligonier, Pa. — no mean feat in itself in those days. Osterman confirmed the change in date and said the party had been held up by rainy weather and muddy roads.

The preparations went on. Auto owners were decorating their vehicles with flags and bunting. East Liverpool potteries turned out 5,000 souvenir plates to be distributed to visitors. The highway association group included another marvel of the day, a hand-cranked motion picture camera. It was to record all the activities of Lincoln Highway Day for a gigantic film that would be shown in San Francisco and later in communities all along the highway's route.

Osterman and one of his aides, R. E. Spencer, arrived in East Liverpool from Pittsburgh the night of June 4. They met with the local committee to put the final touches on the program.

THE SUN SHONE brightly the following morning at 9 when 100 autos lined up in a procession at Dry Run to give the official welcome to the Lincoln Highway Group.

Rep. D. A. Hollingsworth of Cadiz, the district congressman, presented an Ohio flag to Osterman in a blaze of oratory at the bridge. Mayor V. A. Schreiber presented the group what was termed the "official flag of East Liverpool." It was revealed later that Dudley Hawkins, an Evening Review reporter, had designed the "official flag" especially for the occasion.

The procession moved out at 9:30 from Dry Run with a great crashing of gears, roaring of motors and fluttering of bunting. Half an hour later, the procession was in the downtown area, traveling along 6th and 5th Sts. On 5th St. at Market St. was a triumphal arch with the legend: "East Liverpool, the Best City Under the Sun." And underneath there was a structure operated by ropes that was meant to depict the rays of the rising sun.

The "sun" device was operated to the cheers of the crowd and then left in place for the leading car to crash through. Thousands lined the streets, waving souvenir plates as the car carrying the movie camera passed, the newspaper related.

It was a "demonstration such as this city has not seen in years," the reporter wrote. "Old Glory was unfurled from business houses, public buildings and homes." Three thousand school children marched through the triumphal arch in the wake of the auto caravan.

But things were just beginning. Veterans of the Civil War — members of Gen. Lyon Post, Grand Army of the Republic — lined up on the Post Office steps to be photographed.

AND THE fire department, proud of its new motorized equipment, put on a drill for the movie camera and the public. The equipment dashed along 5th St. to the Little Building, where 25 smoke pots had been set ablaze to simulate a major fire. The firemen climbed the exterior of the structure on ladders and played hoses against the walls.

Then everybody left for West End Park, where a mammoth pyramid of crockery had been build around the old glass-house kiln. The pottery ware was toppled with a tremendous smash while the movie cameraman recorded the scene.

Most of the youngsters who marched through the triumphal arch capped the day by going to Rock Springs Park in Chester for the annual East Liverpool school picnic. Three of them were to die there that evening — and one was to be burned mortally — in a blaze that destroyed "The Old Mill," one of the amusement features. The fourth victim survived until June 20.

The Lincoln Highway tour party was due to continue along its route to Lisbon on Monday, June 7, but delayed its departure until Tuesday, June 8. Comprised of four autos, it included Mr. and Mrs. Osterman, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, the cameraman, his assistant, two drivers and two mechanics. Spencer left the group in East Liverpool. Of the 26 days on the road at that time, 15 had been marred by bad weather, he confided.

THE FOUR CARS shoved off for Lisbon on the afternoon of June 8, accompanied as far as the county seat by Barth, Mr. and Mrs. Swaney and George L. McClintock.

Osterman called forth another marvel before moving off the local scene. He went to the telephone exchange and placed a call to Omaha. It was such an event that the cameraman set up a bank of lights and photographed the procedure while Miss Nora Harrison, the supervisor, placed the call.

Just a few months earlier, President Wilson had placed the first transcontinental telephone call, attended by great fanfare. East Liverpool still had two telephone exchanges and the first - ranking business houses subscribed to both services so that their customers could reach them, regardles of which system served them.

East Liverpool's section of the Lincoln Highway traveled along E. and W. 5th Sts. to Jefferson St., then along W. 8th St. to the Lisbon St. Hill. Then it followed the path of what is now State Route 267 and on to Lisbon.

The California Hollow road had not been built at that time. It was years later that the county commissioners built the highway into the city via Dresden Ave. and Route 30's path was changed.

Barth remembers that Lisbon St. then was paved about as fast as the top of the grade. There the pavement petered out and it was up to the motorist to make his way to Lisbon the best way he could—through clouds of dust in the summer and fighting areas of mud in the spring. But that was typical of most of the highway in its coast - to - coast span.

The segments within cities were paved but the roadway was mostly unsurfaced in the countryside. Little by little each state pushed the paving until it was hard - surfaced all the way from ocean to ocean.

More than $90 million was spent on the highway for improvement and maintenance from its dedication in 1913 until the highway association disbanded in 1927. In 1925, the roadway was designated as U. S. Route 30. Elimination of detours and curves eventually cut the overall distance to 3,331 miles. The road winds through New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and California.

THERE WAS no direct highway connection between East Liverpool and Pittsburgh when the original Lincoln Highway was laid out. It was later, after Pennsylvania and West Virginia built highway segments, that Route 30 was switched to its present course on the south side of the Ohio River from Pittsburgh west.

The day the Lincoln Highway caravan moved on to Lisbon, Swaney erected wooden signs at W. 5th and Jefferson Sts. to indicate the highway's turn at that intersection.

Barth remembers that he and Swaney set out from East Liverpool to Lisbon with a wagonload of "Lincoln Highway" signs, placing them each half mile along the roadway.

It was later that the route was marked from coast to coast with concrete standards bearing the name of the roadway. Each bears on one of its faces a medallion with a likeness of Lincoln's head. A few still are in place in the Tri-State Area, but most have been removed by the march of progress. Unnoticed by most of today's motorists, the square concrete posts about the height of a parking meter standard were the last word in marking a highway in their day.

After the district segment of the highway was switched to the South Side of the river, it entered East Liverpool via the Chester Bridge, ascended Broadway and then traveled along 5th St. to Jefferson St. Until a few years ago, one of the Lincoln Highway markers was in place on Broadway near E. 4th St. and there was another on Jefferson St. near W. 5th St.

OPENING OF the California Hollow segment of highway to the north led to re - routing of the national road along 3rd St. to Market St. and then via Market St. through the Diamond to Dresden Ave. Even young old - timers can recall the national holidays when Route 30 traffic was backed up through East Liverpool and Chester bumper-to-bumper for miles and an hour was required to negotiate the crowded streets. The Freeway, bypassing the business district, has eliminated the worst of the holiday jams.

Lisbon is a 20-minute drive from East Liverpool now, but it was a major trip for local attorneys in the days before trouble - free roads were built. The lawyers traveled from East Liverpool to Beaver by rail and then hopped another train for Darlington and Lisbon.

The opening of the Lincoln Highway was only the beginning, not the end, of the campaign for a practical coast-to-coast roadway.

IN THAT SAME era, East Liverpool turned out en masse to watch a daredevil San Francisco jeweler named Miller dash through in a car he called the "Blue Swan," intent on setting a new record for coast - to - coast travel. He made it in 10 days, thanks to escorts by police and sheriff's departments along the way.

Barth recalls an auto journey to Cleveland in the days when only the intrepid and the rich started out on such expeditions.

"We traveled all day over all sorts of roads, carrying our extra gasoline supply in 5-gallon milk cans strapped to the runningboards," he recalls.

"And when we pulled up in front of the major hotel in downtown Cleveland and announced we had driven in one day all the way from East Liverpool, it created such a stir that the Plain Dealer sent a reporter to interview us and a photographer to take a picture. The trip was one of the memorable feats of the month!"

The Lincoln Highway

By ROBERT POPP

Most motorists who tool along all day at 70 miles an hour on four-lane, limited access highways do not remember the era when an auto trip from East Liverpool to Cleveland was high adventure and a man who set out to drive from New York to San Francisco was regarded with the same awe as today's astronauts.

But that was the case, just 54 years ago, when East Liverpool bedecked herself with flags and bunting and triumphal arches and put on a celebration that was sort of an Independence Day and New Year's Eve all rolled into one. It was June 5,

1915, that thousands of citizens lined the streets and cheered a small band of grimy travelers who rolled triumphantly into the city from Pittsburgh.

"Lincoln Highway Day," they named it—a bonanza of boosterism to call the nation's attention to the first transcontinenal highway. Streching 3,389 miles, it began at Times Square in New York City an ended at Lincoln Park in San Francisco

Despits the blaze of publicity and a riot of fanfare all along the route, the Lincoln Highway was far from a highway in the modern sense of the word. The party had been on the road 26 days and was three days behind schedule when it finally pulled into East Liverpool.

BUT IT STILL was the biggest event to hit the booming Pottery City in a generation. The community was a hotbed of what was termed "good roads enthusiasts," who took every opportunity to confront public officials with the need for hard-surface roads.

And East Liverpool was inordinately proud of winning itself a spot on the Lincoln Highway's route. It not only put the city on the map, literally, but it meant many hundreds of dollars in trade for restaurants, hotels and the blacksmiths who often doubled as auto mechanics in those days.

So it was with great fanfare that The Evening Review announced on May 28, 1915, that the party of Lincoln Highway Association officials traveling the road from coast-to-coast would arrive in East Liverpool in early June. The original date was June 3, but it was postponed because of delays forced by weather.

A local committee sprang to work at once to make plans for a celebration. The travelers were led by H.C. Ostermann, who held the title of consul general in the Lincoln Highway Association. The Association was a private corporation with headquarters in Detroit. It laid out the highway in 1913 by mapping a route across 13 states and terming it "the first continuous connecting improved road across the American continent."

Osterman's trip was in part a publicity stunt designed to call the nation's attention to his association's project, prod public officials into improving the highway and revive the fires of civic pride in all the communities along the route. The association sold $5 memberships that were used to promote its cause and even provide some of the paving.

Highways were known by names, rather than numbers, in those days. After the federal government began contributing to highway costs and more and more thousands of paved road were built, the Lincoln Highway became U.S. Route 30.

THE AUTO WAS coming into its own on that day 54 years ago, but the horse still was king. It was the era before service stations and repair shops, when a driver found his way from town to town by following a crude sheet of directions with such confusing comments as "follow Main St. through Podnuk, continuing north, and bear left at the crossroads at the first red barn. . . ."

Two - wheel brakes were the thing, but the self - starter was not yet standard equipment. It was an optional extra on the lower - priced cars. The fragile, high - pressure tires of the time were subject to frequent punctures and blow - outs. Drivers repaired their own flats, a tedious job at best and a real adventure after night in a rainstorm. The common newspaper cartoon of the day showed a bewhiskered farmer pulling a mired auto from a mudhole with a team of horses.

Great things were happening then in East Liverpool and the rest of the U. S., blissfully unaware of their impending involvement in the World War that was raging in Europe.

The city had just held open house in its new $125,000 high school at E .½TH St. and Broadway and grade school pupils from all over the community began going to classes in the Central School. A Klondyke site was picked for the new water works pumping and filtration plant. The Board of Health asserted it was high time for installation of a sanitary sewer system in East End.

PRESIDENT Woodrow Wilson pressed a button in the White House, sending a spark jumping on a wire clear across the continent to open the Panama - Pacific International Exposition in San Francisco.

Erlanger's Men's Store at E. 5th and Washington Sts. was selling suits and topcoats for $11. A sailor straw was $1.45. Boy's suits were priced from $2.75 to $5.75.

The Pennsylvania Railroad advertised 10 westbound and 11 eastbound passenger trains through East Liverpool daily. William Farnum was starring on the state at the Ceramic in a production called "The Gilded Fool." Adult tickets were 10 cents. Youngsters could get in for a nickel.

The Lusitania, a British passenger liner, had been sunk off the Irish coast by a German submarine on May 7, with heavy loss of American life. America was starting down the road toward war. William Jennings Bryan, a spell - binding orator and a pacifist, resigned in June as President Wilson's secretary of state.

And the automobile business in East Liverpool was brisk. The Ceramic Motor Co., located in the Arcade Building on E. 5th St., was selling a new Buick four - door touring car for $950. For $1,295, the same company would sell the Cleveland - made Chandler Six.

AND TROTTER & Son on Dresden Ave. were offering the Chevrolet Baby Grand touring car at $985. The Royal Mail roadster was $860. And, the company added "cars not electrically equipped are $110 less." The lack of electrical equipment apparently meant the purchaser drove out with acetylene headlights and a back - breaking hand crank.

The Buckeye Motor Co. at Walnut and E. 6th St. was advertising a Maxwell five-passenger touring car for $695. The electric starter, an optional extra, cost $55.

And, like the Lincoln Highway officials, the Liberty Bell was on a coast - to - coast tour to be exhibited at the exposition in San Francisco.

Things began to develop at a fever pitch on May 28 when H. B. Barth, secretary of the Booster Club, received a telegram from Osterman giving the tentative date for the arrival of the association's touring party. Plans were started immediately to decorate the downtown area. The Federated Women's Club sprang to action and arranged to have brush cut along the route between East End and downtown. Every pole along the route would be painted white, the club said.

Barth was a commissioner of the Lincoln Highway Association in addition to his post with the Booster Club, which formed the nucleus later for the organization of the Chamber of Commerce. And S. S. Groglode, secretary of the East Liverpool Automobile Club, made an appeal for every motorist to enter his car in the parade that would welcome the travelers.

ALTHOUGH IT later entered East Liverpool via Hancock County and the Chester Bridge, the Lincoln Highway in its earliest days had its eastern portal at the Ohio - Pennsylvania line. The committee began making plans to greet the tour party on Pennsylvania Ave. at the Dry Run Bridge.

As the preparations went on, Barth received another telegram on June 3 saying that the highway association caravan would arrive in East Liverpool June 5. Frank Swaney, another leading "good roads enthusiast," talked by Osterman over the telephone in Ligonier, Pa. — no mean feat in itself in those days. Osterman confirmed the change in date and said the party had been held up by rainy weather and muddy roads.

The preparations went on. Auto owners were decorating their vehicles with flags and bunting. East Liverpool potteries turned out 5,000 souvenir plates to be distributed to visitors. The highway association group included another marvel of the day, a hand-cranked motion picture camera. It was to record all the activities of Lincoln Highway Day for a gigantic film that would be shown in San Francisco and later in communities all along the highway's route.

Osterman and one of his aides, R. E. Spencer, arrived in East Liverpool from Pittsburgh the night of June 4. They met with the local committee to put the final touches on the program.

THE SUN SHONE brightly the following morning at 9 when 100 autos lined up in a procession at Dry Run to give the official welcome to the Lincoln Highway Group.

Rep. D. A. Hollingsworth of Cadiz, the district congressman, presented an Ohio flag to Osterman in a blaze of oratory at the bridge. Mayor V. A. Schreiber presented the group what was termed the "official flag of East Liverpool." It was revealed later that Dudley Hawkins, an Evening Review reporter, had designed the "official flag" especially for the occasion.

The procession moved out at 9:30 from Dry Run with a great crashing of gears, roaring of motors and fluttering of bunting. Half an hour later, the procession was in the downtown area, traveling along 6th and 5th Sts. On 5th St. at Market St. was a triumphal arch with the legend: "East Liverpool, the Best City Under the Sun." And underneath there was a structure operated by ropes that was meant to depict the rays of the rising sun.

The "sun" device was operated to the cheers of the crowd and then left in place for the leading car to crash through. Thousands lined the streets, waving souvenir plates as the car carrying the movie camera passed, the newspaper related.

It was a "demonstration such as this city has not seen in years," the reporter wrote. "Old Glory was unfurled from business houses, public buildings and homes." Three thousand school children marched through the triumphal arch in the wake of the auto caravan.

But things were just beginning. Veterans of the Civil War — members of Gen. Lyon Post, Grand Army of the Republic — lined up on the Post Office steps to be photographed.

AND THE fire department, proud of its new motorized equipment, put on a drill for the movie camera and the public. The equipment dashed along 5th St. to the Little Building, where 25 smoke pots had been set ablaze to simulate a major fire. The firemen climbed the exterior of the structure on ladders and played hoses against the walls.

Then everybody left for West End Park, where a mammoth pyramid of crockery had been build around the old glass-house kiln. The pottery ware was toppled with a tremendous smash while the movie cameraman recorded the scene.

Most of the youngsters who marched through the triumphal arch capped the day by going to Rock Springs Park in Chester for the annual East Liverpool school picnic. Three of them were to die there that evening — and one was to be burned mortally — in a blaze that destroyed "The Old Mill," one of the amusement features. The fourth victim survived until June 20.

Outdoor Notes

By Harry L. Stewart

I HAVE NEVER TRIED THEM, BUT THOSE WHO have say smoked fish are delicious. Several friends have told me of the distinctive flavor that can be obtained by smoking fish.

I became interested and this week obtained a publication from the Division of Wildlife on the process.

The surprise was that fish, such as five to eight pound carp, catfish and freshwater drum are popular for smoking. Most do not think of carp and drum, more commonly called sheephead, as a food fish.

After cleaning and drying the body cavity, the fish is split in half along the backbone. It then is soaked in a brine solution for 18 to 24 hours, rinsed well in clean water and wiped dry.

The brine solution is made by adding salt to cold water until it will float a medium sized chicken egg. Only the tip of the egg should float above the surface. The bulletin also offers another solution which contains sugar, bay leaves and pepper.

THE FIRE SHOULD be of oak, ash, hickory, maple, or fruit woods such as apple. Green wood from these trees can be added to create smoke. Do not use resinous woods such as pine, fir and hemlock.

The fish should be smoked until the surface of the flesh becomes dry and golden brown. This will usually require eight to 10 hours when the smoker temperature is 160 to 180 degrees. Thin pieces finish sooner.

Other temperatures can be used and are explained in the publication, which also provides instructions for building a smoker from a 50 gallon metal drum.

The top is cut and used as a baffle about 13 inches from the top. A door is cut in the bottom for a fire pit. Heavy mesh screen is used to hold the fish about 6 inches from the top and sheet metal is used to cover the smoker and contain the smoke in the drum.

If you are interested in the full details, write the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Wildlife, 1500 Dublin Rd., Columbus, and request Publication 64.

ONE QUESTION received more often than any other is "where are the fish biting?" Not being able to visit all the available fishing spots in the area in one given week — although that would be nice — I can only pass along reports received from other fishermen.

It is difficult to send someone to a certain lake or stream, knowing full well that although the fish were biting the previous evening, they may not be feeding when the other fisherman arrives. It makes you feel foolish when they return and say you gave them bad information.

The more productive areas listed for this week, by species of fish, are as follows:

Muskies — Leesville.

Walleye — Berlin.

Northern pike — Atwood Lake.

Of course Highlandtown Lake is always good for a few. Catfish are biting and the big ones are particularly partial to soft craws. "Mr. Catfish" himself from Glenmoor caught a 24-inch, 3-pounder there last Sunday afternoon. Leave it to Greenie, he always comes up with the big cats.

OPENING SET. Muskingum Conservancy District parks at Atwood, Tappan, Charles Mill, Pleasant Hill and Seneca Lakes opened for the summer season this weekend.

The camping rate for lots inside the parks is $2.25 per night for five persons or less plus 25 cents a night for each extra person. Campgrounds outside Atwood and the marinas at Atwood, Leesville, Clendening, Piedmont, Seneca and Wills Creek remain at $1.75 per night.

THIS 'N THAT. Don't pick up apparently abandoned young wild animals In most cases they have not been abandoned. The parent animal is usually nearby, watching and waiting for the individual to leave. These young don't fair very well without their parents and often die.

Squirrel hunters get ready. The 1969 season opens statewide in Ohio Friday, Sept. 5, and extends through Saturday, Nov. 8, on private lands and through Saturday, Dec. 27, on public hunting areas. New hunting licenses will be mailed to agents in late August.

A bulk magazine Outdoor Journal is being printed by Jerry Blinzley of Hubbard. It contains outdoor information on hunting, fishing, camping and so forth in Ohio and Northwestern Pennsylvania. It costs 50 cents for a single copy by mail or $2.50 a year for 12 issues by subscription. The publication can be obtained by writing Outdoor Journal, 1725 Carter St., Hubbard, Ohio, 44425. The latest issue contains maps of several Ohio lakes

THE UPWARD spiral in the size of Pennsylvania's deer herd appears to have been halted this year, according to Game Commission field reports and observations.

High annual harvests of whitetails, particularly antlerless deer, during the past few years appear to have at least stabilized the dangerously large herd, and in a number of areas have brought about a desired reduction in big game populations.

A deer under every tree might be ideal from a hunter's standpoint, but demands for land for agriculture, forestry, homes, highways, schools, and other uses, require a Game Commission policy which produces a desirable balance between conflicting interests. When this balance is reached and maintained, all of society benefits.

Although the state experienced another relatively mild winter this year, the natural mortality rae was he second highest in the past eight years and almost four times the previous winter's loss. Starvation was most prevalent in the northcentral part of the state.

The 1969 winter loss was not large enough to cause undue concern, but it was an indication that the herd was larger than the comfortable carrying capacity of the range.

THE SPRING DEER population in 1969 is more nearly normal for this time of the year than in the past few springs. For some time the population of whitetails immediately prior to the birth of fawns has been uncomfortably high.

During the past few years the annual production of fawns has been larger than the annual total mortality, leading to a whitetail herd which was steadily growing larger.

Usually large antlerless harvests in the last two years mean that fewer fawns are likely to be produced this year than in 1968. Fewer whitetails will mean less forest damage, fewer deer killed on the state's highways and lower damage to farm crops.

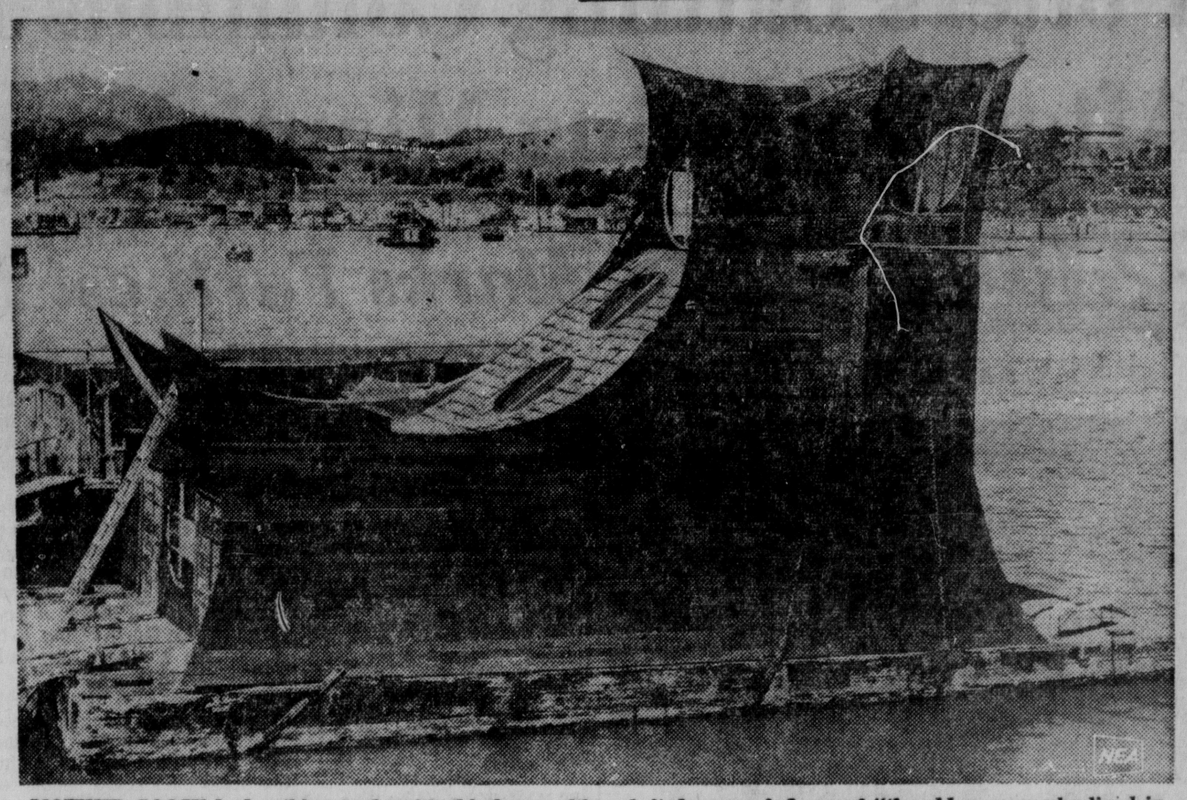

A smaller herd will also mean more food available for each deer, and this in turn produces heavier whitetails with better antler development — more trophies for sportsmen.

In some heavily-overbrowsed sections of the state the reproductive rate for whitetails has dropped over 50 percent, due to malnutrition. Where the deer population has also dropped in these sections, it will not be necessary to harvest nearly as many antlerless deer as in the past.

The wisdom in extending the antlerless deer season by one day this past December is now becoming abundantly clear. Had there been no extension, the winter mortality undoubtedly would have been higher and the overall condition of the range would have been worse than it is now.

And whitetails which would have succumbed during the winter would not have been available to hunters this fall.

All in all, the state's deer situation seems to be in better shape now than at any time in the last several years. There are still plenty of trophies for hunters, but not so many that other interests are suffering unbearable loss.

Outdoor Notes

By Harry L. Stewart

I HAVE NEVER TRIED THEM, BUT THOSE WHO have say smoked fish are delicious. Several friends have told me of the distinctive flavor that can be obtained by smoking fish.

I became interested and this week obtained a publication from the Division of Wildlife on the process.

The surprise was that fish, such as five to eight pound carp, catfish and freshwater drum are popular for smoking. Most do not think of carp and drum, more commonly called sheephead, as a food fish.

After cleaning and drying the body cavity, the fish is split in half along the backbone. It then is soaked in a brine solution for 18 to 24 hours, rinsed well in clean water and wiped dry.

The brine solution is made by adding salt to cold water until it will float a medium sized chicken egg. Only the tip of the egg should float above the surface. The bulletin also offers another solution which contains sugar, bay leaves and pepper.

THE FIRE SHOULD be of oak, ash, hickory, maple, or fruit woods such as apple. Green wood from these trees can be added to create smoke. Do not use resinous woods such as pine, fir and hemlock.

The fish should be smoked until the surface of the flesh becomes dry and golden brown. This will usually require eight to 10 hours when the smoker temperature is 160 to 180 degrees. Thin pieces finish sooner.

Other temperatures can be used and are explained in the publication, which also provides instructions for building a smoker from a 50 gallon metal drum.

The top is cut and used as a baffle about 13 inches from the top. A door is cut in the bottom for a fire pit. Heavy mesh screen is used to hold the fish about 6 inches from the top and sheet metal is used to cover the smoker and contain the smoke in the drum.

If you are interested in the full details, write the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Wildlife, 1500 Dublin Rd., Columbus, and request Publication 64.

ONE QUESTION received more often than any other is "where are the fish biting?" Not being able to visit all the available fishing spots in the area in one given week — although that would be nice — I can only pass along reports received from other fishermen.

It is difficult to send someone to a certain lake or stream, knowing full well that although the fish were biting the previous evening, they may not be feeding when the other fisherman arrives. It makes you feel foolish when they return and say you gave them bad information.

The more productive areas listed for this week, by species of fish, are as follows:

Muskies — Leesville.

Walleye — Berlin.

Northern pike — Atwood Lake.

Of course Highlandtown Lake is always good for a few. Catfish are biting and the big ones are particularly partial to soft craws. "Mr. Catfish" himself from Glenmoor caught a 24-inch, 3-pounder there last Sunday afternoon. Leave it to Greenie, he always comes up with the big cats.

OPENING SET. Muskingum Conservancy District parks at Atwood, Tappan, Charles Mill, Pleasant Hill and Seneca Lakes opened for the summer season this weekend.

The camping rate for lots inside the parks is $2.25 per night for five persons or less plus 25 cents a night for each extra person. Campgrounds outside Atwood and the marinas at Atwood, Leesville, Clendening, Piedmont, Seneca and Wills Creek remain at $1.75 per night.

THIS 'N THAT. Don't pick up apparently abandoned young wild animals In most cases they have not been abandoned. The parent animal is usually nearby, watching and waiting for the individual to leave. These young don't fair very well without their parents and often die.

Squirrel hunters get ready. The 1969 season opens statewide in Ohio Friday, Sept. 5, and extends through Saturday, Nov. 8, on private lands and through Saturday, Dec. 27, on public hunting areas. New hunting licenses will be mailed to agents in late August.

A bulk magazine Outdoor Journal is being printed by Jerry Blinzley of Hubbard. It contains outdoor information on hunting, fishing, camping and so forth in Ohio and Northwestern Pennsylvania. It costs 50 cents for a single copy by mail or $2.50 a year for 12 issues by subscription. The publication can be obtained by writing Outdoor Journal, 1725 Carter St., Hubbard, Ohio, 44425. The latest issue contains maps of several Ohio lakes

THE UPWARD spiral in the size of Pennsylvania's deer herd appears to have been halted this year, according to Game Commission field reports and observations.

High annual harvests of whitetails, particularly antlerless deer, during the past few years appear to have at least stabilized the dangerously large herd, and in a number of areas have brought about a desired reduction in big game populations.

A deer under every tree might be ideal from a hunter's standpoint, but demands for land for agriculture, forestry, homes, highways, schools, and other uses, require a Game Commission policy which produces a desirable balance between conflicting interests. When this balance is reached and maintained, all of society benefits.

Although the state experienced another relatively mild winter this year, the natural mortality rae was he second highest in the past eight years and almost four times the previous winter's loss. Starvation was most prevalent in the northcentral part of the state.

The 1969 winter loss was not large enough to cause undue concern, but it was an indication that the herd was larger than the comfortable carrying capacity of the range.

THE SPRING DEER population in 1969 is more nearly normal for this time of the year than in the past few springs. For some time the population of whitetails immediately prior to the birth of fawns has been uncomfortably high.

During the past few years the annual production of fawns has been larger than the annual total mortality, leading to a whitetail herd which was steadily growing larger.

Usually large antlerless harvests in the last two years mean that fewer fawns are likely to be produced this year than in 1968. Fewer whitetails will mean less forest damage, fewer deer killed on the state's highways and lower damage to farm crops.

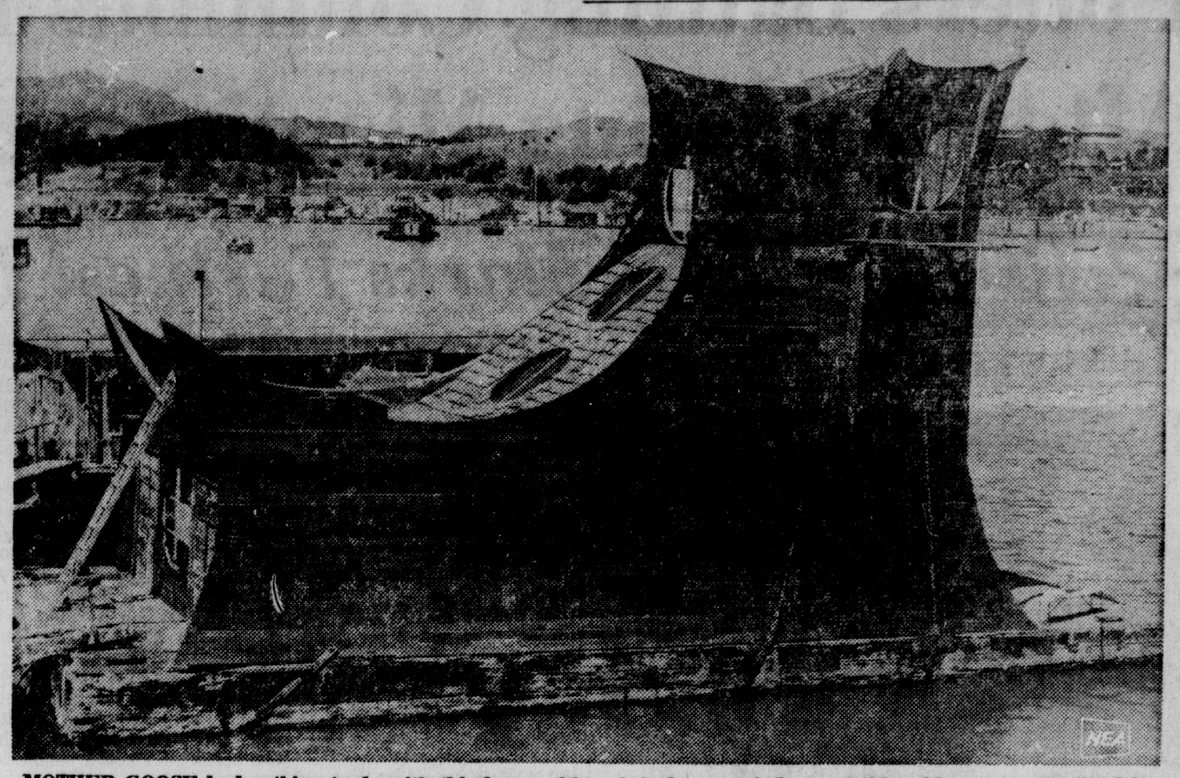

A smaller herd will also mean more food available for each deer, and this in turn produces heavier whitetails with better antler development — more trophies for sportsmen.

Potters Battling Columbus East For State Baseball Title After Defeating Miamisburg, 5-4, In Semi-Final Contest

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Marks Farthest EL Has Advanced

The East Liverpool Potters were attempting to go all the way today when they stepped onto the Ohio State University diamond in quest of the Ohio Class AA baseball title.

East Liverpool was facing Columbus East for the title. The game got under way at 11 this morning. Coach Jim Potts sent Jim Musuraca to the mound in an effort to bring the title home.

The Potters battled their way into the finals on a 5-4 extra-inning victory over Mimisburg while Columbus East, which also claimed the Ohio basketball crown, rolled over Cleveland St. Joseph, 9-3.

IT MARKED the first time and East Liverpool High School team ever played in the state baseball finals. The 1956 Potters battled to the state semi - finals only to be eliminated by Cleveland Benedictine. Bernie Allen, now with the Washington Senators, was a member of that squad.

In the Memorial Day semi-final victory, Bill Montgomery with a 5-1 record, went the distance for the Potters giving up four hits. East Liverpool also took advantage of four Miamisburg errors.

THE POTTERS had to come from behind in the semi - final win. Leading 3-0 after three innings, the Potters fell behind when Miamisburg scored a single run in the fourth inning, two in the fifth and took the lead with a run in the sixth.

The Potters tied the contest in the last of the seventh. Montgomery walked to open the inning and with one out, Tom Chambers smacked a double to eend Montgomery home with ths tieing run.

AN UNEARNED run in the bottom of the eighth gave the Potters the victory. Chris Kemple scored the winning run by opening the inning with a double to deep center.

Dan Cunningham followed with an infield single with Kemple holding second. The winning run came when the next batter, Montgomery, bunted back to the pitcher, Bruce Trubbet who threw wildly attempting to cut the runner down at third base and Kemple scored.

CHAMBERS was the hitting star for East Liverpool, collecting a triple, double and single. The Potters lashed out 13 hits off three Miamsburg pitchers.

East Liverpool committed only two errors.

The Potters carried a 15-3 record into today's game.

In the other semi - final game Friday, East hurler Eddie Ratleff, a star for the Tigers in basketball, allowed only one hit in five innings as Columbus clubbed St. Joseph.

Ratleff also contributed a pair of hits and drove in two runs. Ratleff has an 8-1 pitching record.

Andretti Breezes To '500' Victory

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Mario Andretti, who has been racing automobiles since he was 13 years old in Italy, never grew much bigger, but he found a great equalizer in the 53rd 500-mile race Friday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The 5-foot-6 charger, twice U.S. Auto Club champion and never worse than second in the last four years, knows a couple of great craftsmen named Clint Brawner and Jim McGee in Phoenix, Ariz.

Just how much the 29-year-old Nazareth, Pa., driver won won't be known until the traditional victory dinner tonight. The prize money, based on an undisclosed crowd, may give the winning as much as $200,000.

Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., won more than $177,000 for victory last year. He did a colossal job of driving a Lola-Offenhauser to third place Friday after having to change seven tires and make two additional pit stops besides the mandatory three.

Andretti's tires went all the way, to the unbounded joy of a veteran U.S. race tire builder, and he made only three quick stops for fuel.

Mel Kenyon of Lebanon, Ind., perennial U.S. midget car racing champion despite the loss of part of one hand in a racing wreck, finished fourth in a Gerhardt-Offenhauser and was the last driver to go the full 200 laps.

A.J. Foyt Jr. of Houston, Tex., three-time winner of the 500, was the fastest qualifier and rated the man to beat. But, like Unser, he had to make two extra stops to fix an ailing waste gate and to rebuild his turbocharger.

Only sheer determination gave Foyt an eighth place finish back of Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., fifth in an Eagle-Ford; rookie Peter Revson, New York, sixth in a Brabham-Repco, and rookie Mark Donohue, Media, Pa., seventh in a Lola-Offenhauser.

On the 106th lap, he refueled, thought he heard his crew disconnect the fuel hose, and roared out of the pit. The hose was still connected and it ripped out the connection. There was no way for him to refuel after that and he ended up an unofficial 20th.

Donohue, U.S. road racing champion the last two years, drove a magnificent race in his first Indianapolis appearance. But he was held back by an extra pit stop to replace an ailing magneto.It cost him more than 10½ minutes.

Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., who still holds the Speedway qualifying record for a now-outlawed turbine, was among the contenders in his Eagle-Ford until he had to stop more than six minutes to fix a hole in his radiator.

Only four drivers led the race —Andretti, Foyt, Wally Dallenbach in an Eagle-Offenhauser and Ruby.

When Ruby had his pit misfortune, Andretti went ahead to stay with 94 laps or 235 miles to go.

The little Italian set a new record of 156.867 miles per hour for the event, even though he wasn't pressed in the latter stages of the race. Part of the high speed, smashing Bobby Unser's mark of 152.882 last year, was due to the fact that the caution light was on only 14 minutes.

Nobody was hurt in two accidents, a spectacular fire in the car of Jim McElreath, Arlington, Tex., on the main straightaway and a broken half-shaft which hurled Arnie Knepper, Belleville, Ill., into the northwest corner retaining wall.

Drivers halted by mechanical troubles included Lee Roy Yarbrough, Columbia, N.C., who has won three major NASCAR races this year.

Racing Field Named

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A field of 10 was named Friday for next Thursday's $50,000 International Pace at Yonkers Raceway. The 10 pacers are Blaze Pick, Overcall, Twinkle Hanover N., Cardinal Garrison, Nardin's Byrd, Meadow Paige, Little Jerry Way, Miss Conna Adios, Adaptor and Cardinal King.

Youngstown Nine Wins Both Ends

Blair-Morse Drops Pair In Connie Mack Openers

Blair-Morse dropped both ends of a doubleheader to Youngstown Cabinets in the opening of the Connie Mack League season Friday at Colt Field.

In the first game, Youngstown came up with two runs in the fourth inning to break a 1-1 tie and gain a 3-1 decision. Both hurlers, Hall for Blair-Morse and Johnston for Youngstown gave up three hits each.

In the second game, Youngstown scored a 6-4 victory but not before shuting off a Blair-Morse rally which netted four runs in the last of the seventh.

Youngstown scored twice in the first inning and four in the fifth. Blair-Morse shut out for six frames, bounced back with four in the seventh only to fall short.

Lisko had two hits for Youngstown in the nightcap while Dubberly slammed three hits in four trips for Blair-Morse while Pearson drove in three of the four runs with a home run in the seventh.

Blair - Morse will meet the Lisbon Merchants in a doubleheader today beginning at 1 p.m. and play Lease Drugs of Salem Sunday in a twinbill beginning at 3:30 p.m. Both doubleheaders are scheduled at Colt Field.

Bucs End Astros 10-Game Streak

By MIKE RECHT
Assoiatced Press Sports Writer

Although he meant well, Mike McCormick made the same mistake as Phil Niekro. He tried to pitch a no-hitter against Tom Seaver and the New York Mets.

Pittsburgh also looked good pulling off a triple play on Houston's Johnny Edwards, but that too returned to haunt them when a more determined Edwards came back to beat them.

Just over two weeks ago, Niekro of Atlanta made his bid, holding the Mets hitless for six innings with a 3-0 lead before a triple and a single got the Mets on board. They went on to knock him out with eight runs in the eighth inning for a victory after Seaver had left for a pinch hitter.

Now along comes McCormick and San Francisco rolling along with a 3-0 lead and a no-hitter Friday night before Ron Swoboda homered for the Mets to lead off the seventh.

When Seaver again left for a pinch hitter in the eighth, the handwriting was on the wall, and the Mets rallied this time for three runs and a 4-3 victory over the Giants.

Pittsburgh was losing 3-1 in the first game of its doubleheader against the Astros when Edwards ruined Houston in the fourth inning by hitting into a triple play. The Pirates went on to grab a 9-3 victory, ending the Astros' 10-game winning streak.

But Edwards shrugged off his misfortune and came back with a tie-breaking two-run, ninth inning single in the nightcap to give Houston a 9-6 triumph.

In other Memorial Day games, San Diego saddled Montreal with its 14th straight defeat, 3-2 in 10 innings, Cincinnati nipped St. Louis 4-3 in 10 innings, Bill Hands and the Chicago Cubs edged Atlanta 2-0 and Philadelphia blasted Los Angeles 13-6.

Willie McCovey's 14th homer and sacrifice fly had given the Giants their lead, but McCormick couldn't hang on. Rod Gaspar lined his first major league homer with two out in the eighth and when Tommie Agee followed with a single, Frank Linzy relieved.

Hits by Cleon Jones and Swoboda tied the game and rookie Duffy Dyer's infield hit sent home the winner.

"That's the second time in my last three victories that I've been on the bench when we scored," said Seaver, who gave only four hits in raising his record to 7-3.

Edwards hit a routine grounder to first base with runners on first and second and first baseman Al Oliver retired him unassisted, then tagged one runner in a rundown between first and second and threw to third base, getting the other runner rounding the bag.

Bill Mazeroski and Matty Alou, with six hits apiece in the twinbill, each singled in a run in Pittsburgh's fourth and Rich Hebner's sacrifice fly put the Pirates ahead.

In the ninth inning of the nightcap Denis Menke singled, Doug Rader doubled and Gary Geiger was walked intentionally before Edwards delivered with one out. He later scored on a force out.

"Everytime I looked up someone else was being tagged out," Edwards said of the triple play, "but I didn't feel like the goat. Sure,g I'm sorry we lost the first game, but the important thing is that we came back."

Streak Reaches 18 Games

Orioles Stay Hot On Powell's Bat

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Powell ran his hitting streak to 18 games with a two-run homer Friday night and — for the third time this week—Robinson followed with another homer as the Baltimore Orioles rallied for a 3-1 victory over California.

Powell and Robinson, who had hit successive homers last Sunday at Oakland and Wednesday night at Seattle, connected in the seventh inning against winless Angel Andy Messersmith, carrying the Orioles from behind to their 12th victory in 14 games.

Elsewhere in American League holiday action, Boston nipped Minnesota 3-2; Detroit ruffed Seattle 8-5; New York swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 6-2 and 5-4 in 15 innings; Chicago beat Washington 8-5 after a 5-4, 10-inning loss and Oakland split with Cleveland, bowing 9-2 before taking the nightcap 5-1.

Cuellar, 6-4, scattered six hits while Messersmith, 0-5, allowed just two until the seventh.

Powell has hit at a .368 clip since launching his streak on May 9 and has boosted his over-all average 55 points to .299. The burly Baltimore first baseman has accounted for 20 of his 36 RBIs and poled five homers during the spree. The Orioles have won 14 of those 18 games for a three-length lead over second place Boston in the AL East.

Rico Petrocelli's bloop double knocked in two runs and Tony Conigliaro's broken bat single delivered the third as the Red Sox squeezed past Minnesota for their eighth triumph in 10 starts.

Jim Lonborg registered his fourth victory without a loss but needed relief help in the seventh after Harmon Killebrew rocked him for a towering two-run homer.

The Tigers, who have won 10 of their last 12, wiped out a 4-2 Seattle lead in the fifth on Al Kaline's two-run double and an RBI single by Norm Cash. Cash hit a two-run homer earlier and Jim Northrup drove in two Detroit runs with a homer and double.

Ex-Tiger Wayne Comer sparked four hits for the Pilots, including a home run, and teammate Jerry McNertney hit a three-run homer.

Fritz Peterson pitched a five-hitter, Bobby Murcer smacked a homer, double and single and Roy White contributed a two-run triple in the Yankees' opening game victory at Kansas City.

New York broke a 3-3 tie in the 15th inning of the nightcap on RBI singles by Jerry Kenney and White, then survived Mike Fiore's run-producing double in the bottom half.

Bobby Knoop, who started the day with one home run and a .179 batting mark, wasted two homers as the White Sox dropped their opener at Washington, then slammed a decisive three-run homer in the sixth inning of the nightcap.

Rookie George Lauzerique, backed by Reggie Smith's 14th and 15th homers, hurled a five-hitter for his first major league victory as the Athletics rebounded for a split with Cleveland. Jackson unloaded twice with the bases empty and Bert Campaneris drove in the other three Oakland runs with a homer and single.

Jose Cardenal capped Cleveland's eight-run first inning explosion in the opener with a grand slam homer—after starting it with a single—and Luis Tiant breezed to his first victory after seven consecutive losses.

Riverview Drops Pair In Colt Loop

Riverview Florists committed 12 errors to hand Richmond a 13-3 decision Friday at Richmond in a Colt League contest.

Richmond scored three runs in the first inning one in the third, four in the fourth and exploded for five more in the fifth inning.

Alcock led Richmond at the plate with three hits while Grimm had two. Carter and Horger had two hits for Riverview. Hickman was the winning pitcher with Horger taking the loss.

A six-run first inning triggered an 8-4 victory for the Lawyers over Riverview Florists in a Colt League game Thursday.

Sheppard's two run single was the big blow in the first inning and he drove in another pair in a two-run second inning. The Lawyers first baseman wound up with a four - for-four day at the plate.

Lockhart and Deem had a double each for the winners and Carter showed two hits for the loser.

Potters Battling Columbus East For State Baseball Title After Defeating Miamisburg, 5-4, In Semi-Final Contest

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Marks Farthest EL Has Advanced

The East Liverpool Potters were attempting to go all the way today when they stepped onto the Ohio State University diamond in quest of the Ohio Class AA baseball title.

East Liverpool was facing Columbus East for the title. The game got under way at 11 this morning. Coach Jim Potts sent Jim Musuraca to the mound in an effort to bring the title home.

The Potters battled their way into the finals on a 5-4 extra-inning victory over Mimisburg while Columbus East, which also claimed the Ohio basketball crown, rolled over Cleveland St. Joseph, 9-3.

IT MARKED the first time and East Liverpool High School team ever played in the state baseball finals. The 1956 Potters battled to the state semi - finals only to be eliminated by Cleveland Benedictine. Bernie Allen, now with the Washington Senators, was a member of that squad.

In the Memorial Day semi-final victory, Bill Montgomery with a 5-1 record, went the distance for the Potters giving up four hits. East Liverpool also took advantage of four Miamisburg errors.

THE POTTERS had to come from behind in the semi - final win. Leading 3-0 after three innings, the Potters fell behind when Miamisburg scored a single run in the fourth inning, two in the fifth and took the lead with a run in the sixth.

The Potters tied the contest in the last of the seventh. Montgomery walked to open the inning and with one out, Tom Chambers smacked a double to eend Montgomery home with ths tieing run.

AN UNEARNED run in the bottom of the eighth gave the Potters the victory. Chris Kemple scored the winning run by opening the inning with a double to deep center.

Dan Cunningham followed with an infield single with Kemple holding second. The winning run came when the next batter, Montgomery, bunted back to the pitcher, Bruce Trubbet who threw wildly attempting to cut the runner down at third base and Kemple scored.

CHAMBERS was the hitting star for East Liverpool, collecting a triple, double and single. The Potters lashed out 13 hits off three Miamsburg pitchers.

East Liverpool committed only two errors.

In the other semi - final game Friday, East hurler Eddie Ratleff, a star for the Tigers in basketball, allowed only one hit in five innings as Columbus clubbed St. Joseph.

Ratleff also contributed a pair of hits and drove in two runs. Ratleff has an 8-1 pitching record.

Andretti Breezes To '500' Victory

By DALE BURGESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Mario Andretti, who has been racing automobiles since he was 13 years old in Italy, never grew much bigger, but he found a great equalizer in the 53rd 500-mile race Friday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The 5-foot-6 charger, twice U.S. Auto Club champion and never worse than second in the last four years, knows a couple of great craftsmen named Clint Brawner and Jim McGee in Phoenix, Ariz.

Just how much the 29-year-old Nazareth, Pa., driver won won't be known until the traditional victory dinner tonight. The prize money, based on an undisclosed crowd, may give the winning as much as $200,000.

Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., won more than $177,000 for victory last year. He did a colossal job of driving a Lola-Offenhauser to third place Friday after having to change seven tires and make two additional pit stops besides the mandatory three.

Andretti's tires went all the way, to the unbounded joy of a veteran U.S. race tire builder, and he made only three quick stops for fuel.

Mel Kenyon of Lebanon, Ind., perennial U.S. midget car racing champion despite the loss of part of one hand in a racing wreck, finished fourth in a Gerhardt-Offenhauser and was the last driver to go the full 200 laps.

A.J. Foyt Jr. of Houston, Tex., three-time winner of the 500, was the fastest qualifier and rated the man to beat. But, like Unser, he had to make two extra stops to fix an ailing waste gate and to rebuild his turbocharger.

Only sheer determination gave Foyt an eighth place finish back of Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., fifth in an Eagle-Ford; rookie Peter Revson, New York, sixth in a Brabham-Repco, and rookie Mark Donohue, Media, Pa., seventh in a Lola-Offenhauser.

On the 106th lap, he refueled, thought he heard his crew disconnect the fuel hose, and roared out of the pit. The hose was still connected and it ripped out the connection. There was no way for him to refuel after that and he ended up an unofficial 20th.

Donohue, U.S. road racing champion the last two years, drove a magnificent race in his first Indianapolis appearance. But he was held back by an extra pit stop to replace an ailing magneto.It cost him more than 10½ minutes.

Joe Leonard of San Jose, Calif., who still holds the Speedway qualifying record for a now-outlawed turbine, was among the contenders in his Eagle-Ford until he had to stop more than six minutes to fix a hole in his radiator.

Only four drivers led the race —Andretti, Foyt, Wally Dallenbach in an Eagle-Offenhauser and Ruby.

When Ruby had his pit misfortune, Andretti went ahead to stay with 94 laps or 235 miles to go.

The little Italian set a new record of 156.867 miles per hour for the event, even though he wasn't pressed in the latter stages of the race. Part of the high speed, smashing Bobby Unser's mark of 152.882 last year, was due to the fact that the caution light was on only 14 minutes.

Nobody was hurt in two accidents, a spectacular fire in the car of Jim McElreath, Arlington, Tex., on the main straightaway and a broken half-shaft which hurled Arnie Knepper, Belleville, Ill., into the northwest corner retaining wall.

Drivers halted by mechanical troubles included Lee Roy Yarbrough, Columbia, N.C., who has won three major NASCAR races this year.

Racing Field Named

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A field of 10 was named Friday for next Thursday's $50,000 International Pace at Yonkers Raceway. The 10 pacers are Blaze Pick, Overcall, Twinkle Hanover N., Cardinal Garrison, Nardin's Byrd, Meadow Paige, Little Jerry Way, Miss Conna Adios, Adaptor and Cardinal King.

Youngstown Nine Wins Both Ends

Blair-Morse Drops Pair In Connie Mack Openers

Blair-Morse dropped both ends of a doubleheader to Youngstown Cabinets in the opening of the Connie Mack League season Friday at Colt Field.

In the first game, Youngstown came up with two runs in the fourth inning to break a 1-1 tie and gain a 3-1 decision. Both hurlers, Hall for Blair-Morse and Johnston for Youngstown gave up three hits each.

In the second game, Youngstown scored a 6-4 victory but not before shuting off a Blair-Morse rally which netted four runs in the last of the seventh.

Youngstown scored twice in the first inning and four in the fifth. Blair-Morse shut out for six frames, bounced back with four in the seventh only to fall short.

Lisko had two hits for Youngstown in the nightcap while Dubberly slammed three hits in four trips for Blair-Morse while Pearson drove in three of the four runs with a home run in the seventh.

Blair - Morse will meet the Lisbon Merchants in a doubleheader today beginning at 1 p.m. and play Lease Drugs of Salem Sunday in a twinbill beginning at 3:30 p.m. Both doubleheaders are scheduled at Colt Field.

Bucs End Astros 10-Game Streak

By MIKE RECHT
Assoiatced Press Sports Writer

Although he meant well, Mike McCormick made the same mistake as Phil Niekro. He tried to pitch a no-hitter against Tom Seaver and the New York Mets.

Pittsburgh also looked good pulling off a triple play on Houston's Johnny Edwards, but that too returned to haunt them when a more determined Edwards came back to beat them.

Just over two weeks ago, Niekro of Atlanta made his bid, holding the Mets hitless for six innings with a 3-0 lead before a triple and a single got the Mets on board. They went on to knock him out with eight runs in the eighth inning for a victory after Seaver had left for a pinch hitter.

Now along comes McCormick and San Francisco rolling along with a 3-0 lead and a no-hitter Friday night before Ron Swoboda homered for the Mets to lead off the seventh.

When Seaver again left for a pinch hitter in the eighth, the handwriting was on the wall, and the Mets rallied this time for three runs and a 4-3 victory over the Giants.

Pittsburgh was losing 3-1 in the first game of its doubleheader against the Astros when Edwards ruined Houston in the fourth inning by hitting into a triple play. The Pirates went on to grab a 9-3 victory, ending the Astros' 10-game winning streak.

But Edwards shrugged off his misfortune and came back with a tie-breaking two-run, ninth inning single in the nightcap to give Houston a 9-6 triumph.

In other Memorial Day games, San Diego saddled Montreal with its 14th straight defeat, 3-2 in 10 innings, Cincinnati nipped St. Louis 4-3 in 10 innings, Bill Hands and the Chicago Cubs edged Atlanta 2-0 and Philadelphia blasted Los Angeles 13-6.

Willie McCovey's 14th homer and sacrifice fly had given the Giants their lead, but McCormick couldn't hang on. Rod Gaspar lined his first major league homer with two out in the eighth and when Tommie Agee followed with a single, Frank Linzy relieved.

"That's the second time in my last three victories that I've been on the bench when we scored," said Seaver, who gave only four hits in raising his record to 7-3.

Edwards hit a routine grounder to first base with runners on first and second and first baseman Al Oliver retired him unassisted, then tagged one runner in a rundown between first and second and threw to third base, getting the other runner rounding the bag.

Bill Mazeroski and Matty Alou, with six hits apiece in the twinbill, each singled in a run in Pittsburgh's fourth and Rich Hebner's sacrifice fly put the Pirates ahead.

In the ninth inning of the nightcap Denis Menke singled, Doug Rader doubled and Gary Geiger was walked intentionally before Edwards delivered with one out. He later scored on a force out.

"Everytime I looked up someone else was being tagged out," Edwards said of the triple play, "but I didn't feel like the goat. Sure,g I'm sorry we lost the first game, but the important thing is that we came back."

Streak Reaches 18 Games

Orioles Stay Hot On Powell's Bat

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Powell ran his hitting streak to 18 games with a two-run homer Friday night and — for the third time this week—Robinson followed with another homer as the Baltimore Orioles rallied for a 3-1 victory over California.

Powell and Robinson, who had hit successive homers last Sunday at Oakland and Wednesday night at Seattle, connected in the seventh inning against winless Angel Andy Messersmith, carrying the Orioles from behind to their 12th victory in 14 games.

Elsewhere in American League holiday action, Boston nipped Minnesota 3-2; Detroit ruffed Seattle 8-5; New York swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 6-2 and 5-4 in 15 innings; Chicago beat Washington 8-5 after a 5-4, 10-inning loss and Oakland split with Cleveland, bowing 9-2 before taking the nightcap 5-1.

Powell overcame a 1-0 California lead with his seventh homer of the season after a double by Frank Robinson in the seventh. Broks Robinson then hit his eighth homer, giving lefthander Mike Cuellar an insurance run.

Cuellar, 6-4, scattered six hits while Messersmith, 0-5, allowed just two until the seventh.

Powell has hit at a .368 clip since launching his streak on May 9 and has boosted his over-all average 55 points to .299. The burly Baltimore first baseman has accounted for 20 of his 36 RBIs and poled five homers during the spree. The Orioles have won 14 of those 18 games for a three-length lead over second place Boston in the AL East.

Rico Petrocelli's bloop double knocked in two runs and Tony Conigliaro's broken bat single delivered the third as the Red Sox squeezed past Minnesota for their eighth triumph in 10 starts.

Jim Lonborg registered his fourth victory without a loss but needed relief help in the seventh after Harmon Killebrew rocked him for a towering two-run homer.

The Tigers, who have won 10 of their last 12, wiped out a 4-2 Seattle lead in the fifth on Al Kaline's two-run double and an RBI single by Norm Cash. Cash hit a two-run homer earlier and Jim Northrup drove in two Detroit runs with a homer and double.

Ex-Tiger Wayne Comer sparked four hits for the Pilots, including a home run, and teammate Jerry McNertney hit a three-run homer.

Fritz Peterson pitched a five-hitter, Bobby Murcer smacked a homer, double and single and Roy White contributed a two-run triple in the Yankees' opening game victory at Kansas City.

New York broke a 3-3 tie in the 15th inning of the nightcap on RBI singles by Jerry Kenney and White, then survived Mike Fiore's run-producing double in the bottom half.

Bobby Knoop, who started the day with one home run and a .179 batting mark, wasted two homers as the White Sox dropped their opener at Washington, then slammed a decisive three-run homer in the sixth inning of the nightcap.

Rookie George Lauzerique, backed by Reggie Smith's 14th and 15th homers, hurled a five-hitter for his first major league victory as the Athletics rebounded for a split with Cleveland. Jackson unloaded twice with the bases empty and Bert Campaneris drove in the other three Oakland runs with a homer and single.

Jose Cardenal capped Cleveland's eight-run first inning explosion in the opener with a grand slam homer—after starting it with a single—and Luis Tiant breezed to his first victory after seven consecutive losses.

Riverview Drops Pair In Colt Loop

Riverview Florists committed 12 errors to hand Richmond a 13-3 decision Friday at Richmond in a Colt League contest.

Richmond scored three runs in the first inning one in the third, four in the fourth and exploded for five more in the fifth inning.

Alcock led Richmond at the plate with three hits while Grimm had two. Carter and Horger had two hits for Riverview. Hickman was the winning pitcher with Horger taking the loss.

A six-run first inning triggered an 8-4 victory for the Lawyers over Riverview Florists in a Colt League game Thursday.

Sheppard's two run single was the big blow in the first inning and he drove in another pair in a two-run second inning. The Lawyers first baseman wound up with a four - for-four day at the plate.

Lockhart and Deem had a double each for the winners and Carter showed two hits for the loser.

Midland Legion Wins 7-0 Behind Pillar's 2-Hitter

The Midland Legion behind the two hit pitching of Joe Pillar, registered a 7-0 shutout over the Rochester Legion at Rochester Thursday.

Pillar, a senior at Western Beaver, pitched a masterful game, pulling out of two tight situations, then ending the game with his only strikeout of the evening. He walked just four batters.

Pillar issued two of his walks in the fourth frame and with runners on first and third, he got Don Nelson on a fly ball to centerfield. Errors by George Mraovic and Larry Anderson put him in a hole in the sixth frame. Anderson bobbled John Zitzman's grounder to open the inning. Ed Onuska filed out to center then Mraovic fielded Kim Verrico's grounder and threw high to second in an attempt to get the lead man and both runners were safe. He got the next two batters on routine grounders to third baseman Mraovic that set up force plays at third.

Midland staged a three run rally in the fourth inning that proved to be sufficient for the win. Two were out when Ross Ranelli drew a base on balls. Bob Prodonovich followed with a single to send Ranelli to third. Anderson singled to score Ranelli and send Prodonovich to third. Paul Francis tagged a Parelli pitch to the left center gap for a double to send both runners home.

Midland tallied a single run in the sixth when Ranelli was safe on a bobble by Ed Onuska after one was retired. Ranelli stole second, then taking a big lead off second Prodonovich at bat, he was caught as Parelli wheeled and threw to Onuska covering the bag. His only choice was a dash to third and he slid into the bag to beat Onuska's throw for another stolen base. Prodonovich struck out but Larry Lockhart banged out his second single of the game to score Ranelli.

John Parelli went the distance for Rochester. He gave up nine hits, struck out five and walked three.

Lockhart and Pillar each had a pair of singles to pace the Midland attack. Anderson and Francis had the only extra base hit of the game, both were doubles.

Dan Ray was the only Rochester batter to solve Pillar's hurling, getting both hits, a pair of singles.

Elder, Yancey Deadlocked At Memphis

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Lee Elder, shaken by "the first incident I've ever had on the tour," today came out gunning for his first victory on the PGA tour.

The slight-built, soft-spoken Elder, one of the few Negroes on the pro tour, was tied with big Bert Yancey for the lead going into today's third round in the $150,000 Memphis Open.

Each shot a second round 67 for 131, nine under par for two trips over the short, 6,485 yard, par 70 Colonial Country Club course.

Elder, 32, a tour regular for a little more than two years, obviously still was upset after his round Friday as he told of the incident on the 13th hole, a par five.

"My tee shot hit a tree and dropped into the left rough," he said, "and a couple of kids picked it up and threw it into a hedge.

"I was fortunate that Terry Dill saw it and stood up for me. I called for a ruling and got a free drop.

"That's when some people in the gallery started hollering at me, both kids and adults. They obviously thought I wasn't entitled to the drop. But we all saw it happen from the tee, that's why I didn't re-tee the ball.

"The whole thing lasted about 20 minutes. It was pretty hot for a while, but then things calmed down. I was a little erratic for a while.

"It's the first incident I've had on the tour. It's the first incident I've had anywhere."

He said, however, that the taunts from the crowd were not racial in nature.

He went on to par the hole, managed pars on the next two, then picked off the last of his four birdies on the 16th, dropping an eight-foot putt.

The poker-faced Yancey, winner of last week's Atlanta Classic, had two bogeys, each when he missed the green, and five birdies, all from short range.

The two held a one-stroke lead over Dale Douglass, John Lotz, Hale Irwin and Dan Sikes, tied at 132. Douglass had a 66, Lotz 68, Irwin 65 and Sikes 66.

Miller Barber and Gary Player, each with a 67, were tied at 133, with U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino and Gene Littler in a group of five at 134. Trevino and Littler each had a 69. The others are Lou Graham, 69; Dave Hill, 67, and Charlee Coody, 68.

First round leader Bob McCallister went from 63 to 75 and was far back in the pack.

Two sets of twins and another pair of brothers are on Michigan State's 1969 football roster. The twins are Rich and Ron Saul and Doug and Gary Halliday. The brothers are Dave and Gary VanElst.

T.S.&T., Green's, Tad's Capture League Contests

T.S. & T., Tad's Pontiac and Al Green's won Minor League games Thursday

T. S. & T. defeated Potters Savings & Loan, 18-11 with Bud Jividen and Larry Claypool collecting four hits each. Steve Skidmore had three hits for the losers. Randy McAvoy was the winning pitcher.

Rob Kittridge hit a grand slam homer and Jim Olmstead a three - run homer as Al Green's Lincoln - Mercury defeated Potters Bank and Trust, 21-17. Mike Wolfe had two hits for the losers. John Hopper was the winning pitcher.

Tad Pontiac scored a 14-11 victory over First National with J. Clark stroking four hits for the winners. Chuck McConnell belted four hits and Davis three for First National.

The National League West consists of the Atlanta Braves, Cincinnati Reds, Houston Astros Los Angeles Dodgers, San Diego Padres and the San Francisco Giants.

Little League Schedule

After being disrupted by Memorial Day this week, the Little League returns to its regular schedule next week.

On Friday Medics and Chester Legion battle at Thompson Park, Vernon Dell and Veteran Plate clash at Chester and Burbick's and Parsons Coal collide at East Junior.

Giles To Retire As NL President

CINCINNATI (AP) — Warren Giles, National League president, says he will retire after the Miami Beach, Fla., winter meeting—usually held during first week of December.

League Secretary Fred Fleig said Giles called him Friday from Moline, Ill., to clear up "any misunderstanding of the retirement," as one Iowa sports writer had quoted him as saying he would retire Sept. 1.

"The Sept. 1 of which I spoke referred to Sept. 1, 1968, when I informed all National League owners by letter I would retire during the very last part of 1969," Fleig quoted Giles as saying.

Giles, 73, has served as NL helmsman since November 1951.

Wins Race Classic

STAFFORD SPRINGS, Conn. (AP) — Charlie Jarzombek of Calverton, N.Y., assumed the lead on the 70th lap Friday night and went on to win the 100-lap National Championship Nutmeg Classic at Stafford Springs Speedway. The victory was worth $500 and 250 national NASCAR modified points.

Barr Blakeslee Potter, a junior from St. Joseph, Mo., will captain Yale's 1969-70 varsity fencing team.

Retires From Ring

Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers averaged 30.9 points a game in the final playoff series of seven games against the champion Boston Celtics.

The Boston Celtics won the National Basketball Association title but they finished fourth in the Eastern Division, nine games behind Baltimore.

Midland Legion Wins 7-0 Behind Pillar's 2-Hitter

The Midland Legion behind the two hit pitching of Joe Pillar, registered a 7-0 shutout over the Rochester Legion at Rochester Thursday.

Pillar, a senior at Western Beaver, pitched a masterful game, pulling out of two tight situations, then ending the game with his only strikeout of the evening. He walked just four batters.

Pillar issued two of his walks in the fourth frame and with runners on first and third, he got Don Nelson on a fly ball to centerfield. Errors by George Mraovic and Larry Anderson put him in a hole in the sixth frame. Anderson bobbled John Zitzman's grounder to open the inning. Ed Onuska filed out to center then Mraovic fielded Kim Verrico's grounder and threw high to second in an attempt to get the lead man and both runners were safe. He got the next two batters on routine grounders to third baseman Mraovic that set up force plays at third.

Midland staged a three run rally in the fourth inning that proved to be sufficient for the win. Two were out when Ross Ranelli drew a base on balls. Bob Prodonovich followed with a single to send Ranelli to third. Anderson singled to score Ranelli and send Prodonovich to third. Paul Francis tagged a Parelli pitch to the left center gap for a double to send both runners home.

Midland tallied a single run in the sixth when Ranelli was safe on a bobble by Ed Onuska after one was retired. Ranelli stole second, then taking a big lead off second Prodonovich at bat, he was caught as Parelli wheeled and threw to Onuska covering the bag. His only choice was a dash to third and he slid into the bag to beat Onuska's throw for another stolen base. Prodonovich struck out but Larry Lockhart banged out his second single of the game to score Ranelli.

Midland wrapped up the scoring with a three run rally in the seventh on a pair of singles, a base on balls, an error and a fielders choice.

John Parelli went the distance for Rochester. He gave up nine hits, struck out five and walked three.

Lockhart and Pillar each had a pair of singles to pace the Midland attack. Anderson and Francis had the only extra base hit of the game, both were doubles.

Dan Ray was the only Rochester batter to solve Pillar's hurling, getting both hits, a pair of singles.

Elder, Yancey Deadlocked At Memphis

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Lee Elder, shaken by "the first incident I've ever had on the tour," today came out gunning for his first victory on the PGA tour.

The slight-built, soft-spoken Elder, one of the few Negroes on the pro tour, was tied with big Bert Yancey for the lead going into today's third round in the $150,000 Memphis Open.

Each shot a second round 67 for 131, nine under par for two trips over the short, 6,485 yard, par 70 Colonial Country Club course.

Elder, 32, a tour regular for a little more than two years, obviously still was upset after his round Friday as he told of the incident on the 13th hole, a par five.

"My tee shot hit a tree and dropped into the left rough," he said, "and a couple of kids picked it up and threw it into a hedge.

"I was fortunate that Terry Dill saw it and stood up for me. I called for a ruling and got a free drop.

"That's when some people in the gallery started hollering at me, both kids and adults. They obviously thought I wasn't entitled to the drop. But we all saw it happen from the tee, that's why I didn't re-tee the ball.

"The whole thing lasted about 20 minutes. It was pretty hot for a while, but then things calmed down. I was a little erratic for a while.

"It's the first incident I've had on the tour. It's the first incident I've had anywhere."

He said, however, that the taunts from the crowd were not racial in nature.

He went on to par the hole, managed pars on the next two, then picked off the last of his four birdies on the 16th, dropping an eight-foot putt.

The poker-faced Yancey, winner of last week's Atlanta Classic, had two bogeys, each when he missed the green, and five birdies, all from short range.

The two held a one-stroke lead over Dale Douglass, John Lotz, Hale Irwin and Dan Sikes, tied at 132. Douglass had a 66, Lotz 68, Irwin 65 and Sikes 66.

Miller Barber and Gary Player, each with a 67, were tied at 133, with U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino and Gene Littler in a group of five at 134. Trevino and Littler each had a 69. The others are Lou Graham, 69; Dave Hill, 67, and Charlee Coody, 68.

First round leader Bob McCallister went from 63 to 75 and was far back in the pack.

Two sets of twins and another pair of brothers are on Michigan State's 1969 football roster. The twins are Rich and Ron Saul and Doug and Gary Halliday. The brothers are Dave and Gary VanElst.

T.S.&T., Green's, Tad's Capture League Contests

T. S. & T. defeated Potters Savings & Loan, 18-11 with Bud Jividen and Larry Claypool collecting four hits each. Steve Skidmore had three hits for the losers. Randy McAvoy was the winning pitcher.

Rob Kittridge hit a grand slam homer and Jim Olmstead a three - run homer as Al Green's Lincoln - Mercury defeated Potters Bank and Trust, 21-17. Mike Wolfe had two hits for the losers. John Hopper was the winning pitcher.

Tad Pontiac scored a 14-11 victory over First National with J. Clark stroking four hits for the winners. Chuck McConnell belted four hits and Davis three for First National.

The National League West consists of the Atlanta Braves, Cincinnati Reds, Houston Astros Los Angeles Dodgers, San Diego Padres and the San Francisco Giants.

Little League Schedule

After being disrupted by Memorial Day this week, the Little League returns to its regular schedule next week.

On Friday Medics and Chester Legion battle at Thompson Park, Vernon Dell and Veteran Plate clash at Chester and Burbick's and Parsons Coal collide at East Junior.

Giles To Retire As NL President

CINCINNATI (AP) — Warren Giles, National League president, says he will retire after the Miami Beach, Fla., winter meeting—usually held during first week of December.

League Secretary Fred Fleig said Giles called him Friday from Moline, Ill., to clear up "any misunderstanding of the retirement," as one Iowa sports writer had quoted him as saying he would retire Sept. 1.

"The Sept. 1 of which I spoke referred to Sept. 1, 1968, when I informed all National League owners by letter I would retire during the very last part of 1969," Fleig quoted Giles as saying.

Giles, 73, has served as NL helmsman since November 1951.

Wins Race Classic

STAFFORD SPRINGS, Conn. (AP) — Charlie Jarzombek of Calverton, N.Y., assumed the lead on the 70th lap Friday night and went on to win the 100-lap National Championship Nutmeg Classic at Stafford Springs Speedway. The victory was worth $500 and 250 national NASCAR modified points.

Barr Blakeslee Potter, a junior from St. Joseph, Mo., will captain Yale's 1969-70 varsity fencing team.

Retires From Ring

Jerry West of the Los Angeles Lakers averaged 30.9 points a game in the final playoff series of seven games against the champion Boston Celtics.

The Boston Celtics won the National Basketball Association title but they finished fourth in the Eastern Division, nine games behind Baltimore.

Jones Gives Talk At Shea Stadium

NEW YORK — "Until freedom, justice and equality exist in this nation, and in the world, the task of the American Legion is unfinished," John A. Jones of Weirton declared in Memorial Day ceremonies at Shea Stadium.

A national vice commander of the Legion, Jones was principal speaker at "American Legion Night" ceremonies prior to the baseball game between the New York Mets and the San Francisco Giants.

"We remember with gratitude and reverence those fallen comrades who gave their lives in the nation's wars, that this nation, and this society, founded as they are upon human dignity and freedom, might endure these 193 years. . .and more," said Jones.

"Today, they rest in exalted Glory. To these heroes who have fallen in battle and to those who suffer now from the ravages of wounds, diseases and want, we owe a debt that can never be paid in full, but a debt that we must stop trying to repay."

Three Being Held In Home Dynamiting

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Three persons were held by Youngstown Police for questioning in Friday's dynamiting of a South Side home. No one was injured.

Police said they had been tipped in advance of the blast and had been warning residents of the area when patrolman Michael Lewis spotted a burning fuse on the front porch of the home of Joseph Pignatelli.

The explosion damaged the porch. Police said no motive has been determined. Pignatelli is a former Mahoning County courthouse custodian and truck driver.

The three being held were picked up before the explosion took place.

Bethany College Dean Claimed In Wheeling

WHEELING (AP) — Dean of Academic Affairs John Robert Sala of Bethany College died Friday in a local hospital. He was 64.

Dr. Sala, a retired Air Force colonel, was former chairman of the history departments at the Air Force Academy, Drake University and Lynchburg College in Virginia.

He also headed the Air Force's Reserve Officers Training Program on 1,939 campuses. He is a native of Elyria, Ohio. The funeral service will be held Monday.

LEGAL NOTICE

(Rev. Code Sec. 2703.17)

CURTIS SANFORD, whose place of residence is unknown and cannot be reasonably ascertained, will take notice that on the first day of May, 1969, the plaintiff, THE POTTERS SAVINGS & LOAN COMPANY of East Liverpool, Ohio, filed its petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Columbiana County, Ohio, the same being cause No. 54007 in said Court, for the foreclosure of a mortgage of certain real estate belonging to CURTIS SANFORD and MARY SANFORD and in said petition described, to-wit:

Situated in the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and known as and being those certain Lots numbered Six Thousand Three Hundred Fifty-eight (6358), Six Thousand Three Hundred Fifty-nine (6359), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty (6360), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-one (6361), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-two (6362), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-three (6363) and Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-four (6364), as said Lots are numbered and distinguished on the recorded plat of the Northside Land Company's "Belmar Place" Addition to the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio.

Plaintiff says that subsequent to the execution and delivery of said mortgage, Lots 6358, 6359, 6363 and 6364 were released from the terms and conditions thereof and that said Lots so released should not be considered as a part of this action.

Said premises are also known as 1748 Montana Avenue, East Liverpool, Ohio.

The prayer of said petition is for the foreclosure of mortgage and sale of said real estate and for other equitable relief. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 14th day of June, 1969, or judgment will be taken against him.

WANT ADS

is the place to look

So you want to get a new or newer car, eh . . . well, first of all, the quickest way to sell the one you have is through the want ads. Why? Because that's the first place car buyers look when they're ready to buy . . . and that's the first place where you, too, will find the car you want to buy. Every day cars of every make and year are sold through these pages . . . plus hundreds of other items why not you? Call 385-4545 to place your ad and watch the results!

Jones Gives Talk At Shea Stadium

NEW YORK — "Until freedom, justice and equality exist in this nation, and in the world, the task of the American Legion is unfinished," John A. Jones of Weirton declared in Memorial Day ceremonies at Shea Stadium.

A national vice commander of the Legion, Jones was principal speaker at "American Legion Night" ceremonies prior to the baseball game between the New York Mets and the San Francisco Giants.

"We remember with gratitude and reverence those fallen comrades who gave their lives in the nation's wars, that this nation, and this society, founded as they are upon human dignity and freedom, might endure these 193 years. . .and more," said Jones.

"Today, they rest in exalted Glory. To these heroes who have fallen in battle and to those who suffer now from the ravages of wounds, diseases and want, we owe a debt that can never be paid in full, but a debt that we must stop trying to repay."

Three Being Held In Home Dynamiting

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Three persons were held by Youngstown Police for questioning in Friday's dynamiting of a South Side home. No one was injured.

Police said they had been tipped in advance of the blast and had been warning residents of the area when patrolman Michael Lewis spotted a burning fuse on the front porch of the home of Joseph Pignatelli.

The explosion damaged the porch. Police said no motive has been determined. Pignatelli is a former Mahoning County courthouse custodian and truck driver.

The three being held were picked up before the explosion took place.

Bethany College Dean Claimed In Wheeling

WHEELING (AP) — Dean of Academic Affairs John Robert Sala of Bethany College died Friday in a local hospital. He was 64.

Dr. Sala, a retired Air Force colonel, was former chairman of the history departments at the Air Force Academy, Drake University and Lynchburg College in Virginia.

He also headed the Air Force's Reserve Officers Training Program on 1,939 campuses. He is a native of Elyria, Ohio. The funeral service will be held Monday.

LEGAL NOTICE

(Rev. Code Sec. 2703.17)

CURTIS SANFORD, whose place of residence is unknown and cannot be reasonably ascertained, will take notice that on the first day of May, 1969, the plaintiff, THE POTTERS SAVINGS & LOAN COMPANY of East Liverpool, Ohio, filed its petition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Columbiana County, Ohio, the same being cause No. 54007 in said Court, for the foreclosure of a mortgage of certain real estate belonging to CURTIS SANFORD and MARY SANFORD and in said petition described, to-wit:

Situated in the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and known as and being those certain Lots numbered Six Thousand Three Hundred Fifty-eight (6358), Six Thousand Three Hundred Fifty-nine (6359), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty (6360), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-one (6361), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-two (6362), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-three (6363) and Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-four (6364), as said Lots are numbered and distinguished on the recorded plat of the Northside Land Company's "Belmar Place" Addition to the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio.

Plaintiff says that subsequent to the execution and delivery of said mortgage, Lots 6358, 6359, 6363 and 6364 were released from the terms and conditions thereof and that said Lots so released should not be considered as a part of this action.

Said premises are also known as 1748 Montana Avenue, East Liverpool, Ohio.

The prayer of said petition is for the foreclosure of mortgage and sale of said real estate and for other equitable relief. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 14th day of June, 1969, or judgment will be taken against him.

2 IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mona Wolfe, who passed away two years ago, June 1, 1967. A precious one from us is gone. A voice we loved is still. A place is vacant in our home which never can be filled. You're never forgotten, Mom. In memory you are always with us. We lost the best, the dearest one in all the world when we lost you. Deeply missed by daughter, Gladys Fryman, and grandchildren, Peggy, Patty and Billy.

In loving memory of our daughter, Nancy Sue Beaver, who passed away two years ago today, May 31, 1967. God took you to be with Him. We miss you, but God knew best. James and Shirley Beaver and family.

LEGAL NOTICES

tition against him in the Court of Common Pleas of Columbiana County, Ohio, the same being cause No. 54007 in said Court, for the foreclosure of a mortgage of certain real estate belonging to CURTIS SANFORD and MARY SANFORD and in said petition described, to-wit:

Situated in the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and known as and being those certain Lots numbered Six Thousand Three Hundred Fifty-eight (6358), Six Thousand Three Hundred Fifty-nine (6359), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty (6360), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-one (6361), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-two (6362), Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-three (6363) and Six Thousand Three Hundred Sixty-four (6364), as said Lots are numbered and distinguished on the recorded plat of the Northside Land Company's "Belmar Place" Addition to the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio.

Plaintiff says that subsequent to the execution and delivery of said mortgage, Lots 6358, 6359, 6363 and 6364 were released from the terms and conditions thereof and that said Lots so released should not be considered as a part of this action.

Said premises are also known as 1748 Montana Avenue, East Liverpool, Ohio.

The prayer of said petition is for the foreclosure of mortgage and sale of said real estate and for other equitable relief. Said defendant is required to answer said petition on or before the 14th day of June, 1969, or judgment will be taken against him.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

A Junior Editors Quiz About BIRDS

ANSWER: Birds are very active and need plenty of rest at night. Few of us see them sleeping, because it would be dangerous for them to sleep in exposed places. They have many enemies. Birds are expert at hiding. Some sleep in thickets, or in holes in trees; some burrow in leaves. Many sleep high up on branches of tall trees, concealed in the foliage, with their heads tucked under their wings. The soft shoulder feathers make fine pillows. Birds don't fall off the branches because of an ingenious arrangement of their legs and feet. Each of the toes connects with a kind of cord going up inside the leg and around the joints. When the bird squats down to sleep (upper left) this cord pulls the toes together, so the bird is securely locked to the branch. But when the morning light wakes him, he stands up (upper right). This loosens the cord; now the bird can fly off the branch. It is time to rustle up some breakfast (lower left).

(Thomas Baxter of Worcester, Mass., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, May 31, the 151st day of 1969. There are 214 days left in the year.

On this date in 1889, more than 2,000 lives were lost in a flood at Johnstown, Pa., after heavy rain caused a dam to burst.

In 1793, the reign of terror began in the French Revolution.

In 1916, during World War 1, British and German fleets fought in the Battle of Jutland in the North Sea.

In 1910, the Union of South Africa was formed.

In 1941, the British evacuated the Greek island of Crete during World War II.

In 1962, the former Nazi, Adolf Eichmann, was executed in Israel.

Ten years ago — Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana was undergoing mental observation in a Houston, Tex., hospital.

A Junior Editors Quiz About BIRDS

ANSWER: Birds are very active and need plenty of rest at night. Few of us see them sleeping, because it would be dangerous for them to sleep in exposed places. They have many enemies. Birds are expert at hiding. Some sleep in thickets, or in holes in trees; some burrow in leaves. Many sleep high up on branches of tall trees, concealed in the foliage, with their heads tucked under their wings. The soft shoulder feathers make fine pillows. Birds don't fall off the branches because of an ingenious arrangement of their legs and feet. Each of the toes connects with a kind of cord going up inside the leg and around the joints. When the bird squats down to sleep (upper left) this cord pulls the toes together, so the bird is securely locked to the branch. But when the morning light wakes him, he stands up (upper right). This loosens the cord; now the bird can fly off the branch. It is time to rustle up some breakfast (lower left).

(Thomas Baxter of Worcester, Mass., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Mrs. Esther DeTemple 424-5965

LISBON — The Bethel United Presbyterian Church Missionary Society held an all - day meeting at the church, with Mrs. Wilbur Witherow and Mrs. Joseph Davis hostesses.

Quilting was featured. A coverdish luncheon was enjoyed at noon.

Mrs. Davis led devotions on the topic "Prayer."

The annual summer offering was taken for a New Mexico mission.

The president, Mrs. Bruce Thorne, conducted the business session when committees were chosen for entertaining the Presbyterial at Bethel Oct. 6.

It was announced that the Fidelis Class will sponsor a strawberry and ice cream festival June 7. The society will assist.

The next regular meeting will be June 26 at the church beginning at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Walter Watson and Mrs. Emmett Ketchum will be the hostesses. The program chairman is Mrs. Hazel Hart and the devotional leader Mrs. William Harper.

Bethel's Vacation Bible School will begin June 9 and continue for two weeks. Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mrs. Erret Buzzard and Mrs. Robert Wilson are the committee in charge.

D. Of A. Council Meets

Twenty-one were present when Pride of Center Council 190 of the D. of A. lodge met Thursday night at the hall. The councilor, Mrs. Ollie Carnes, presided.

Mrs. Virginia Williams, Mrs. Myrtle Toot, Mrs. Velva Hively and Mrs. Myrtle Peters were appointed June hostesses.

The social committee served lunch. Prizes for games went to Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Carnes, Mrs. Annie Reuff and Mrs. Lydia Bennett.

The May birthdays of Mrs. Kathryn Gunn, Mrs. Sara Pelo, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Peters were honored.

Personals

Mrs. Ora Coen, Mrs. Bessie Culfison, Mrs. Nellie Cope, Mrs. Ethel Close and Mrs. Lillian Ward, Lisbon Senior Citizens Club members, attended the memorial program of the East Liverpool Senior Citizens at St. Stephens Episcopal Church Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Binsley of Pacoima, Calif., former Lisbon residents, are visiting relatives and friends in the area. They are at present staying with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith of Thomas Rd.

While here they will attend the 50th anniversary of Mrs. Binsley's (Erla Albright) high school graduating class which is to be held at the Wick Hotel on June 8.

Masquers Group Honors Actors

Installed as new officers were: Alice Dunn, president; Jay Davis, vice president; Pattie Gumbel, secretary; Pam Crawford, treasurer, and Mary Barrett, clerk.

Top Frat Headed By Ex-City Man

A former East Liverpool resident is president of the Kent State chapter which has been named the nation's top charter of Pi Omega Pi fraternity.

He is Harold Adkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Adkins of 2036 Michigan Ave.

Adkins, a 1961 graduate of East Liverpool High School, is a senior. Prior to attending college, he served three years with the Army.

Adkins received a trophy on behalf of the fraternity.

He and his wife Margo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen of 775 Ohio Ave., reside in Kent.

Woman Hurt In 1 Of 5 Car Mishaps

Cassandra Brown of Beaver Falls, a passenger in an auto driven by Richard W. Brown, 30, of Beaver Falls was hurt when their vehicle was struck from behind by another on Route 14 in the Unity area early yesterday afternoon.

Officers said Brown slowed for traffic ahead and his 1966 coach was struck from behind by an auot operated by John L. Mackall, 19, of Negley. Mackall was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Donald R. Wright, 22, of the Y. & O. Rd. was arrested for speeding after his auto struck a utility pole along the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Rd. yesterday at 2:05 a. m.

The patrol said he was headed west in a 1966 coach which went off the road on a curve a third of a mile west of Route 170 and struck the pole. He was injured and was to be treated by a physician.

Elmer S. Clark, 67, of Salineville RD 1 was charged with driving left of center after his car struck another on Township Rd. 776 about a mile south of Route 39 at 7:30 p.m.

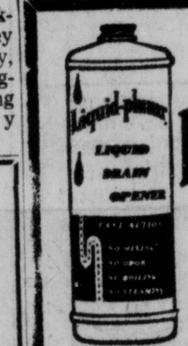

Clark was headed south in a compact, officers reported, when he went left of center. Charles M. Allen, 25, of Salineville RD 1, headed north in a 1964 coach, went off the east side, but his car was struck by the other.

A car driven by a Lowellville man was damaged in a hit-skip mishap on Route 7 a mile north of Rogers at 5:30 p.m.

Gino Centofanti, 32, of Lowellville RD was headed south in a 1965 auto, when another car, headed north, veered over the center line on a curve and hit his auto but did not stop.

Lisbon Area News

Mrs. Esther DeTemple 424-5965

LISBON — The Bethel United Presbyterian Church Missionary Society held an all - day meeting at the church, with Mrs. Wilbur Witherow and Mrs. Joseph Davis hostesses.

Quilting was featured. A coverdish luncheon was enjoyed at noon.

Mrs. Davis led devotions on the topic "Prayer."

The annual summer offering was taken for a New Mexico mission.

The president, Mrs. Bruce Thorne, conducted the business session when committees were chosen for entertaining the Presbyterial at Bethel Oct. 6.

It was announced that the Fidelis Class will sponsor a strawberry and ice cream festival June 7. The society will assist.

The next regular meeting will be June 26 at the church beginning at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Walter Watson and Mrs. Emmett Ketchum will be the hostesses. The program chairman is Mrs. Hazel Hart and the devotional leader Mrs. William Harper.

Bethel's Vacation Bible School will begin June 9 and continue for two weeks. Mrs. Wayne Smith, Mrs. Erret Buzzard and Mrs. Robert Wilson are the committee in charge.

D. Of A. Council Meets

Twenty-one were present when Pride of Center Council 190 of the D. of A. lodge met Thursday night at the hall. The councilor, Mrs. Ollie Carnes, presided.

Mrs. Virginia Williams, Mrs. Myrtle Toot, Mrs. Velva Hively and Mrs. Myrtle Peters were appointed June hostesses.

The social committee served lunch. Prizes for games went to Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Carnes, Mrs. Annie Reuff and Mrs. Lydia Bennett.

The May birthdays of Mrs. Kathryn Gunn, Mrs. Sara Pelo, Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Peters were honored.

Personals

Mrs. Ora Coen, Mrs. Bessie Cullison, Mrs. Nellie Cope, Mrs. Ethel Close and Mrs. Lillian Ward, Lisbon Senior Citizens Club members, attended the memorial program of the East Liverpool Senior Citizens at St. Stephens Episcopal Church Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Binsley of Pacoima, Calif., former Lisbon residents, are visiting relatives and friends in the area. They are at present staying with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith of Thomas Rd.

While here they will attend the 50th anniversary of Mrs. Binsley's (Erla Albright) high school graduating class which is to be held at the Wick Hotel on June 8.

Masquers Group Honors Actors

Installed as new officers were: Alice Dunn, president; Jay Davis, vice president; Pattie Gumbel, secretary; Pam Crawford, treasurer, and Mary Barrett, clerk.

Top Frat Headed By Ex-City Man

A former East Liverpool resident is president of the Kent State chapter which has been named the nation's top charter of Pi Omega Pi fraternity.

He is Harold Adkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Adkins of 2036 Michigan Ave.

Adkins, a 1961 graduate of East Liverpool High School, is a senior. Prior to attending college, he served three years with the Army.

Adkins received a trophy on behalf of the fraternity.

He and his wife Margo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen of 775 Ohio Ave., reside in Kent.

Woman Hurt In 1 Of 5 Car Mishaps

Cassandra Brown of Beaver Falls, a passenger in an auto driven by Richard W. Brown, 30, of Beaver Falls was hurt when their vehicle was struck from behind by another on Route 14 in the Unity area early yesterday afternoon.

Officers said Brown slowed for traffic ahead and his 1966 coach was struck from behind by an auot operated by John L. Mackall, 19, of Negley. Mackall was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Donald R. Wright, 22, of the Y. & O. Rd. was arrested for speeding after his auto struck a utility pole along the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Rd. yesterday at 2:05 a. m.

The patrol said he was headed west in a 1966 coach which went off the road on a curve a third of a mile west of Route 170 and struck the pole. He was injured and was to be treated by a physician.

Elmer S. Clark, 67, of Salineville RD 1 was charged with driving left of center after his car struck another on Township Rd. 776 about a mile south of Route 39 at 7:30 p.m.

Clark was headed south in a compact, officers reported, when he went left of center. Charles M. Allen, 25, of Salineville RD 1, headed north in a 1964 coach, went off the east side, but his car was struck by the other.

A car driven by a Lowellville man was damaged in a hit-skip mishap on Route 7 a mile north of Rogers at 5:30 p.m.

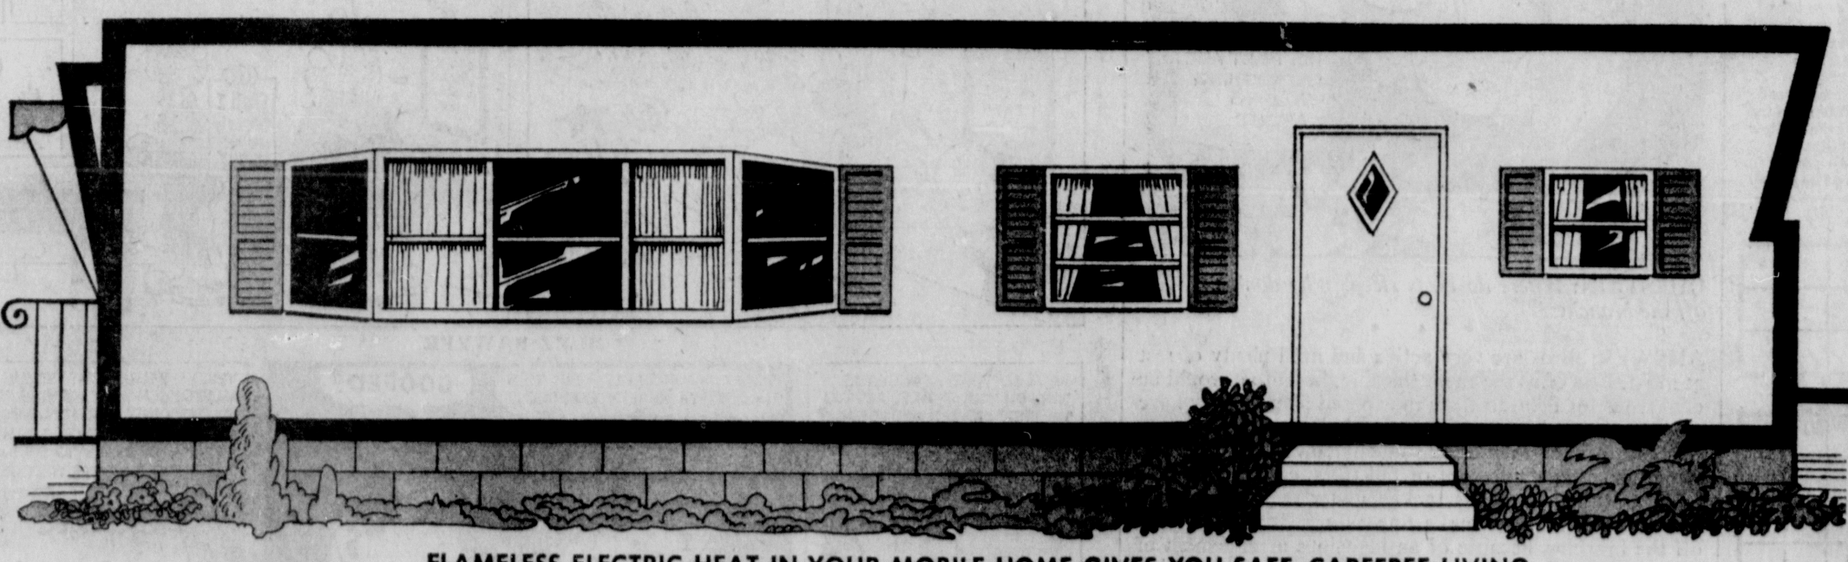

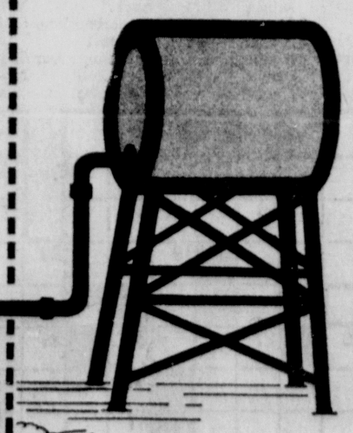

Gino Centofanti, 32, of Lowellville RD was headed south in a 1965 auto, when another car, headed north, veered over the center line on a curve and hit his auto but did not stop.

Picture the beauty of electric heat... tear this out

Electric heat in your mobile home means no eyesore fuel tanks, no bother with ordering and deliveries. Inside your home it means no odors, no fumes, no dirt — so everything in your home stays cleaner longer.
Electric heat is even, comfortable heat that's always ready at the touch of a thermostat.
And conversion to electric heat is surprisingly easy — a simple replacement of your present furnace with a flameless electric one — baseboard, wall heater, or heat pump systems.
AMERICAN ELECTRIC AEP POWER SYSTEM
Send us this coupon and we'll show you how convenient, comfortable, and clean flameless electric heat is...and how it saves money.
And you'll receive a FREE ELECTRIC CAN OPENER when a Reddy Kilowatt Recommended Dealer prepares a written estimate of the cost to convert your home to electric heating. There is no obligation.
